POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW.

Whatever your occupation may be, and however crowded your hours with affairs, do not fail to secure at least a few minutes every day for refreshment of your inner life with a bit of poetry.—Prof. Charles Eliot Norton.

REMEMBER.

BY CHRISTINA ROSSETTI.

This sonnet contains much the same thought as that one of Shakspeare's which was here printed a short time ago, which contained the lines:

"I love you so
That I in your sweet thoughts would be forgot,
If thinking on me then should bring you woe."

Remember me when I am gone away,
Gone far away into the silent land;
When you can no more hold me by the hand,
Nor I half turn to go, yet turning stay.
Remember me when no more, day by day,
You tell me of our future that you planned:
Only remember me; you understand
It will be late to counsel then or pray.
Yet if you should forget me for awhile
And afterwards remember, do not grieve;
For if the darkness and corruption leave
A vestige of the thoughts that once I had,
Better by far you should forget and smile
Than that you should remember and be sad.

VOTE NO URGENT ISSUE FOR NEGRO RACE IN SOUTH.

CLAIM IS NOT RENOUNCED

[BY RAYMOND.]

Tuskegee, Ala., June 24.—[Special.]—Most people, north and south, know more or less about the work being done for the colored people by the Normal and Industrial institute in this place, and they have also read about Booker T. Washington, the extraordinary colored man, the man among a million, who has conceived and executed this great work. Later on I hope to have something to say as to the effect of the Tuskegee institute upon the race problem. Up to the present time, however, I have confined myself exclusively to securing the statements of persons in a position to know what they are talking about, leaving it for the future to summarize conditions in the south as I have seen them.

Following out this policy, I asked Principal Washington to give me his views on the general race question. It took me two days to get an interview even as the result of a telegraphic appointment. Realizing that he stands in a peculiar position, laboring for the colored man but possessing to an extraordinary degree the confidence of the southern whites, Mr. Washington has become exceedingly cautious and generally declines to submit to interviews of late for fear of misinterpretation. The talk I had with him, however, was the result of an agreement that the actual quotations should be submitted to his private secretary, inasmuch as Mr. Washington was at the time just starting for the north.

Work Speaks for Itself.

It is not necessary to go into any details as to the life history or the personal characteristics of this leader of his race, who has built up here in the heart of Alabama a magnificent institution devoted to the betterment of the black people. Thousands have read his book, "Up from Slavery," and the lunch he took at the White house with President Roosevelt made him additionally famous. What struck me most in the personality of this man was his modest self-confidence, the directness and intentness of his intellectual methods, and the extreme simplicity and honesty of his daily life. He could not be less ostentatious if he were at the head of a little barber shop instead of being the principal of a great institution with a cash capital of over a million, with 2,500 acres of land, with 1,700 students, and with a special endowment providing for the lifetime needs of the principal himself.

Politics Not the Vital Issue.

I had but recently come from Atlanta, where I had had a similar interview with a negro professor, who represented in person the theory that by the exercise of the suffrage alone could there come the salvation of the race. I naturally, therefore, began the talk by asking Mr. Washington to restate for me his views on the subject, and he responded immediately:

"It is not at all true that the colored man is getting 'worked up' over politics. He is not discussing politics, nor is he seeking office to any great extent."

"Have conditions in the south induced you to change your views in any respect? That is to say, do you think the time has come for the negro to insist on his right of suffrage here in the south?"

No Weaker than Other Races.

Speaking with the utmost caution, the Tuskegee leader said:

"It is well known I take the position that no race in the same economic and educational conditions true of the masses of the black people at the present time should make the matter of politics a question of the first importance in connection with their development. There are other considerations which must precede and underlie political prominence. I make this statement not so much because I am speaking of the negro, but the same conditions would apply to any people in the same stage of development. I do believe, however, as I have often stated before in the south as in the north, that the negro should have constantly held out before him a hope of reward for right living, and the law that rewards righteous living should be the same for both races."

This latter sentence, of course, refers to the crying disgrace of the south, the one thing which must ultimately break down the present suffrage system by the force of honest public opinion, which is that the educational tests generally adopted in the south apply to the negro only. The ignorant, illiterate white man is permitted to vote everywhere in the southern states.

No End of Work for Trained Negro.

Talking over the general plans of this institution, which, as almost every one knows, is built up on the theory of teaching the negro how to use his hands intelligently in useful trades, in agriculture, and in the foundation of industrial life, I called attention to the fact that it was being asserted the educated negro found nothing to do after he came out of school and college and was forced either to go north or to slip back into the social condition from which he emerged when he went to school.

"It is not at all true within our experience," said the principal as he leaned back in his office chair and put his hands deep into the pockets of his commodious seersucker coat, "that the educated negro fails to find work in the south and is driven northward. On the contrary, the literary colleges find it difficult to supply the demand for teachers, and I am quite positive so far as our own students go that those who are trained in industrial pursuits can find instant employment. In fact, the great difficulty is to keep them here during an entire course, because they find opportunities of employment at comparatively high prices long before they are ready for graduation, and the temptation to go out into the world for themselves is frequently more than they can withstand.

"The favorite trades of the students here seem to be brick laying, carpentering, and tailoring. I presume they apply for instruc-

PLANTER GOES TO PRISON.

J. W. PACE FOUND GUILTY OF HOLDING BLACKS IN PEONAGE.

Indicted on Eleven Counts, He Pleads Guilty to All of Them and Begs Mercy of the Court—Sentence of Five Years Is Passed Upon Him—Leniency Is Shown Him Because of His Age and Feebleness—Is Downfall of System in the South.

Montgomery, Ala., June 24.—[Special.]—J. W. Pace, one of the wealthiest planters of Tallapoosa county, Ala., was today found guilty of holding negroes in involuntary servitude and sentenced to five years in prison.

Mr. Pace was under eleven indictments and was found guilty under each indictment, but as he was sentenced to serve his punishments in all cases concurrently he will only suffer the single five year penalty. This concession was made because of the advanced age of the defendant and his feeble condition, it being represented that he might die before he reached prison.

When the cases were called demurrers were filed in all of the cases and overruled. The defendant then pleaded guilty in all of the eleven cases. An appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans, La., to make a test case was filed upon giving bond in the sum of $5,000 in one of these cases. He was released from custody in the others.

Negroes Cruelly Maltreated.

Pace was charged with holding in peonage ten negroes. The negroes were treated cruelly on Pace's farm, many being brutally whipped. It is said that Owens Green, a negro, was whipped so severely that many bones in his body were broken and that his power of speech was interfered with.

When Mr. Pace made his statement to the judge he acknowledged that he was guilty. He said: "I plead guilty to the offenses and would like your honor to be merciful." The judge then asked him if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him and he replied in the negative. The judge then sentenced him.

Other Convictions Expected.

The pleading guilty of Mr. Pace practically means that the others indicted will more than likely do the same, as he was considered the principal defendant. After Mr. Pace made bond he left immediately for his home at Dadeville, Ala. The conspiracy cases against him were continued until the next term of the court.

Georgia Farmers Are Warned.

Macon, Ga., June 24.—In the United States court today Judge Speer imposed a fine of $1,000 each on three young men, William Shy, Arthur Clawson, and Robert Turner, for holding a negro in involuntary servitude. He suspended the fine under conditions, and so doing the court said:

"In view of the fact that it is the first crime of the kind which ever has occurred in Georgia, and because of the frank confession of the young men, sentence is imposed in order to convince the public that the purpose of the court is to warn and deter others from like crime. During good behavior fine is suspended upon payment of $100 each."

The offense was that the young men, who are farmers, caught a negro who had gotten in debt to them, gave him a whipping, and made him go to work for them.

Judge Speer said that the problem of the times could not be solved by harsh measures, and wanted it distinctly understood that the laws of Georgia were against such treatment.

ANY ONE WANT A DIAMOND? JUST GO AND PICK IT UP.

Northwestern Professor Declares That the Precious Stones Can Be Found Between Chicago and Milwaukee.

Every cow pasture a diamond field, every trout stream a storehouse for treasure. For, strange as it may seem, between Chicago and Milwaukee are spots where the precious stones are said to be hidden, deposited there by glaciers in the ages before history began.

Alja Robinson Crook, professor of geology at Northwestern university, is the sponsor for these north shore diamonds. He has issued a pamphlet entitled "The Mineralogy of the Chicago Area," and in it he tells of the new treasure fields.

"Some seventeen specimens, weighing together about seventy carats, have been found," he says. The largest weighed 21¼ carats. They are most commonly white or faintly green or yellow in color. They were found in the sand and gravel of the kettle moraines, or in the beds of streams."

The diamonds have been found in seven localities north of Chicago, and this fact, as the pamphlet says, "may authorise us in expecting them nearer at hand." The discovery of the common mother lode, in which the diamonds would be much more plentiful, is held to be a possibility.

DECLARES BEAVERS THE LIMIT.

Washington, D. C., June 24.—Special.]—There is a frivolous as well as a serious side to the present investigation of the postoffice scandals. A prominent officer of the postoffice department was talking shop this afternoon when he stopped in the middle of a learned discourse on crooks, grafters, syndicates, combines, rings, organizations, and the like, and began to laugh.

"What's the trouble?" asked a friend, with an anticipatory grin.

"I was thinking," the official said, "of a certain occasion when I called on Supt. Machen of the free delivery service a year or more ago, before the present investigation was instituted, and found him striding up and down the narrow confines of his private offices, swearing fluently and shaking his fist in the air.

"'Well, Gus,' I remarked (I called him Gus then, but it's Mr. Machen now, you bet), 'you seem to be excited over something. What is it?'

"'Excited?' he roared. 'Well, I guess you'd be excited, too. That man Beavers of the salary and allowance division is the limit. What do you suppose he wants me to do?'

"'Don't know,' I remarked, 'but it must be something fierce from your expression.'

"Machen shook his fist in the air again and swore some more.

"'Why,' he said, 'I'll be darned if he doesn't want me to buy an operating table for his friend, the postoffice physician, and charge it up to the rural free delivery. What the —— do you think of that? Ain't that the limit?'"

BLOW FROM BASEBALL FATAL.

Robert L. Shannon Killed During Game on Grounds of Georgetown University.

Washington, D. C., June 24.—Robert L. Shannon, aged 22 years, was struck by a thrown baseball on the Georgetown university baseball grounds today and died within thirty seconds.

BIG STRIKE BOMB BURSTS TOO SOON; CURRAN IS HASTY

MANY PLACES ARE FILLED

Order Issued Just as Peace Board Is Completed to Adjust the Union's Troubles with Wholesalers.

A "premature explosion" in freight handlers' circles yesterday afternoon checked for the moment all movement of freight at the Chicago terminus of the Alton railroad. Its most serious effect, however, is likely to fall on President "Larry" Curran, the man behind the gun which went off at half cock.

One hundred and fifty men were called out without warning even to themselves. It was Curran's "coup" and was coincident with the final establishment of a peace board for the settlement of the freight handlers' wage dispute with the big downtown wholesale houses.

Curran attended the peace conference, but did not mention there or elsewhere his purpose to "strike" the Alton freight house. Within two hours the Alton road had brought into the city fifty-six men to take strikers' places. This part of the day's proceedings surprised Curran.

Complete the Peace Board.

The wholesale house troubles were advanced materially toward settlement by the selection of a fifth member of the arbitration board. The man chosen is James H. Walker, the former dry goods merchant. The full board is as follows:

Arbiter—James H. Walker.
For the firms—E. R. Graham of D. H. Burnham & Co., and W. E. Clow of James B. Clow & Sons.
For the freight handlers—Attorney C. S. Darrow and J. H. Larkin, president of the union of employés of the Union Traction company.

Arrangements for conferences will be made at once so that the trouble may be cleared up before the middle of July.

Strike Follows Peace Meeting.

The "master stroke" dealt by Curran became effective after the meeting attended by Curran, the teamsters, and members of the Chicago Federation of Labor and the Steam Power council, at which the settlement of the controversy between the freight men and the wholesale houses was reached.

The teamsters, who are interested in the strike, were not consulted regarding it. When they heard that the men were out, and that Curran was leading the fight, they refused to believe it, declaring that it must be a mistake or one of "Larry's jokes." All were a unit in asserting that the leader of the freight handlers "is playing with fire."

Threat for Other Sheds.

Curran denied the matter was a "joke," or even a "bluff." He declared that it was planned and would be waged along definite lines. He went further and said that if the Alton did not treat with the freight handlers, and reinstate the two men who were discharged, all of the employés in the various sheds on the entire system would be called out.

Curran professed to be sure of winning regardless of whether the teamsters assisted. He would not tell how he expected to win a victory, but his assistants said the Aton freight sheds are unionized, and that other railroads would not "dare to handle its traffic." Should they do so, these men said, the freight handlers are prepared to call a general strike on all the systems centering in Chicago.

The members of the union are not content with the increase in wages granted them three weeks ago. The radical element, of which Curran is the leader, has been clamoring for a further advance, and this is believed to have caused the strike.

Company Secures New Men.

While it was unexpected by the Alton company, the officials were ready for the emergency. Within two hours fifty-six men from along the system had been hustled into a special train and hurried to Chicago. They arrived here at 4 o'clock and prepared sleeping and eating rooms in the sheds for another quota that will reach the city this morning.

The speed with which the strikers' places were filled did not surprise the teamsters, who were outspoken against Curran and his methods. All feared that when Curran finds this fight lost he will try to call out all the members of his organization and bring about its disruption.

Teamsters Will Not Help.

The teamsters have made arrangements for guards at the Alton sheds to see that the freight handlers do not stop the teams.

"The freight handlers will not receive any active aid from the truck drivers," said President Hugh McGee of that organization. "We will not deal with Curran and his organization. He has mistreated us and has abused our officers. He is playing with fire and unless he looks out he will get burned."

"Every package of express goods that is given the members of my local will be delivered to the Alton if it is so addressed," said Business Agent J. B. Barry of the Express Drivers and Conductors' union. "Curran came near breaking up the teamsters' union last year and he won't have a chance to do it now."

"We have been waiting for Mr. Curran these many months," said Secretary John C. Driscoll of the associated teaming interests. "Now he has flaunted defiance in our faces and he had better look out. The teamsters have worked hard to build up an organization and put it on a safe and conservative basis. They are not going to see it torn down by men who have abused them both in private and public."

One Picket Arrested.

Daniel Howard, a picket, endeavored to turn back teamsters. He was warned several times by Policeman Neil Friel, who had been detailed at the freight house, but paid no attention to the warning. Friel eventually arrested him and he was charged at the Desplaines street station with intimidation.

All but seven of the 160 men employed in the houses at Van Buren and Canal streets quit work when the strike was called, and during the afternoon no attempt was made to move freight. The management of the company announced that the sheds would resume their usual appearance at noon today.

"We are satisfied with the progress of the

MARRIAGE AFTER MARRIAGE IN HOLY NAME CATHEDRAL.

Last Wednesday in the Month of June Is the Mystic Combination Which Attracts Doting Ones to the Altar, and the Span of Life Is Completed When a Funeral and Baptisms Take Place in North Side Edifice — Ald. Finn Is Wedded.

The phantom fingers of Mendelssohn and Wagner played over the keys of the organ in the Holy Name cathedral yesterday (overtime), while down in the nave of the church bridal parties came and went in what at one time seemed an endless procession. The rear of one was often the advance guard of the other.

More than once the organist was forced to hurry through the last measures of the recessional to speed a departing happy couple and to switch at once to the strains of "Lohengrin" to announce the approach of another to-be-made happy pair to the altar.

In the vestibule radiant brides on the arms of their husbands smiled encouragement to pale and trembling girls who were about to take the first step in the slow march that would lead them to their bridegrooms at the chancel rail. At the street curb carriages bearing wedding parties to and from the church mingled in confusion.

Mystic Day in June.

June, and Wednesday—the last Wednesday in June, too. This was the mystic combination of happy auspices under which the couples made their vows. Nine times the organ sounded the strains of the noted wedding march, and three times priests in festal robes celebrated the nuptial mass.

The number of weddings for the day exceeded by three those of the previous Wednesday, and outnumbered those of any day in the recent annals of the cathedral. While those nine couples were being married, seven more couples visited the rectory and arranged to have their marriages take place within the week.

But all was not joy in the cathedral, and all who visited it during the morning did not go to participate in a happy marriage ceremony. Once the festal drapings were removed from the altar, and many of the candles burned low while a black robed celebrant read the mass for the dead. The entire span of life was portrayed, when over in the corner, at the baptismal font, several babes were given the first sacrament of the church.

Ald. Finn a Benedict.

One of the marriages solemnized during the progress of a nuptial mass was that of Ald. Nicholas R. Finn of the Twentieth ward. His bride was Miss Adeline Stack, who has been a prominent figure in north side Roman Catholic circles. The Rev. T. E. Cox celebrated the mass and performed the marriage at 10 a. m.

This wedding was preceded at 9 a. m. by that of Alfred Sweeney and Loretta Carney, who is also one of the prominent factors in the young women's organizations of the parish. This ceremony and nuptial mass was solemnized by the Rev. David L. McDonald.

At 11 a. m. there was another nuptial mass, at which Frank McErlane and Miss Anna Lynch were united in marriage by the Rev. John J. Code. Mrs. McErlane was a member of the church sodality of which Father Code is the spiritual director.

Three Without Mass.

Other marriages which were not accompanied by the celebration of the mass were those of the following:

10:45 a. m.—James Foran and Nora Toomey, also a sodality member, married by Father Toomey.
4 p. m.—Anthony Richter and Catharine Edwards, a sodality member, married by Father Code.
4:30 p. m.—James J. Murray and Mary E. O'Neill married by Father McDonald.
4:45 p. m.—William Stiner and Mary Carew, married by Father McDonald.
5:30 p. m.—Carl Dauber and Mary Doyle married by the Rev. George T. McCarthy.
7:30 p. m.—James Livingston and Catharine Fadgin married by Father Code.

Banner Day of Year.

"Wednesday appears to be a favorite day for marriages," said Father Code last evening. "June, of course, is the favorite month, and the last Wednesday in June is the banner day of the year for marriages in the cathedral. The bans of marriage for sixteen couples were published in the church last Sunday, and those who were not married today have arranged to be married before the close of the month. June past, and there will be few marriages for a time."

LITTLE GIRL IS MISSING: KIDNAPED, SAYS FATHER.

Police Search in Vain for Alice Furlong and a Woman Who Is Suspected of Taking Her Away.

Search for a kidnaped child was made on the west side last night by the police and the child's father, but the details of the affair were carefully suppressed by all concerned. It is known, however, that a house in the vicinity of Washington boulevard and Curtis street was searched and that other west side houses were visited.

The child is Alice Furlong, 2½ years old, whose parents live at 333 Aberdeen street. The little one has been missing since Tuesday afternoon, and the father suspects that a woman who formerly lived in the Aberdeen street neighborhood has spirited her away. He refuses, however, to give the name of the woman or to explain his suspicions, other than that the woman always showed a fondness for the child.

Willie Bottger, the 5 year old Riverdale boy who was kidnaped a week ago, yesterday recovered from the delirium caused by fright, and declared he was stolen by gypsies. One of the gypsies induced him to crawl into a covered wagon, he said, and he can remember little of his experience from then until he was found at One Hundred and Fifteenth street on Tuesday morning by searchers.

CHILDREN RIDE IN AIRSHIP OVER THE BOIS DE BOULOGNE.

Young American Boy First to Accept Invitation of Santos Dumont and Makes an Ascension.

PARIS, June 24.—Santos Dumont made another ascent this afternoon in his steerable airship and visited the Polo club during a children's fete. He offered to give the children a ride in his balloon, but the mothers refused their permission. A 10 year old American boy named Clarkson Potter, however, begged his mother so hard that finally she consented, and Santos Dumont took the boy for an aerial trip above the trees in the Bois de Boulogne. On their return several other children, encouraged by the young American's example, also claimed the privilege of a ride, and with their mothers' consent Santos Dumont took two other children in the balloon car and made another ascent, returning safely to the polo grounds.

SERVIANS GIVE TIMID NEW KING A COLD GREETING

Karageorgevitch Takes the Throne of His Ancestors Like a Man Who Is Afraid.

FEARS TO TRUST PEOPLE.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

His entry into Belgrade this morning was not impressive. The waiting crowds saw a train of two dingy railway cars and two ordinary sleeping cars roll into the station.

From the rear car there descended a lean, sharp featured, swarthy faced old man of distinctively Servian type—a true descendant of Black George, the peasant, who a hundred years ago drove the Turk from Belgrade. He was dressed in the gaudy uniform of a Servian general.

The expectant crowd awaiting him was remarkable for the number and gorgeousness of the generals, the tawdry gilt and color of their uniforms, and the obvious poverty of the peasantry who formed the civilian part. There were soldiers everywhere.

Peasantry and townspeople looked on coldly, while the soldiers, at the command of their officers, cheered the new king. There were few cheers from the civilians until officers passed among them and admonished them to shout for the king. The Obrenovitch faction was noticeable for its ominous silence.

New King Is Afraid.

Karageorgevitch clearly was afraid. His nervousness as he descended from the train was apparent. His hands trembled and his voice as he greeted the members of the provisional cabinet shook and was audible scarcely six feet away. His manner was that of a man who was afraid to trust himself to the hands of men who had not hesitated to rid themselves of one king, and who might be suspected of a willingness to destroy another on light provocation.

Expresses No Regret.

King Peter read from a typewritten paper, which shook in his hand, his reply to the prime minister's brief speech of welcome. He expressed no regret for what had happened and no pleasure at entering Belgrade. He made merely the cold, formal statement that he intended to rule by constitutional methods, and concluded by saying:

"With God's help I shall give you peace and prosperity."

Upon the conclusion of his address he shook hands with the ministers, with Cols. Mischitch and Maschin, the chief conspirators against King Alexander, and with Col. Gentschics, who saw King Alexander and Queen Draga murdered. Then the wives and daughters of the cabinet formed by the conspirators offered him bread and salt.

The king afterwards entered a state carriage and with the prime minister drove to the cathedral, where the ladies of honor, consisting of the prettiest girls in Belgrade, received him.

As the king approached the cathedral the doors of the high altar were opened and a solemn procession of gorgeously robed priests and members of the choir emerged, preceded by incense bearers and followed by the venerable metropolitan in brilliant apparel. The procession halted at the main entrance of the cathedral, while the soldiers drawn up in front of the building, at a word of command, greeted the king with loud cheers.

The king paused at the entrance to the cathedral while the metropolitan addressed a few words of welcome. He then led the procession up the center aisle, bowing on either side to the people who filled the great edifice.

The celebration of the mass followed, with the brilliant observances of the Greek ritual, the king standing erect and impassive, maintaining the same grave demeanor which marked his movements throughout.

Goes to New Palace.

On leaving the cathedral the king's procession moved at a brisk trot to the new palace, which is situated only a few paces from the old palace, which was the scene of the assassinations and which is now untenanted and surrounded by a few guards to prevent the ingress of inquisitive people. The royal standard was raised as the king entered the palace.

In the state ballroom the members of the skupshtina presented him with an address of welcome. In reply the king gravely remarked that he could only repeat what he had said at the railroad, that he would do his best to rule in accordance with the constitution.

Brilliant Parade at Night.

An immense torchlight procession was the feature of tonight's illumination of the city. When the procession reached the palace the king's appearance on the balcony, surrounded by the ministers, was greeted with a tremendous outburst of cheering from a dense mass of people gathered in front of the palace.

His majesty then read a speech, in which he said that in accordance with the traditions of the Karageorgevitches, and helped by the experience he had gathered during the forty-five years he had spent abroad, he would try to give the people the government they required.

Insult to Roumanian King.

BUCHAREST, June 24.—The king of Roumania has received an insolent telegram, signed by officers of the Sixth Servian infantry, of which regiment he recently resigned the honorary colonelcy. The message in offensive language declares King Charles is not competent to judge their actions. They say that he himself ascended the throne of Roumania after a military breach of faith, and add that they forego with pleasure the distinction of their regiment bearing the Roumanian king's name.

Leading citizens and university students here are making arrangements for a mass meeting to be held June 28 for the purpose of condemning the Servian massacres.

American Envoy Ignores King.

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—John B. Jackson, the United States minister to Servia, left Belgrade before the arrival of King Peter, advice to this effect having reached the department of state today. He acted on the advice of President Roosevelt, who told him to use his discretion. Believing that the withdrawal of the French, English, Turkish, Dutch, and other ministers prior to the new king's appearance justified him in pursuing a like course, Mr. Jackson started for Athens. This action must be regarded as an expression of disfavor on the part of the United States government of the means employed to place King Peter on the throne, but it does not mean that President Roosevelt will not recognize the new dynasty unless the assassins of King Alexander and Queen Draga are punished. For the present the question of recognizing King Peter is in abeyance.

IRISH LAND BILL IS SAVED.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, June 25, 3 a. m.—The Irish land bill has passed the danger point. The concessions made by the government satisfied the nationalists, and amid cheers of all parties clause 3 of the bill was adopted by the house of commons just before midnight.

Mr. Wyndham, chief secretary for Ireland, offered an amendment last evening designed to remove the difficulty in regard to the retention in clause 1 of a provision for a minimum price at which tenants may purchase their holdings and permitting bargains to be made outside of the judicial zones.

Causes General Rejoicing.

The agreement was hailed on all sides as being a great concession. John Redmond, the Irish leader, declared Mr. Wyndham had saved the bill and the amendment was agreed to amid general rejoicing. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the liberal leader, joined in the congratulations.

Later Mr. Wyndham agreed to an extension of the limit of the advances to be made to purchasers of agricultural farms from $25,000 to $35,000.

The debate on the bill from that time forward was a love feast. The evening was spent in the submission of amendments by the nationalist members, which were successively debated in an amicable spirit, and then withdrawn without division.

Saves the Evicted Tenant.

After the dinner recess William O'Brien presented an amendment putting the evicted tenants upon an equality with the existing tenants. He declared that the clause as it stood looked like a deliberate policy of vengeance towards the evicted tenants and the acceptance of the amendment would be a message to Ireland. Mr. Wyndham promised to deal with the evicted tenants under clause 48, and said he would double the amount of the advance that the evicted tenants could get. Mr. Redmond said the advance to the evicted tenants was satisfactory. Clauses 2 and 3 were then adopted, and the house shortly before midnight reported progress and rose.

The house last evening passed the third reading of the finance bill without discussion.

YATES DEPLORES ILLINOIS MOB.

Governor Denounces Belleville Lynching as a Burning Disgrace to the State.

BERLIN, June 24.—Gov. Richard Yates of Illinois heard for the first time upon his arrival here the news of the lynching of the negro at Belleville, Ill. He declares the affair a disgrace to the state, and asserts further that the authorities must not rest until the leaders of the mob are in the penitentiary.

"If they are put in the penitentiary, where they belong," said Gov. Yates, with emphasis, "I will see that they stay there."

"The leaders of the Belleville mob must be punished if it takes the full strength of the law department of the state. If the county officials do not do their plain duty the acting governor, in my absence, will invoke the power lodged in the executive.

"The lynching of any man cannot be defended in any state. A lynching in Illinois, where the courts are prompt and justice is sure, is especially reprehensible. The Belleville case has not even a mitigating circumstance. The negro's crime in no event warranted the death penalty.

"If Illinois is to escape the reproach visited upon states of the south, she must bring the leaders of the Belleville mob to justice."

Gov. and Mrs. Yates, accompanied by Assistant Surgeon Gen. Taylor, left for Vienna this evening. During their brief stay in Vienna they visited the places of interest, including Frederick the Great's tomb.

The governor witnessed a skirmish drill by a regiment of German infantry, and declares the men do not equal those of the Illinois National guard.

The governor was reluctant to discuss American politics, although he declared a Roosevelt-Yates ticket in 1904 was out of the question. "I would rather be governor of Illinois than vice president of the United States," he said.

AMERICANS AT KING'S COURT.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, June 24.—King Edward held his last court for the season at Buckingham palace tonight.

Among the Americans presented in the diplomatic circle were Mr. and Mrs. J. Choate Jr., Mrs. Stockton, wife of the United States naval attaché; Miss Florence Hayward, and Miss Alice Stickney of the St. Louis fair commission.

In the general circle the following Americans were presented: Lady Yarmouth, formerly Miss Thaw of Pittsburg; Mrs. L. K. Wilmerding and Miss Wilmerding of New York; Mrs. W. J. and Miss Pearl White of Cleveland, O.; Mrs. Robert Chapin of New York; and C. R. McKim, the New York architect.

KING GETS M'HUGH OUT OF JAIL.

DUBLIN, June 24.—P. A. McHugh, M. P., owes his recent release from Sligo jail, where he had been confined since June 6 for contempt of court, to King Edward. The lord lieutenant of Ireland fruitlessly interceded with Judge Ross, but the king's private secretary, Lord Knollys, wrote to the judge expressing the king's wishes in the matter, and Mr. McHugh's release promptly followed.

MOB WANTS A FREE CIRCUS.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, June 24.—A mob at Coamo last night attacked a circus because it would not give free tickets. The employés defended themselves with guns until a sufficient force of police arrived. Ten persons were wounded and many arrests were made.

POPE RECEIVES PUBLIC TODAY.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ROME, June 24.—The pope, while still suffering from persistent intestinal complaint and permitted to take only liquid nourishment, is determined to hold a public consistory tomorrow. Dr. Lapponi visits his holiness thrice daily.

REJECT MARCONI SYSTEM.

Australian Telegraph Authorities Declare Against Wireless Method as Impracticable.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, June 24.—The Australian telegraph authorities have pronounced against the adoption of the Marconi wireless system on the plea that the currents are uncontrollable and messages are liable to interception.

AMERICAN CHEERS FOR THE KAISER.

VISITS OF COURTESY PAID

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

KIEL, June 24.—Emperor William, in the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, arrived in Kiel harbor at 6 o'clock to greet the United States European squadron. When the Hohenzollern was sighted it had the stars and stripes flying from the aftermast and as it sailed by the flagship Kearsarge the imperial colors floating at the stern were dipped three times. This courtesy is without precedent in the German navy.

The emperor's entrance into the harbor was the occasion for a tremendous cannonade, each of the thirty-two warships firing thirty-three guns, the vessels of the American squadron joining. As the smoke blew aside the Hohenzollern entered the lane of warships. The emperor stood alone on the upper bridge. The crews manning the crosstrees, turrets, and sides of each of the American ships gave his majesty three cheers, which he acknowledged by saluting continuously. The imperial colors were flown from the aftermast of each American warship. Aboard the Kearsarge was a party of Americans, including Ambassador Tower, R. R. Hitt, secretary of the Berlin embassy; Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, and Mrs. Potts, wife of the United States naval attaché.

Receives American Officers.

Rear Admiral Cotton and his officers visited the Hohenzollern as soon at it reached its moorings. Capt. Usedom met Rear Admiral Cotton, Capts. Walker, Hemphill, Cornwall, and McCrea, Lieut. Hussey of the admiral's staff, and Naval Attaché Potts at the head of the gangway and presented them to Emperor William, who was standing two or three steps away. His majesty conversed for a minute with each of the American officers, saying how glad he was to see them in German waters. Turning to Rear Admiral Cotton the emperor said:

"You were in the Monitor at Hampton roads, were you not?"

"Not in the Monitor, sir," replied the admiral, "but in another ship which stuck in a sand bank."

His majesty alluded to other incidents in Admiral Cotton's career and said he would visit the Kearsarge tomorrow and would be pleased to take lunch on board.

Leave was given to 350 men from the American crews to go on shore tonight. They were taken in charge individually and in groups by the German sailors, who treated them in the most hospitable manner.

Luncheon with Prince Henry.

Rear Admiral Cotton and his officers paid their official call upon Ambassador Tower this morning, and the American ambassador boarded the flagship Kearsarge for the return call in the afternoon.

Later Rear Admiral Cotton and his officers and the ambassador and his staff were entertained at luncheon by Prince Henry. Among the guests were the princesses of Pless, Thurn, Taxis, and Baroness Eckherdstein. A most cordial spirit pervaded the function. No speeches were expected. It is understood that the emperor will make a speech at the dinner to be given him by Ambassador Tower on Friday.

In the course of the afternoon Count de Sugny, the French naval attaché at Berlin, called upon Ambassador Tower and upon Rear Admiral Cotton.

Harbor Crowded with Visitors.

Among the visiting vessels here are Cornelius Vanderbilt's yacht, North Star; Goelet's Nama, and the emperor's American built yacht, Meteor III. At the Cuxhaven regatta yesterday Meteor won the race against the kaiserin's Iduna and Herr Guillaume's Clara. In another race between the emperor's Comet (formerly Meteor II.) and Navahoe the latter won.

During the week a smoker will be held aboard the Kearsarge in honor of the sailors of the German fleet, at which the permanent troupe of minstrels aboard the cruiser Chicago will give entertainment.

The weather is all that could be desired. The harbor is crowded with warships, yachts, and excursion steamers. Twenty-two German warships are now anchored here.

Welcome Waits in England.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, June 24.—It was announced officially here today that the channel squadron will assemble at Spithead to receive the United States European squadron upon its visit to English waters after its present visit to Kiel.

FIRE DAMAGES GOLF HOUSE: GUESTS FLEE FOR SAFETY.

Deer Park Inn at Lake Forest Is Attacked by a Blaze Which Causes a Loss of $12,000.

Golf house, at Lake Forest, was damaged yesterday by a fire which caused a loss of $12,000. The seventy guests were badly frightened when the alarm was sounded, but all escaped without injury. The damage to the building, which was known as Deer Park inn, was $7,000, while the rest of the loss will fall on the guests, who deserted their valuables and clothing when they fled from the flames.

The fire started just before noon in a room on the second floor of the inn. Under the roof were commencement visitors, some guests of the Swift-Fernald wedding, and others who had gone out in advance for the horse show. The guests fled to the lawns and out into Deer Park avenue. Mrs. W. O. Kilman, a resident guest, had a narrow escape, and her gowns were ruined by fire and water.

GYPSIES BURY THEIR DEAD.

Strange Tribal Ceremony Takes Place in Roman Catholic Church in Gross Point.

With all the peculiar ceremonies of their tribe, the band of gypsies at Gross Point yesterday buried little May Stevens, who died Monday night. Only five of the band—the elders of the tribe—attended the funeral; the women and children would not go near or even look upon the face of the little girl. The five attended in solemn state, and all helped bear the pall. On the breast of the child they placed a small sack, made of red and white yarn, and in the coffin they laid a comb, a bar of soap, some beads, and several rags. The funeral services were held in the Roman Catholic church at Gross Point, and interment was in the cemetery there.

CIGAR DEALERS ARE ENJOINED.

Thad Howe Gets a Writ Forbidding Diffley Faction from Saying He Is Not President.

Thad Howe, through his attorney, Alfred S. Austrian, yesterday secured an injunction from Judge Holdom restraining the officers of the Cigar Dealers' Association of America from circulating reports that he is not president of the association, enjoining Michael W. Diffley from declaring that Diffley is president or acting as such, and restraining the officers and their agents from interfering with Howe in performing the duties of president of the association. Milton J. Foreman, counsel for the defendant, will move today that the injunction be dissolved.

J. P. MORGAN AT HOME.

NEW YORK BANKER HAS TROUBLE IN DODGING CAMERAS.

Financier Declares If So Much as a Snapshot Is Taken of Him All Picture Takers Will Be Barred from the White Star Liners in the Future—Denies There Is Any Trouble Ahead for the Ship Combine and Says All Recent Stories Are Exaggerations.

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—J. Pierpont Morgan arrived in New York this afternoon on the Oceanic after a six weeks' vacation abroad. Mr. Morgan said he was in splendid health and good humor. His daughter, who made the trip with him, appeared to be benefited as much as her father. Each wore a coat of tan, and fellow passengers said that Mr. and Miss Morgan during the trip home spent much more time on deck than ever they were known to do in the past.

Forming the party with Mr. Morgan were Bruce Ismay, chairman and managing director of the White Star line; Henry Wilding, European manager of the International Mercantile Marine company; and Sir Clinton Dawkins, vice president of the same company.

Through an official representative it was announced that the return of Mr. Morgan to New York at this time, as well as the visit of his three friends, was all arranged a fortnight ago, without any reference to the reports of the possible reorganization of the International Mercantile Marine company. It was emphatically denied that any crisis now exists or is likely to appear in the future in the affairs of that corporation calling for a reorganization.

Cameras Ruffle His Temper.

Mr. Morgan's temper was much ruffled by the attempts of the amateur photographers who thronged the ship to take snapshots of him while the ship was well down the bay. Mr. Morgan announced that he would make trouble if he was annoyed and then retired to his stateroom, and from that fastness sent stewards to notify the "camera fiends" that if they attempted to take any photographs on the deck of the Oceanic he would see that they were forevermore barred from the vessel. The message was delivered in a literal manner.

While a group of passengers were posing for a number of cameras, Maj. Gen. Corbin passed Mr. Morgan. He called out good naturedly:

"Come on, Morgan, get into this picture."

The banker was inclined to resent the familiarity, but, recognizing Maj. Gen. Corbin, his face broadened into a wide smile as he replied:

Denies Stories of Trouble.

"No reorganization of the International Mercantile Marine company is contemplated," said Mr. Morgan. "There is no crisis in the affairs of the company. The only trouble is in the minds of some writers for newspapers. I was not brought home by information of trouble threatened for that company, and I am convinced absolutely there is no danger of trouble. My passage for this trip was booked long ago."

"Your trip was pleasant?" was asked.

"Entirely so. I went for rest and I am feeling much refreshed."

"Stories are told by cable of a misunderstanding at Aix-les-Bains because you were unable to hire a special train."

"Those stories are gross exaggerations. There was a slight misunderstanding about some baggage, nothing more."

"Have you brought back any treasures?"

"None at all. I thought some of bringing to America Houdon busts, but concluded not to do so on account of the duty that would have to be paid."

Shipping Combine All Right.

Mr. Bruce Ismay spoke more freely than did Mr. Morgan regarding the affairs of the International Mercantile Marine company.

"I am here," said Mr. Ismay, "to look after the affairs of the White Star company's business. Mr. Wilding and I, of course, will attend the semi-annual north Atlantic conference. There is no possibility of the reorganization of the affairs of the company in the near future, either by retiring Clement A. Griscom as president or in any other way. All rumors to the contrary are without foundation, and were probably inspired by malice. There is no crisis in the affairs of the concern.

"We knew before we sailed of the withdrawal from the combination of the Cunard company. In fact, it was known three months ago that such a step was contemplated. I was surprised, however, at the grounds given for the withdrawal. In the original agreement there was nothing about sailing dates."

SUIT OVER SHIPYARD TRUST NOW IN HANDS OF THE COURT.

Judge Kirkpatrick Reserves His Decision Until Next Week—Defense Urges Reorganization as Only Safe Plan.

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—The arguments of counsel over the application for a receiver for the United States Shipbuilding company were completed this afternoon in the federal court at Newark and Judge Kirkpatrick announced that he would not announce his decision until Monday or Tuesday.

Charles L. Corbin, in resuming the argument for the defense, declared that the reorganization plan recommended by the committee of which George R. Sheldon is chairman is the only loophole of safety in the present condition of the corporation's financial affairs.

As to the possibility of carrying on present contracts under a receiver, Mr. Corbin contended innumerable difficulties would arise, any one of which would result in great financial loss. He was insistent that government contracts now in hand should be completed without interference.

Mr. Lindabury, for the complainants, held that the court had the right to act under the state law. He said he proposed to convict the defendant of confessed insolvency by its own answer in this case. He accused the opposing counsel of brushing aside the accusations against Schwab and the allegations of misdoings on the part of the directors and relying wholly upon the question of insolvency.

BLOOM FOUND GUILTY: FINED.

Must Pay for Keeping Freiberg's Open After Midnight—Behan's Detectives Disappear.

"Ike" Bloom, manager of the Freiberg dance hall in Twenty-second street, was fined $30 and costs after being found guilty by a jury in Justice Prindiville's court yesterday of keeping his saloon open after midnight. An attempt to "ring in" a jury selected by D. Bruister, a constable, who has acted as a special policeman in Bloom's place, failed. Justice Prindiville ordered a new venire. Two other cases against Bloom were continued until July 3.

Justice Caverly fined Frank Kane, 1300 State street; H. Muricucci, Polk and Clark streets; and J. Klawans, 2642 Dearborn street, $25 and costs for keeping their saloons open after midnight.

The sixty cases against resort keepers on Wabash avenue may have to be dropped for lack of evidence. Attorney Louis J. Behan, who had charge of the cases on behalf of the citizens' vigilance committee, expected to go before the grand jury in the afternoon, but the two private detectives who have been gathering the evidence disappeared and the addresses they had given were found to be fictitious.

THREE POLICEMEN ARE OUSTED.

Trial Board Reduces the Force as the Result of Charges Filed and Fines Another Member.

Patrolmen John Moriarity, Edward Croix, and Daniel J. Gillen were ordered discharged from the force yesterday by the trial board, and a fine of $15 was imposed on Charles A. Schreck. Debt caused the downfall of Moriarity and Gillen. Croix was accused of sleeping on duty, and Schreck was charged with beating Louis Lippman, a grocer.

LIPTON ARRIVES; IS SURE OF CUP.

Sir Thomas Guest of Honor at Banquet and Expresses Faith in Success.

BRINGS A RABBIT'S FOOT.

Says Shamrock III. Has Worthy Foe in Reliance—Might Challenge Again if Defeated.

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Sir Thomas Lipton arrived today on the steamship Oceanic to take part in the America cup races, and tonight he was the guest of honor at a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria given by two score of his friends. In a speech Sir Thomas declared that he felt confident of winning the cup, although he recognized that he had a hard task ahead of him.

Gen. Henry C. Corbin presided at the dinner. Among those present were Assistant United States Treasurer Hamilton Fish, Collector Stranahan, Senator Fairbanks, Charles M. Schwab, Gen. Chaffee, William Fife, John H. Flagler, Warner Miller, and Ferdinand W. Peck of Chicago.

Toasts to President and King.

Toasts were drunk standing to President Roosevelt and King Edward. When Sir Thomas rose he said:

"Now, I don't want to appear too sanguine of the result, but I have great hopes; in fact, I freely confess that I think this time Shamrock III. is a fast boat, much faster than anything I have had before. Although I have a great respect for Mr. Herreshoff and those defending the cup, I feel that I have a good chance of winning it, thanks to the skill of my good friend, Mr. Fife. Of course, I don't know what the future has in store, but nothing can interfere with the goodfellowship that exists between me and the American people generally. That I appreciate more than I should winning the cup.

Better Chance than Ever.

"But I have a better chance this time than ever before. I shall feel, when Shamrock III. toes the mark on Aug. 20, that it is in its best trim and shall be able to tell if you or I have the best boat. I know I have a marvel to beat in Reliance. I am glad of it. If I am going to win the cup I don't want to win from anything but the best America can produce. I want to be licked if I haven't got the best boat. I don't want to win by a fluke, and I don't want to lose by a fluke. I am sure if any mistake is made that it will be made in my favor. Time will prove who is the best designer, Herreshoff or Fife, but you must not forget the great responsibility we have in coming over.

"I don't like the style of boat we race, and would sooner have a boat that could be used as a cruiser after the races, but we have to meet the boat that is here."

Bears a Rabbit's Foot.

Sir Thomas bears with him a rabbit's foot as a charm to ward off any bad luck.

He showed it to Gen. Corbin and Gen. Chaffee, who had gone out to sea to meet him, and declared he had received it from a woman. The rabbit, Sir Thomas explained, was shot in a cemetery on the 13th of the month. Gen. Chaffee told him that to bring good luck it should be the left hind foot of a rabbit shot on a dark night by a cross eyed, red haired negro on the 13th of the month in an Arkansas graveyard, but Sir Thomas persisted in believing his charm ample.

Yachts Go to Welcome Him.

When the Oceanic was reported Sir Thomas' steam yacht Erin, convoyed by the ocean tug Cruiser, started down the bay. Ex-Commodore Smith's yacht, Privateer, which has been the regatta committee's boat at all the races of the ninety footers held under New York club auspices, also started out to greet Sir Thomas. On Privateer was Adjt. Gen. Corbin, who welcomed Sir Thomas on behalf of President Roosevelt. Gen. Corbin bore an invitation to Sir Thomas to take luncheon at the White house on Friday, which was accepted.

"Will you match Shamrock I. against Columbia?" was asked Sir Thomas.

"I will do anything for the good of the sport. I would rather not commit myself to any arrangements before the races. After the race I will be ready for anything."

"Will you try again if you don't lift the cup this time?"

Might Try Again.

"Don't try to dishearten me before the race. I almost think it will be my duty to try again. I don't think that I will have to try again, though, for I have the best boat and the best skipper that Britain can produce. If Reliance wins it will be because it is the best boat ever built to defend the cup."

Dates for Races Announced.

The regatta committee of the New York Yacht club announced today that the dates for the special races of the yachts Constitution, Columbia, and Reliance at Newport have been changed and finally fixed for June 29 and 30 and July 1, 2, 3, and 4. As planned originally the series was to end July 8. These races will not be the official trials.

GRAND JURY TOLD OF MAN WHO LEADS A TRIPLE LIFE.

Charges Made by Young Woman Are Said to Involve Ferdinand S. Hahn, 5624 Calumet Avenue.

Charges said to involve Ferdinand S. Hahn, 5624 Calumet avenue, were made before the grand jury yesterday by Miss Jennie Shaw, 295 East Forty-fourth street, who alleges that she cannot secure money which is rightfully hers. The man against whom Miss Shaw complains is said to have been disbarred, although it is declared he still practices as an attorney. He also operates under three names, it is said. Under one, it is charged, he practices law, under a second he does part of his law work, and under the third he acts as a notary public, acknowledging the legal papers which he prepares under one of the other two names. Hahn has been in previous troubles.

Attempted Extortion Charged.—A true bill was voted against Frank Egger and Edward Parlee, who are said to have attempted to extort money from the publisher of the Record-Herald by representing that unless money was paid them the waiters' union would boycott the newspaper.

Daleiden May Be Indicted.—A true bill is said to have been voted against Peter Daleiden, the liquor dealer, who is alleged to have attempted to bribe City Attorney Mortimer W. Mattison and Police Capt. John Mersch of Evanston.

Witness Before Grand Jury in St. Louis Throws Light on Street Railway Consolidation Deal of 1899.

St. Louis, Mo., June 24.—Witnesses before the grand jury in connection with the St. Louis street car consolidation deal in the legislature told Circuit Attorney Folk today that the legislative agent of the street car companies took $150,000 he had sewed in the lining of his coat and turned it over to two agents at Jefferson City, for the alleged purpose of buying votes. This was at the session of 1899. The names of the agent and the persons willing to spend money so freely to make the consolidation possible are known to the circuit attorney.

Man Missing, Murder Feared.

Leopold Hochner, a saloonkeeper living at 220 Aberdeen street, has disappeared under circumstances which cause his relatives to fear he was robbed and murdered. He has been the proprietor of a saloon at Mather and Halsted streets several years. Six weeks ago he also opened a saloon in Lemont, Ill. It is feared tramps may have followed him from the saloon in Lemont and murdered him for the money in his possession.

SIX MEN IN STRIKE MOB SHOT BY TRACTION GUARDS.

Troubles in Richmond, Va., End in Tragedy—Street Car Co. Claims Its Employes Were First Fired On.

Richmond, Va., June 24.—Six men were wounded tonight, two of them seriously, by street railway company guards, who fired loads of buckshot into a crowd of strike sympathizers at Main and Lombardy streets, just outside the city limits. A brisk exchange of shots followed. A car guarded by employés of the companies, armed with shotguns, was standing at that point. The company claims that the guards were first fired on.

At this time exciting scenes were enacted in the east end of the city, where efforts were made to operate cars under the protection of the militia. Missiles were hurled at the cars and obstructions placed on the track. Finally the cars, under the pilotage of a detachment of the Richmond howitzers, with a gatling gun, were taken to the barns. All cars were withdrawn from the streets at 9:45 p. m. for the night.

Five companies of the Seventy-first regiment, from Norfolk and Newport News, are expected to arrive early in the morning. The mayor has issued an address, asking women and children to keep off the streets tomorrow. It is proposed, in the event that the militia are unable to cope with the mob, to order out the fire department and have streams from the hose play upon disorderly gatherings. Militia will guard the cars and car barns and patrol the lines of the street car company tomorrow without as well as within the city limits.

PRINTERS FOR MUELLER BILL.

State Convention at Alton Insists Chicago Should Adopt Measure Before Acting on Traction.

Alton, Ill., June 24.—[Special.]—At the meeting of the Typographical Union of Illinois today a resolution was unanimously passed insisting upon the adoption of the Mueller bill by the city council of Chicago before any further action is taken relative to the traction companies. The resolution also declared for municipal ownership of street railways against private ownership. Officers for the year were elected as follows: President, B. S. Chambers of Chicago; vice president, J. H. Brampall of Alton; secretary and treasurer, J. A. Onyon of Peoria. C. L. Young of Chicago is on the organization committee.

Springfield was chosen for the next place of meeting in June, 1904. The bylaws and constitution were changed slightly, making the technical phrases plainer. It was voted that Secretary Onyon communicate with the international allied printing trades with a view of chartering state allied printing unions so as to give the state organization greater representation and character.

Saloon Smasher Is Punished.

Topeka, Kas., June 24.—Miss Blanche Rolse, previously convicted of smashing saloon windows in Topeka Feb. 14 last, was today sentenced by District Judge Hazen to thirty days in the county jail and to pay a fine of $100.

CAN CONSTRUCT DOUBLE SUBWAYS

Will Be Easy, Says Gen. Wm. Sooy Smith; Hard, Asserts E. C. Shankland.

RECESS FOR THE COUNCIL.

Proposed to Have It Adjourn Till Just Before Traction Franchises Expire.

Different opinions as to the feasibility of building double deck subways in the downtown district of Chicago were presented to the local transportation committee of the city council yesterday by engineering experts.

Gen. William Sooy Smith held conditions to be favorable for safety of construction, and reasonable cost. E. C. Shankland said there would be danger of buildings settling.

"There will be no trouble with a single deck subway," said Mr. Shankland, "as it need extend little, if any, below the foundations of buildings. A lower subway, in my opinion, if built at the levels considered, would cause a serious sinking of many buildings. If the double deck plan is deemed advisable it should be put down in the harder clay, which is sixty-five to seventy-five feet below the street surface, and then built by the shield system, using compressed air to advance the shields."

Of buildings which would be affected Mr. Shanklin mentioned the Auditorium, Masonic Temple, Reliance, Stewart, Champlain, Tacoma, Great Northern, Woman's Temple, Home Insurance, and others, which are resting on "floating" foundations on the clay, from twenty to twenty-five feet below the street level.

Says Conditions Can Be Met.

"There are no conditions which will arise in the construction of a low or high level subway," asserted Mr. Smith, "that cannot be met. I am certain that double deck subways can be built without aggravating the tendency of large buildings to settle. Conditions for construction are favorable because the site of the city is level; because the material can be easily excavated; there is no heavy water pressure to be contended with. The one condition of construction is that water and material must be kept out of the bores that are cut."

The problem will be taken up by the committee at another meeting.

Asking Big Conduit Privileges.

The Illinois Telephone and Telegraph company's amendatory ordinance was under consideration. Its attorney was present. The company has been promising for months to install at once a telephone system in the downtown district, but has made no progress in that direction. Instead, it is devoting itself to an effort to grab greater privileges under the streets, and so continues to bombard the council committee.

It wants now to construct trunk line tunnels, fourteen by fifteen feet in size, for the carrying of parcels and packages in connection with its "telephone" system.

It was determined that poles shall not be allowed in outlying districts where there are city or other conduits in newly paved streets in which wires can be laid. In the downtown district the company is to be allowed to construct tunnels only on permits from the mayor or the council, and parallel lines are not to be nearer each other than a half mile.

Plan to Adjourn Three Weeks.

Members of the city council are counting on taking up the franchise extension problem not more than ten days before the present franchises expire, which, according to the city's claim, is on July 30. A proposition that the council adjourn next Monday night for three weeks, or until July 20, was favorably discussed by the local transportation committee during the day, statements being made that the council committee on franchises will then have concluded the draft of a tentative ordinance.

Should this plan not be followed Ald. Carey, member of the franchise committee, may urge adjournment until July 30. In that event the council may be kept in session all night and final plans adopted after the franchises, as the city contends, expire at midnight.

That the Union Traction company will maintain its negative attitude, unless Judge Grosscup orders to the contrary, was asserted by R. R. Govin, who returned during the day from New York.

Question of Compensation.

Conferences between the city's representatives and agents of the City railway continued during the day, but no definite decisions were reached. The city has stood on the ground that 20 per cent of the receipts should be turned over to the city. General Counsel Bliss, President D. G. Hamilton, and other agents of the company held that not half that could be paid justly. The discussion concluded with the city making the request that the company come to a further conference this morning with a definite proposition.

"I doubt," said one of the conferees, "if the company will concede anything near 10 per cent."

If the company offers below this amount today the aldermen will request that the city be allowed to have experts examine the corporation's books.

The council committee on licenses recommended for passage an ordinance that advertising signs and billboards be allowed on elevated railway station platforms, though all signs on stairways and canopies are prohibited.

Decision Against Bay Windows.

The decision of the Supreme court in the case at Champaign, Ill., holding that bay window grants on sidewalk space are illegal does not establish any new principle of law, according to Corporation Counsel Tolman.

"It has been held by my predecessor, Judge Walker, that such grants are illegal," said he, "and the payment of compensation does not affect that validity of the measure. Men who have placed windows under council grants may be placed under the possibility of great pecuniary loss and to save them the doctrine of equitable estoppel might be applied. What action shall be taken will depend on the council or on suits that might be brought by citizens."

Other Ordinances.

During the day the committee on streets and alleys south recommended an ordinance granting the International Harvester company the right to build a bridge across the alley between Wabash and Michigan avenue, north of Monroe street. The Illinois Maintenance company's ordinance to lay heating pipes across Monroe street, near State, also was recommended.

"Narrow tires cause damage of $1,000,000 annually to the city's pavements," asserted Ald. Eidmann, chairman of the special assessments committee, which has sent to the corporation counsel an ordinance which aims to compel the use of wide tires. The width of tires in inches as prescribed for the weights of vehicles and their loads varies from one inch for a weight of 2,000 pounds to four inches for 20,000 pounds.

POLICY STILL IS FLOURISHING.

Gamble Conducted Openly at Hundreds of Places in the City and Police Make No Interference.

Policy flourished undisturbed in all parts of the city yesterday. The police took no action to break the four big companies that are conducting the swindle and paid no attention to the places where the money is placed. The swindle was conducted openly in hundreds of stores and houses. At several places the operators alleged that "the reform movement had ended," and that they had no fear of police interference.

Mrs T W Harvey driving "Chorus Girl"

Mrs E S Adams riding "Coronation"

The Lake Forest horse show, which opens on the Onwentsia club grounds tomorrow and continues through Saturday, will be the center of interest to society folk and horse lovers. For weeks the preparations for the great outdoor event have been in progress, and those interested either as spectators or exhibitors anticipate most brilliant results from the time, talent, and labor expended.

Women who own horses entered for the show are daily on the grounds giving their personal attention to the thoroughbreds, and riding habits and boots are the every day attire of those who will ride their own mounts on exhibition.

There is a great deal of interest in the ladies' hunters, and much of this is due to the fact that the horses will be ridden by their owners. All sorts of jumps are to be made. Fences of hedge, board, and post and rail have been erected for the purpose on the polo field. Mrs. E. S. Adams probably will ride Coronation in the jumping contests.

Those entered to ride the cross country cut are Mrs. Arthur T. Aldis, Mrs. Preston Gibson, Mrs. W. W. Tracy, Miss Eleanor Patterson, and Miss Ethel Kirkman. Mrs. T. W. Harvey will drive Chorus Girl. In the hunters' class the entries are exceptionally fine, many of them prize winners in preceding shows and some of them holding numerous blue ribbons, James Vlles' Grey Rock having twenty-two to his credit. Lake county farmers are competing for a prize offered by A. T. Aldis for the farm bred horse showing most promise of development into a hunter.

The extra row of boxes that were erected to meet the overdemand for seats were offered for sale yesterday and many of them already have been disposed of. The Pullman band has been engaged for both afternoons and the festivities will end in a dance at the clubhouse Saturday evening.

CLAIMS ON BANK PILE UP.

CHARGED THAT SCHUMACHER DID IRREGULAR BUSINESS.

Two Suits Are Filed Against the Estate of the Private Banker, While Two of His Relatives by Marriage Who Were Interested in His Business Affairs Appeal to Court to Relieve Them of Their Debts—Further Revelations Are Promised.

Two of the men who were connected with the late Charles C. Schumacher, the Blue Island avenue banker, and who figured in certain of Schumacher's transactions which are now in question, have filed petitions in bankruptcy since efforts have been made to settle up the estate. A third man has disappeared.

An investigation of some of the transactions of Schumacher is now in progress, and already it is alleged that cases have been found where Schumacher obtained money under false pretenses.

Two suits have been filed and a meeting of the creditors is to be held within a few days, at which revelations are promised.

Suits Allege Irregularities.

Two lawsuits growing out of Schumacher's practices have already been commenced in the Circuit court, and it is said that many similar transactions have been brought to light. In one case Schumacher gave Rudolf Troike a check for $2,500 on the Cook County State Savings bank, two days before he died. The bank refused to pay the check, and Mr. Troike, the holder, now sues the bank.

In his complaint Mr. Troike states that he gave Schumacher money from time to time to make up the $2,500, for which the check was given, and that Schumacher promised to deposit the money in the bank to meet the check; that Schumacher deposited the money, but drew a part of it again and used it, and that when Schumacher died the bank did not have enough money on deposit to the credit of Schumacher to meet the check.

The other suit also is brought by Mr. Troike against certain persons interested in the property at 282 Blue Island avenue. Mr. Troike states in his complaint that on Dec. 10, 1900, he bought a mortgage on the property for $2,900 from Mr. Schumacher; that his interest has always been regularly paid; that on looking up the records of the property he finds that Schumacher on Dec. 5, 1901, released the $2,900 mortgage, so that another $1,800 mortgage which Schumacher had put on the property and then sold to a Frank Drews of 68 Edgmont avenue would be a first one; that the $2,900 mortgage has never been paid, and that Schumacher had no right to release it.

Big Debts for Relatives.

Michael J. O'Connell and Herman F. Techentin, both of whom are related to Schumacher by marriage, are the ones who have filed petitions in bankruptcy in the United States District court and another petition, it is said, will be filed by a third person within a week. O'Connell, whose liabilities are given as $32,205, and Techentin, who admits $24,400 debts, signed various paper for Schumacher and allowed themselves to appear as grantees and mortgagees in many of his real estate deals.

When Schumacher died it was found that the bulk of the estate consisted of real estate, which was in such complicated condition that the Chicago Title and Trust company now declares it will be weeks before it can make a report on the value of the assets.

CRITICISE PASTOR'S SERMON BOOMING INSURANCE ORDER.

Members of the Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage's Congregation Think His Action Uncalled For.

The Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage, pastor of the Jefferson Park Presbyterian church, has been criticised by some of his congregation for preaching on the advisability of life insurance and naming the company that should carry the risk. Following a sermon last Sunday evening in which he dwelt upon the benefits of insurance, circulars were distributed to members of the congregation explaining the methods of a certain fraternal order.

Officers of the organization said yesterday that Dr. Talmage was unknown to them and that they had not known of his efforts to further the interests of their company. Dr. Talmage is spending the week near Paw Paw lake, Michigan, and will not return until Saturday afternoon.

In the doorways of the church yesterday the sexton swept away the last of the circulars.

"Some of the folks did not seem to care for the papers," he said. "A young fellow gave away lots of them last Sunday night."

Fear Smallpox from Libertyville.

Three men at Rockford, three near Everett, and one at North Chicago, have been put into quarantine as a result of exposure to smallpox at Libertyville. State's Attorney Talcott of Lake county is making efforts to locate a dozen more men exposed at the same time. He has called on the state board of health to assist him.

YOUNG WOMAN MAIL THIEF IS CAUGHT AND CONFESSES.

Mamie Eagan, Who Has Been Stealing Letters from North Side Buildings, Run Down by Members of Her Sex.

After having evaded the police for three weeks, during which time thirty complaints had been entered against her, Mamie Eagan, 23 years old, was arrested last night on the charge of stealing mail from north side flat buildings. Detective work on the part of two women resulted in her capture.

When about to be searched Miss Eagan confessed and produced letters which she had taken a few minutes before. In her possession was a watch check and a baggage check, also reported to the police as having been stolen. The woman's method was to enter a flat building shortly after the visit of the postman and steal all the letters which he had left.

Miss Annie Volkmeyer, herself a victim of the thief, was passing 811 Chicago avenue with a friend when Miss Eagan came out of the building, tore up a letter, and threw the fragments on the sidewalk. Miss Volkmeyer followed the woman, soon seeing her enter a building at Superior street and Dearborn avenue. She soon returned, carrying two letters in her hand. While Miss Volkmeyer telephoned to the police her companion followed the thief, and a detective soon relieved the amateur sleuths from duty. The prisoner says she lives at 733 South Union street with her parents.

Advertises for Burglar.—Daniel Murphy, 450 La Salle avenue, who a week ago was robbed of silverware and clothing valued at more than $250, has advertised that if the burglar will return his property he will pay him $50 and ask no questions. The robber also entered the house at 394 La Salle avenue, but was frightened away.

Police Pursue Suspects.—Policemen from the Maxwell street station yesterday engaged in a lively chase after two supposed burglars, firing several shots at the fugitives. J. C. Reson was arrested, but his companion escaped. Rings set with imitation diamonds, spoons, and other articles were dropped by the men as they ran, and are being held by the police for identification. The chase was in Marshfield avenue.

Asks Receiver for Foley.

Charles M. Thomson, trustee in bankruptcy for Thomas Foley, billiard hall owner, has filed a petition asking that a receiver be appointed for Foley's business. Thomson avers that Foley has conspired with his wife and Clarence E. Green to defraud creditors.

BEST MAN SHOOTS A BOY.

ASSISTANT AT A WEDDING FLEES BEFORE ANGRY CROWD.

After Leaving Scene of Ceremony Andrew Sieazega Fires a Revolver and Probably Fatally Wounds Edward Heintz, 18 Years Old—Says the Lad Threw Stones at Him—Runs Away and Exchanges Bullets with the Police, Who Come to Arrest Him.

With the music of a wedding march still ringing in his ears, Andrew Sieazega left a house where he had acted as best man at the ceremony, and in a few minutes was fleeing before an angry crowd because he had shot a boy.

The victim of Sieazega's weapon was Edward Heintz, 18 years old, 50 Fry street. He was shot in the abdomen and was taken to the Norwegian Lutheran Tabitha hospital. The physicians said the boy probably was fatally wounded.

Fires at the Police.

Sieazega, who lives at 556 Dickson street, exchanged several shots with the police when he attempted to escape from the residence of Veronicka Koza, 352 Chicago avenue, where he sought shelter from the crowd which pursued him.

After shooting at Fred Boesenellers, who pursued him into the yard at Chase street and Chicago avenue, Sieazega tried to conceal himself in the basement, but was captured by Detectives Norton and Kubizki, who took him to the West Chicago avenue police station.

Says Boy Threw Stones at Him.

"I was escorting Miss Koza to her house, where she wished to get a forgotten wedding present, and passed a crowd of boys on Fry street, who threw stones at us," said Sieazega. "After telling them several times to stop it I fired four shots in the air to frighten them. Later I met Henry Heintz, brother of the boy who says I shot him. He accused me of shooting his brother, and tried to hold me until the police came. I struck him with my revolver, knocking him down, and ran to Chase street, where I was caught by the police."

Boy Identifies Prisoner.

The police took Sieazega before the wounded boy, who identified the prisoner as the person who shot him. Heintz denied throwing stones at Sieazega.

"I was tossing a stone back and forth with John Webber, who lives next door," said the boy, "when I was startled by the sound of shots. I started to get up to see where the shooting was, when the bullet struck me and knocked me down. I saw that man," indicating Sieazega, "with a revolver pointed at me."

Miss Koza, who was taken to the police station to further identify Sieazega, became hysterical when she saw him and had to be assisted to her residence.

GIRL'S COURAGE FAILS HER: ABANDON ELOPEMENT PLANS.

Miss Vera Ball Reveals Scheme to Her Mother and Parent's Objections to Marriage Withdrawn.

After all plans for an elopement had been made, courage failed Miss Vera Ball, 19 years old, of Evanston. She confessed to her mother, Mrs. M. J. Ball, 2122 Sherman avenue, and instead of the storm of parental wrath usual in such cases, Mrs. Ball withdrew the objections she previously held to the marriage.

The young man in the case is Elmer F. Smith of Chicago, who is 20 years old. The couple were to have run away last night, to be married in South Bend, Ind., today. Instead of this romantic denouement to their courtship the ceremony will be performed tonight along regulation lines at the residence of the bride's mother.

The first notice Mr. Smith received of the change in plans came in the following telegram from Miss Ball:

"Have told mamma all. Will be married at home Thursday night. Come at once."

HONOR FOR EXPLOSION VICTIM.

Berwyn to Give a Semi-Public Funeral This Afternoon for Mrs. Mary Wilson.

A semi-public funeral this afternoon on the lawn of Dr. Arthur McNeil's residence, Thirty-third street and Oak Park avenue, is to be the tribute of respect to the memory of Mrs. Mary Wilson given by the citizens of Berwyn. Mrs. Wilson was killed last Monday morning by the explosion of ninety pounds of flash powder in the basement of her house at Thirty-fifth street and Irving avenue. The Rev. Mr. Ringland of the Berwyn Presbyterian church will conduct the services, and the Rev. William McLennon of Evanston will assist.

'RED LETTERS' TURN DARK

CLAIMANTS FLOCK TO GEORGE SULLIVAN'S OFFICE.

Then Go to John Hill Jr. and Tell a Story of Disappointment and Inability to Get Returns on Investments in Grain Markets — Indications That Enormous Sums Have Been Absorbed—Estimated Nearly $500,000 Is Demanded by Customers.

Creditors of George T. Sullivan, who was expelled from the open board of trade on Monday, are flocking to Chicago. They come to demand money which they say is due them on "deals" in grain engineered for them by the author of the "Red Letters" with which the western country has been flooded for months.

But soon after the creditors reach the city and become acquainted with the "lay of the land" the expectation of getting money gives place to plans for legal proceedings.

John Hill Jr., chairman of the market reports committee of the board of trade, entertained a large number of these visitors yesterday, heard their various stories, and promised such assistance as his office might be able to render. The stories varied only in the manner of the telling. In every instance it was a recital of funds sent to Sullivan for speculative purposes and an inability to get "returns" on investments, which, they say, proved profitable.

Enormous Sums Absorbed.

Every day it is becoming more evident that enormous sums of country money have been absorbed by George T. Sullivan, the George T. Sullivan company, and George T. Sullivan company, the line between these interests being so finely drawn it is hardly susceptible of description.

The fact of the trinity of interests was brought out yesterday more plainly than it has heretofore been established in an affidavit by Mr. Sullivan filed in the Circuit court in a quotation case wherein Sullivan was alleged to be in contempt of court. He declared he had had no interest whatever in the business of George T. Sullivan or the George T. Sullivan company since May 23, everything having been assigned to George T. Sullivan company.

Claims from Many Towns.

Claims have so far come in from only a fraction of the cities in which Sullivan operated branch offices, but enough have been received to indicate an enormous total. It is estimated that the best part of $500,000 would be required to pay these claims.

Over a dozen points have so far been heard from. Citizens of Biggsville, Ill., want $2,000; Detroit asks $1,600; Des Moines, $2,000; Toledo, $1,700; Manilus, Ill., $1,500; South Bend, from $5,000 to $7,000; South Chicago, 2,500; and two branch offices in this city, in which women were the customers, about $6,000. The Chicago total is said to be a matter of approximately $200,000. St. Louis people also have large claims.

BOY WITH A MANGLED ARM TRIES TO CONSOLE MOTHER.

Lying on Hospital Cot, He Tells Her His Injury Does Not Hurt Much and That He Will Soon Return to Work.

"It doesn't hurt much, mother. Don't take it so hard. I think I will be able to work in a few days."

With his arm mangled little Walter Jungkune, at the South Chicago hospital last evening, tried to console his mother, for whom he is the only means of support. He has been working at the Pease Locomotive works at Hegewisch, and yesterday his sleeve was caught between the revolving teeth of a saw and his arm crushed almost to the elbow. His mother was notified and she joined him at the hospital.

"I only hope my arm will not have to be cut off, because I could not work at the shops any more," the boy feebly whispered to the hospital attendant as soon as he regained consciousness.

A relief fund is being collected by friends of the family in Hegewisch, as the boy's incapacity leaves the family of five little children almost entirely without means of support.

DR. HARPER HAS DOGS KILLED.

Animals Held at University Laboratories Too Noisy and They Are Asphyxiated.

Thirty-five dogs at the medical laboratories of the University of Chicago have been saved from the physiologist's knife only to suffer death by asphyxiation. An edict from President Harper sealed their fate. For a month Hull court has echoed with their yelping. Students have complained about the noise, and people who had lost their pets have come to the university seeking the missing dogs. Last Sunday the dogs nearly broke up the Sunday service in the convocation tent. That was the last straw, and Dr. Harper ordered the dogs removed. There was no other place to put them, and as they came from the city pound they could not be turned loose, so they were killed.

NORMAL SCHOOL A STORM CENTER

HARSH WORDS ARE USED.

Dr. Tompkins Is Charged with Unfair Tactics; Even with Dishonesty.

WORK DONE BY THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Refused to concur in recommendation of school management committee to transfer Andrew J. Hogan and Marcella Reilly from normal school and to dismiss Miss Anna H. Schneider and Miss Mary T. Downey from the service until their cases could be given further consideration.

Reelected all public school teachers with the exception of those now under charges, the latter being subject to future action.

Reelected all office employés with the exception of Attorney Daniel J. McMahon and Assistant Attorney Angus R. Shannon.

Passed resolution giving to Supt. Cooley the right to dismiss from the service teachers and principals against whom judgment has been obtained for debts.

Appropriated $1,000 for the maintenance of vacation schools and authorized the use of five schools for vacation school purposes.

The normal school storm struck the board of education last night and precipitated one of the bitterest fights the board has ever known.

During the session Mrs. Isabelle O'Keeffe characterized Dr. Arnold Tompkins as "most unjust, most dishonest, and most dishonorable," while Trustee Brenan declared him to be totally "incompetent" and Trustee Harris said the spirit at the normal school was permeated with "discontent, insubordination, and disobedience."

It was the first time that the full board had attempted to sit in judgment on the normal school faculty, which has been under bitter criticism during the progress of committee trials for the last two months.

Bitter Debate Begins.

The trouble was brought to a crisis when the recommendation of the school management committee for the transfer of Andrew J. Hogan and Marcella Reilly was read. Mrs. O'Keeffe demanded that under the rules action be deferred for two weeks. A substitute motion that the rules be set aside and the report be placed on passage was at once made by Trustee Harris. The motion was carried and the rules suspended. Mrs. O'Keeffe asked to be heard.

"This has been a most unjust affair from the beginning," she declared, "and now it amazes me that the board of education has become party to an attempt to railroad this report through with no pretext of granting a fair, impartial hearing to the teachers whose transfer is recommended.

"I cannot refrain from saying that I think Dr. Thompkins is a most unjust, most dishonest, and most dishonorable man. He recommended the transfer from the Normal school of fifteen of the best teachers at the institution simply because he could not get along with them.

"A man who cannot get along with fifteen of his teachers is not fit to hold the position of principal of the Normal school. The Normal school has deteriorated seriously under his administration. The attendance has fallen from 250 to 66. This board is paying $60,000 annually to educate these sixty-six."

Denunciation Is Applauded.

The friends of Miss Reilly and Instructor Hogan and the Normal school teachers who thronged the room applauded vigorously and President Mark pounded as vigorously with his gavel.

"If there is any more applause here I'll have the room cleared," he shouted above the din.

"Applause won't do any harm here," exclaimed Trustee Brenan. "They are applauding a good cause. Any repudiation of the administration of the Normal school is worthy of applause."

Trustee Harris got the floor, declaring that as Dr. Tompkins was not on trial any attacks against him were unwarranted.

"There is a spirit of discontent, insubordination, and disobedience at the normal school which is deplorable," he said, "but we went into this matter in the committee carefully, and weighed the evidence carefully. We are willing to consider the case on its merits and demerits, and if charges are preferred against Dr. Tompkins we will try him, but he is not on trial here."

"But you told Dr. Tompkins not to act the same in the future," declared Trustee Brenan. "You found him at fault and reprimanded him, and yet you seek to transfer two teachers who were honest, faithful, and courageous enough to expose the conditions at the school. Is that fair?"

Trustee Plamondon deplored the effort to railroad the report through without giving all the members an opportunity to read the testimony. On a vote ten of the trustees voted for the transfer of Miss Reilly and Hogan and five against it, two passing.

The vote was as follows:

YEAS.
Cameron,	Rowland,	Hartung,
Harris,	Tilden,	Thompson.
Wolff,	Dudley,	Mark.
Claussenius,
NAYS.
Brenan,	Plamondon,	Kuflewski.
O'Keeffe,	Chvatal.
PASSED.
Mrs. Sherman,	Downey.

Motion Declared Lost.

Chairman Mark announced that the motion was lost for lack of the necessary votes to expend money. Exceptions were taken to his decision on the ground that the transfer of the teachers did not call for the expenditure of money, but his decision was sustained on another vote when Trustee Harris moved a reconsideration.

Trustee Harris then moved another reconsideration, and after the motion had been carried moved that action be deferred for two weeks. This motion was carried.

Action also was deferred on motion of Mrs. O'Keefe on the transfer of Miss Gertrude Longenecker and Miss Olive Russell from the normal school, but Miss Sarah Griswold and Miss Jessie Black were ordered transferred because "their services were no longer needed owing to the small attendance at the school."

At the request of Trustee Harris the board also deferred action for two weeks on the dismissal of Miss Anna H. Schneider and Miss Mary T. Downey, but concurred in the transfer of Miss Emma K. Blanks from the Holden to the Burnside school.

Teachers Declared Elected.

Although a year ago the board made the tenure of the positions of school teachers permanent, on advice of Attorney McMahon the entire force was formally declared elected with the exception of Miss Reilly, Mr. Hogan, Miss Schneider, and Miss Downey, who were elected pending their transfer or dismissal two weeks hence.

When the reelection of the office employés of the school board was taken up Trustee Downey moved that the election of Attorney Daniel J. McMahon as attorney for the board and Angus R. Shannon as assistant attorney be deferred for two weeks.

WOMEN WHO HAVE HELPED BUILD QUAINT BUZZVILLE ON THE PIKE.

With fireworks and an installation of village officers Buzzville on the Pike will spring into existence tonight at Grand boulevard and Forty-ninth street. With its gayly colored tents, booths, and other features the village is expected to attract many visitors within the next two days. Corpus Christi parish is to be the beneficiary. Tomorrow afternoon there will be a theatrical performance at which Thomas Q. Seabrooks, Katie Barry, Millie James, Richard Carle, May De Sousa, and others will take part. There will be music by the Seventh Regiment band, and Friday evening two companies of the Seventh regiment will give an exhibition drill. The village will cease to exist at the stroke of 12 Saturday night. The theatrical program is under the management of Harry J. Powers, and in addition to the artists mentioned practically all of the theaters and vaudeville houses will contribute performers. Kathryn Normoyle, Mrs. Lamm, and Mrs. Grady have been leading spirits in arranging for the village.

POINTS A SOURCE OF COLLEGE EVIL

President Hadley of Yale Opposes Luxurious Dormitories Outside School.

CLOSING DAY AT HARVARD

New Haven, Conn., June 24.—[Special.]—In his annual report, delivered at the commencement exercises of Yale university today, President Hadley made an attack on the luxurious dormitories outside the college. He declared that they are the chief cause of the danger that menaces college life, in that they bring about the toleration of irresponsible talk and the belief that anything is right which a man's associates are in the habit of doing.

President Hadley also announced that it had been decided to retain the four year course at Yale, and also that Greek would not be held a requisite for a degree. He said in part:

"Every American university which gives the degree of bachelor of arts has been confronted with two questions: Shall the four years' course be retained? and shall Greek still be made an indispensable requisite for the degree? The first of these questions Yale continues to anser in the affirmative. The second it has decided to answer in the negative.

Gain from End of Sophomore Societies.

"The abolition of the sophomore societies has been followed by a growth of public spirit and a better feeling between all the different parts of the college community. The chief danger that menaces the solidarity of Yale college life comes from the formation of influential groups of students who live outside the college buildings. A group of this kind, with quarters more luxurious and arrangements for comfort more complete than the college can readily afford, becomes a source of evil which is intangible and indefinable, but none the less real on that account. All that is bad in college ethics—its toleration of irresponsible talk, and its belief that anything is right which a man's associates are in the habit of doing—becomes tenfold worse when the talk is confined within the four walls of a house instead of being shouted across the campus, and when the ethics are those of a clique or social group instead of those of the college as a whole.

"If we can make the college life of the ordinary man who has neither money nor influence behind him big enough to be the really important thing in the institution, we can disregard disease spots which otherwise might be dangerous, because we may be sure that the general strength of the place will be sufficient to eliminate the danger and react against the evil."

Award 681 Degrees.

It was Yale's 202d commencement today and 681 degrees were awarded, divided as follows: Bachelors of arts, 306; bachelors of philosophy, 130; bachelors of laws, 69; masters of arts, 56; doctors of philosophy, 36, four of which were won by women; bachelors of divinity, 29; doctors of medicine, 27; masters of forestry, 16; masters of laws, 8; masters of science, 2; bachelors of fine arts, 2; mechanical engineer, 1; bachelor of music, 1.

The exercises were held in Woolsey hall for the first time. Honorary degrees were conferred as follows: Doctor of laws, William Henry Brewer of Yale; Judge George Gray of the United States Circuit court, Delaware; Thomas Thacher, New York; and William Dewett Alexander, president of Oahu college, Hawaii. Doctors of divinity—The Rev. Lyman Abbott and the Rev. William Rogers Richards of New York City. Masters of arts—Herbert Wolcott Bowen, minister to Venezuela; George S. Hutchings, Boston; Benjamin Johnson Lang, Boston; Maj. James S. Petitt of the Philippines, Charles Willard Pratt of Brooklyn, and Louis Comfort Tiffany of New York City.

Ambassador White Gives Silver Service.

Andrew D. White, ambassador to Germany, at the annual alumni banquet this afternoon presented Yale with the magnificent silver service given him by the citizens of Berlin in honor of his diplomatic triumphs. Inlaid in it were the first P. De Forest medal ever awarded at Yale and the Yale literary magazine medal, both won by Mr. White when at Yale.

Rain Mars Harvard Exercises.

Cambridge, Mass., June 24.—[Special.]—Today was commencement day at Harvard and hundreds of old graduates were back to renew their college days. In spite of rain a larger crowd returned to Cambridge than ever before, and 1,246 degrees, more than ever before, were awarded.

The honorary degrees were conferred as follows: Jens Iverson Westingard, teacher of English law; Edwin Wilber Rice Jr., engineer; Edwin Farnsworth Atkins, promoter of applied botany; Samuel Henshaw, assistant in entomology and librarian at museum of comparative zoology; George Foster Peabody, New York banker and financier, on behalf of education in the southern states. Doctor of laws—Thomas Lewis Charlton, Yale bachelor of arts, fifty years ago; Angst Heinrich, organizer and first director of the Swiss National museum; Winthrop Murray Crane, former governor of Massachusetts; Adams Sherman Hill, linguist and rhetorician; Nathaniel Southgate Shaler, naturalist and humanist; Edward Charles Pickering, astronomical inventor and discoverer; William James, physiologist and master of style.

BEGIN WORK FOR ART MUSEUM.

Funds Will Be Received for $3,000,000 Temple to Be Erected in Chicago—New Officers Elected.

Definite steps toward the erection of a $3,000,000 art museum in Chicago were taken yesterday afternoon at the Palmer house. The trustees of the National Art Museum met and elected officers and selected the Illinois Trust and Savings bank as a repository for the funds of the organization. Subscription books will be opened and the task of collecting the funds commenced.

The trustees who will receive the funds subscribed were selected several months ago. They are: Henry E. Weaver, Chicago; Hobart N. Cable, Chicago; Col. George G. Briggs, Grand Rapids; George E. Colby, Chicago; S. G. Brooks, St. Paul; Col. Mark L. De Motte, Valparaiso, Ind.; Senator J. C. Burrows, Michigan; W. B. Webb, Jackson, Mich.; Harrington Fitzgerald, Philadelphia; Truman G. Palmer, Chicago; Joseph G. Butler Jr., Youngstown, O.; J. Harrison White, Chicago. The officers elected yesterday were:

President—J. G. Butler Jr.
Vice president—Col. G. G. Briggs.
Treasurer—H. M. Cable.
Secretary—J. Harrison White.

WARNS GIRLS AGAINST MARRYING MILLIONAIRES

"A woman can make no greater mistake than to marry a millionaire," said Mrs. Daniel T. Campbell to the New York court which on Monday last granted her a divorce. "By experience and observation I have learned that they generally acquire vicious habits along with their wealth, until they believe themselves superior to the cares and responsibilities of ordinary people."

Mrs. Campbell was married when she was 17, and just out of boarding school. She told the court that before their marriage her husband was everything that he was not after the marriage. Her eyes were opened on the bridal tour, when her husband threw a solid silver powder box at her because she was too lit to accompany him on a carriage ride.

Her millionaire husband, she said, laughed at her because she went to church and jeered at her because she would not drink rum and smoke cigarets. He declared she was a coward because she would not quarrel with him, and frequently threw chinaware at her until he yawned. Once when he returned from the circus he made her stand against the wall while he threw table knives at her.

DIPLOMAS BUT NO ROSES.

COMMENCEMENT AT PUBLIC SCHOOLS WITHOUT FLOWERS.

Dealers Protest That the Order by the Board of Education Means Ruin to Their Business, but Supt. Cooley Says the Rule Will Stand—Graduating Class at Hyde Park High Has 202 Members—Letter from Principal French Read at the Exercises.

"No flowers for commencement exercises," says the board of education.

"You are putting an important industry out of business," complains fourteen jobbing florists of Chicago. "We stand to lose between $16,000 and $18,000 this week."

"Can't help it," says the board of education.

"And that is the end of it," said Supt. E. G. Cooley of the city schools. "Flowers and presents are cut out. The board acted wisely in putting an end to expensive displays and an unprofitable competition that caused heartaches among the less favored graduates in the distribution of floral testimonials."

Last year the florists secured an amendment to the rule, which permitted the presence of flowers in anterooms and hallways, providing that no display was made on the stage. When they learned yesterday that this slight concession would not be allowed this year there were protests.

Florists See Business Ruin.

"There are fourteen jobbers who make a special business of furnishing flowers for commencement exercises," said one of the leading wholesalers. "The ruling of the board will force them out of business. Six of us have farms where we do nothing but produce flowers for commencement exercises. Our firm alone stands to lose $5,000 this week.

"We have invested in our farms about $28,000, which will be nearly all dead loss. We have had since June 1 $5,000 worth of flowers in cold storage; now we cannot use them. A year ago today we sold $1,730 worth of commencement flowers. Today our receipts will amount to less than $500."

Hyde Park Commencement.

The schol year ends today, and 9,222 pupils will receive diplomas. The Hyde Park High school held its commencement exercises last night at St. James Methodist Episcopal church. The class was the largest which graduates from any of the local high schools this year, and is one of the largest in the history of the Chicago schools, containing 202 members.

The address of the evening was made by Dr. Nathaniel Butler of the University of Chicago. Principal Charles W. French, who is on a trip for his health in Europe, sent a letter of greetings, which was read by the class president, Harold Swift. Principal French was sent to Europe on the money raised by the class to pay the expense of the graduation exercises at the Auditorium, it being decided to give it to the principal and hold the exercises in the church.

The Englewood High school commencement was held yesterday, the diplomas being presented by Principal J. E. Armstrong. The class was addressed by Dr. Arnold Tompkins. The graduating class numbered 118.

Graduates at Other High Schools.

The number of graduates in the other high schools are:

Austin	36	English High and Manual Training	94
Jefferson	47	Lake View	56
Marshall	83	William McKinley	105
Medill	72	Northwest Division	86
South Chicago	55	South Division	117
Robert A. Waller	82	Lake View	26
Calumet	44

At St. Agnes' School.

The graduation exercises of St. Agnes' school were held Tuesday evening at the school, and certificates were given to a class of eleven. Gold medals for high scholarship were presented to Walter Mackay and Katherine Burns. Joseph Marley, who had a perfect attendance record for the year, received a prize.

TRAINED AMERICAN TO CONTROL

He Holds Future of World's Industries, Dr. Gunsaulus Tells Correspondence School Students.

"The technically trained American is the man who holds the future of the markets and industries of the world."

This was the word of encouragement which Dr. F. W. Gunsaulus last night gave to 500 students of the American Correspondence school who assembled in the Armour chapel to become acquainted with the professors who have been instructing them. The correspondence department of the institute, a branch of the American Correspondence school, is giving its students three such receptions this week, the last being tonight.

Dr. Gunsaulus addressed the students and guests on "Advantages of Technical Education." The Rev. William A. Colledge of Aurora spoke on "Opportunities and Men."

Over 6,000 students in Chicago alone, men and boys who are at work all day, are taking courses by correspondence to fit them for better practical work.

GRADUATION AT LAKE FOREST.

College Holds Its 25th Commencement Exercises—Degree of Bachelor of Arts for Nine Students.

The twenty-fifth annual commencement exercises of Lake Forest college were held yesterday in the Reid Memorial chapel, when seven graduates of the college received degrees of bachelor of arts. One each from the classes of '81 and '84 also received the bachelor's degree.

The address of the day was delivered by the Rev. Frank W. Gunsaulus, president of the Armour Institute of Technology. His subject was "The Heroism of Scholarship."

After the address the degrees were conferred on the following graduates:

Allan C. Bell.	Arthur R. Willis.
Hortense Butler.	Ralfe R. Wilson.
Ida May Francis.	Arthur D. Wheeler, '81.
Eugene S. Hamin.	Theodore Starrett, '84.
Clara L. Ross.

Biblical literature—A. D. Jackman, $25.
American constitutional history—William Ross, $25.
Political sciences—Divided between William Ross and Guy Ellis, $50.

Mathematics—Helen McCarroll, $30; Miss Cunningham, $20.
Declamation—Clarence Diver, $30; Miss Helen Dupuy, $20.
Alumni prize for debaters—Jean Clos and Carroll Erskine.

Following the exercises, 300 guests and friends of the university partook of a luncheon at the Henry C. Durand Art Institute. Toasts were responded to by members of the faculty, trustees, and alumni.

The exercises of Ferry hall and the boys' school are to take place next Monday and Tuesday.

COST OF A COLLEGE YEAR.

Average at Northwestern for Men Students Is Put at Less than $300.

According to the figures of Dean Wild of Northwestern university the average male student gets through on less than $300 a year for bare necessities. The figures, according to the 300 men who submitted reports, average as follows:

Forty weeks' board at $3.05 per week	$122.00
Room, eight months, at $5.47 per month	43.76
Tuition	70.00
Books	20.00
Laundry	20.00
Incidentals	20.00
Total	$295.76

Many live cheaper, however, some men having gone through on $150 a year, while others have spent as high as $1,800.

NEW LIBRARY GIVEN TO BELOIT.

Andrew Carnegie Provides $50,000 for Construction of Building at Wisconsin University.

Beloit, Wis., June 24.—[Special.]—Horace White today celebrated his fiftieth anniversary as an alumnus of Beloit college by announcing that Andrew Carnegie had promised to give the college $50,000 for a new library building provided the trustees would furnish $5,000 a year for its maintenance. The announcement was made in connection with the commencement exercises and served as a fitting climax to an unusually eventful day.

The sod for the new $40,000 gymnasium for Beloit college was turned today by a member of the class of 1873, which started the movement for the old structure thirty years ago. This office was performed by Prof. George B. Adams of the chair of history in Yale university. He had conferred upon him the degree of doctor of literature. The degree of doctor of science was conferred upon Prof. Victor C. Alderson, dean of Armour Institute, and the new president of the Colorado School of Mines.

Edward C. Ritsher of Chicago was elected a member of the board of trustees, and Charles R. Smith of Menasha, the heaviest donor to the new gymnasium, was added to the board.

Among the graduates who were given their degrees today were Mary Alice Russ of Chicago and Marion Elizabeth Spooner of Oak Park, Ill.

Coming to Business Women's Club.

Miss Grace Ensey of Denver left that city yesterday for Chicago to assume charge of the Chicago Business Women's clubhouse. Miss Ensey has been clerk of the County court and the county treasurer in Denver. Two years ago she resigned and left for a long tour of Europe and the orient in charge of a party of young women, returning only a month ago.

OSGOOD RESIGNS FROM DIRECTORY

Colorado Fuel and Iron Company Chairmanship Taken by J. H. McClement.

HELD TO BE TEMPORARY.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York, June 24.

J. C. Osgood presented his resignation as chairman of the board of directors of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company at the monthly meeting of the directors today. The resignations of Directors Cass and Jerome were offered and accepted at the same time. Mr. Osgood is succeeded as chairman by J. H. McClement, and F. T. Gates, John D. Rockefeller Jr., and E. Parmalee Prentice were elected directors. The latter is a son-in-law of John D. Rockefeller. Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Gates were elected to vacancies in the executive committee.

Osgood Resigns from Chairmanship of Colorado Fuel.

Today's changes in the company are accepted as evidence that the Rockefeller-Gould interests are in complete control.

In his letter of resignation Mr. Osgood stated that he was led to take this step in view of the fact that large interests in the stock and securities of the company had been acquired by those who should have a greater responsibility from this time in directing the policy and managing the finances of the company, that he was in full accord with such interests, and that he expected to continue an interest in the company and do everything he could to advance its welfare.

The official statement issued after today's meeting says that the temporary difficulty of the company in failing to meet its obligations June 15 was thoroughly investigated by the directors, who adopted resolutions exonerating the officers and clerks from all blame, as the failure was clearly due to a misunderstanding between the New York and Denver offices.

Mr. Osgood's retirement from the directory and executive committee is only temporary, according to the official statement, and is occasioned by the absence in Europe of three directors and the necessity of Mr. Osgood's presence in the west. The other Colorado directors retired "to make places for representatives of the new financial interests."

Chairman McClement announced that he would make no change in the policy of the company. The statement concludes as follows:

"Mr. Gould and Mr. Osgood stated that there is not now nor has there ever been any friction whatever between them or the interests with which they are identified."

The friends of Herman Foster Robinson, a young lawyer who shot himself some time last Sunday on the eastern end of Long island, say they think the suicide was due to the sudden change from an athletic life to one of study in an office. Robinson was a member of various athletic and yachting organizations.

A peculiar action was commenced in the United States Circuit court today wherein "the general properties of the eastern division of New Jersey" is complainant, and William Williams, United States commissioner of immigration, is defendant. The plaintiff claims that the defendant is wrongfully withholding from it the property known a Ellis Island and demands the same.

Sues Government Official for Ellis Island.

The plaintiff claims that it is "seized" and entitled to Ellis Island, situated in the harbor of New York, containing about two acres.

The petition charges that the defendant is in possession thereof and withholds the same from plaintiff, that its value is not less than $20,000, and that the plaintiff is damaged in a sum not less than $10,000, and asks that it be awarded that sum and possession of the property mentioned.

At a meeting today of the open door emergency commission of the Methodist Episcopal church it was determined to hold a great denominational missionary convention in the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, Oct. 13 to 15, 1903.

"Hereafter it shall be unlawful to permit any dog to go abroad at large in any of the streets, highways, or public places in the city of New York unless such dog shall be securely muzzled so that it be impossible for it to bite, tear, or otherwise wound with the teeth any human being or other animal." These are the terms of an ordinance which has been adopted by the board of aldermen and which is applicable to the entire territory of Greater New York. The enforcement of the new law devolves upon the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the agents of which are authorized to pick up unmuzzled dogs and to hold them until redeemed by the payment of a penalty of $3, or, failing that, to put them to death.

All Dogs Must Be Muzzled or Taken Up.

Ira D. Sankey, the evangelist, is now hopelessly blind. Mrs. I. Allan Sankey, his daughter-in-law, said today:

"The best eye specialists we could obtain have examined Mr. Sankey and all agree that his case is hopeless. The optic nerve has been entirely destroyed." Mr. Sankey's trouble had been growing on him for the last two years, as a result of an attack of trachoma.

Franklin Fyles, playwright and dramatic critic, is seriously ill at his home at 114 West Ninety-fourth street. He has been unconscious for many hours and no hope for his recovery is entertained.

Two prisoners escaped from the Tombs prison yesterday, but news of it was not given out until today. The men escaped by sawing a bar in a door leading from the cellar underneath the women's prison to the yard. The wall around the yard has been torn down, and the means to escape was easy. The men were serving six months sentences for disorderly conduct and were regarded as "trusties." The Tombs warden believes they were assisted from the outside.

Richmond borough, on Staten island, is in trouble with the gas company over unpaid bills and the supply to all municipal buildings has been shut off. The only inconvenience resulting was at the police stations. At the main station in Stapleton the sergeants had to do their work by the light of lanterns, and the men on reserve slept in their clothing, fearing that if they undressed in the dark they might be called suddenly and would be unable to find their clothing.

Police Station Dark Because of Unpaid Gas Bill.

An important witness, whose testimony, it is said, has done more than anything else to clear up the mysterious murder of Policeman Maurice Ahearn at New Rochelle and fasten the guilt on Frank Poffo, the Italian now under arrest, was found today in Mille Peepo, an Italian schoolgirl. Coroner Weisendanger, at a secret inquest held tonight, held him for the Westchester grand jury on the charge of murder.

Italian School-girl Gives Clew to Murderer.

The Peepo girl told the coroner that on the morning after the murder she found Bernildo Scraffo, Poffo's sweetheart, washing a stained coat. The girl also saw four stained handkerchiefs and a revolver. Her father corroborated her story.

A strike on every building operation in New York in retaliation for the tieup, was generally advocated in the speeches at the meetings of the diverging bodies of the United Board of Building Trades today. Especially will there be a strike on any operation of Otto M. Eidlitz, chairman of the board of governors of the Building Trades Employers' association, who was quoted recently as being desirous of maintaining the tieup until the last union surrendered.

General Strike Advocated in Building Trades.

The secedera, representing about twenty trades, decided to call out every trade represented in their organization that may be at work on Eidlitz's operations. In this they will be seconded by the housesmiths and bridgemen's union, according to Samuel Parks.

John J. Donovan, former president of the United Board of Building Trade unions, announced in a speech tonight that all the trades interested in building operations in Greater New York will go on strike tomorrow morning, standing by the action of the plasterers, who will declare a strike at the same time.

Marshall P. Wilder, the monologist, and Miss Sophie Hanks of Brooklyn were married here today.

"Petty Baby" has lost her suit, as the jury in Judge Stover's part of the Supreme court today rendered a verdict in favor of "Dear Cry Baby." No notice of appeal was given. Miss Lizzie L. Clark, the rotund plaintiff, who sued Dr. Charles H. Miller, a wealthy artist and former friend, was not in court. Neither was the gray haired defendant present.

Walter H. Tierney, a traveling salesman, who gained some notoriety about a week ago by marrying in Utica, N. Y., a young woman whom he had known only about four hours, was arrested tonight at his home. The warrant was issued in Washington, D. C., and charged him with having obtained $35 under false pretenses from a hotel company on May 8.

AUTO CLUB OFF FOR TOUR TO MAMMOTH CAVE TODAY.

Twenty Machines, Escorted by Many Others, Will Leave This Morning—Receptions Planned All Along Route.

Led by Dr. Frank H. Davis and followed by a gasoline wagon and a corps of skilled machinists in a portable repair shop, seventy-five members of the Auto club will leave the clubhouse on Michigan avenue at 10 o'clock this morning on a 1,000 mile tour—the longest the club has ever undertaken.

Twenty cars will make the trip to Mammoth Cave in Kentucky, but on the first day out of Chicago the party will consist of nearly 200 persons and fifty cars. At Cedar Lake, Ind., where the first night is to be passed, a reception has been arranged. The club has issued a general invitation to the automobilists of the city to attend this reception. There is to be a supper and dance at Cedar Point hotel. Early in the morning twenty of the cars will move south, while the others will return to Chicago.

The tour is scheduled to last fifteen days, but it was said last night that the receptions would extend the time to eighteen days. Among those who will make the trip are:

Mr. and Mrs. A. Scott Ormsby of Emmetsburg, Ia., and party; Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Scott of Lafayette, Ind., and party; Dr. and Mrs. Frank H. Davis and party, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Gray and party, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Burdette and party, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stevens and party, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Smith and party, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bartley, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Crouse and party, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lloyd and party, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Porter and party, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Hyman and party, and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hoops and party.

TEST FOR RHODES SCHOLARSHIP

Illinois Committee Issues Circular to Candidates—200 to Apply, One to Be Chosen.

The committee for Illinois representing the Cecil Rhodes scholarships in the United States has issued a circular of information. It is estimated that there will be 200 candidates in Illinois alone. The circular is issued by Prof. F. W. Shepardson, secretary of Dr. William R. Harper, president of the committee. It says:

"The first election of scholars in the United States will be made between February and May, 1904. The elected scholars will commence residence in October, 1904.

"A qualifying examination will be held within this period in each state and territory. The Rhodes scholars will be elected from the candidates who have passed this examination, one for each state and territory to which scholarships are assigned. All candidates must have reached the end of their sophomore year at some recognised university or college. They must be unmarried citizens between 19 and 25 years of age."

"The Standard Modern History for long years to come."

Volume VII. on The United States is just ready in

The Cambridge Modern History

Planned by the late Lord Acton. To be complete in 12 volumes.

"The United States"

is uniform with "The Renaissance" and, like it, consists of a series of chapters each the product of special research by a leading historical writer. Among its American contributors are: Dr. Woodrow Wilson (President of Princeton University), Professors J. B. McMaster (Univ. of Pa.), J. C. Schwab (Yale), J. B. Moore (Columbia), H. C. Emery (Yale), Barrett Wendell (Harvard), T. C. Smith (Ohio State University), M. M. Bigelow (Boston University), and the late John G. Nicolay.

Cloth, Royal 8vo, $4.00 net (carriage 30c).

It is expected that of the twelve volumes in preparation two will appear in each year; they are issued in two series which begin with Vol. I., The Rennaissance, and Vol. VII., The United States.

On the Issue of Volume I. the critics said:

"This one of the most important books of our time."—The Times, London.

"To be the most comprehensive history of modern times in English."—Annals of the American Academy.

"Designed to be the most full, comprehensive and scientific history of modern times in the English language, or perhaps in any language."—The Nation.

For railroad commissioner.....W. S. PORTER, HARDIN COUNTY

Des Moines, Ia., June 24.—[Special.]—A state ticket was nominated by the democratic convention here today and the reaffirmation of the Kansas City platform was defeated by a vote of 462 9-10 to 354 1-10. Government ownership was put aside by the still greater emphasis of 628½ to 129½.

These things came about despite the fact that government ownership was proposed in its mildest form and that yesterday William Jennings Bryan wrote to the silver men to fight to the last for the principles enunciated at Kansas City.

This his followers did do, and although the convention did not lack interest there was not the fierce conflict of last year over reaffirmation either in the committee or on the floor of the convention.

The gold men last night were able to show that they would control the resolutions committee, and the fact had something to do in dampening the spirits of the silver element. The gold faction, after dictating the platform, gave the opposition a consolation prize in nominating a man of silver leaning for governor.

Platform Is a Long One.

The platform is of considerable length and is to the exact liking of the gold democrats. It demands the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people; repeal of the mulct law and the enactment of a local option law; the contracting for supplies of the state with the lowest responsible bidder; state aid for the improvement of public roads; an increase in the volume of money; the removal of the tariff on all goods produced as cheaply here as abroad; and that the tariff on all other goods be limited to the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad; the distribution by the government of the goods which a monopoly controls, the owner to be paid a fair compensation for the goods so taken, and the taxation of corporations the same way as individuals are taxed.

The platform was amended on the floor of the convention to demand a tariff for revenue only, it being explained that a clerical error was made in transcribing the document.

Among other things which it opposes and condemns are government by injunction, imperialism, currency based upon private securities, and the republican management of the postal department, the demand being made that the present postal scandal be investigated by a congressional committee. The Louisiana exposition was indorsed.

Bryan Silent on Result.

Logansport, Ind., June 24.—[Special.]—W. J. Byran spent the night here the guest of Judge Dykeman, arriving from Columbia City, where he made a speech this afternoon. He declined to discuss the action of the Iowa convention.

NEGRO GONE WHEN MOB ASSEMBLES.

CROWD SEARCHES JAIL.

Delaware Coroner Fails to Fix Guilt for Lynching and Suspect Out on Bonds.

PEORIA MOB again assembled to lynch John McCray, murderer of Detective Murphy, but prisoner had been taken to Galesburg.

Peoria, Ill., June 24.—[Special.]—Had not Sheriff Potter taken John McCray, murderer of Detective William E. Murphy, to Galesburg today an angry mob of upwards of 3,000 people doubtless would have hanged him tonight. They swarmed the jail court for six hours tonight, swearing vengeance and making all kinds of threats. Two committees visited the jail building and searched for the prisoner, but could not find him. The mob hissed and hooted when the committees made their report.

At 11 o'clock the fire department was called out and made an unsuccessful attempt to disperse the mob, which seems determined to get McCray, who is at the Knox county jail, along with four colored prisoners confined in the Peoria jail the sheriff thought might be sacrificed for McCray's deed.

Carries Prisoner Away.

Friends and relatives of Detective Murphy announced early in the day that they would get McCray, so Sheriff Potter stole away with McCray, going to Pottstown, four miles distant, where the colored prisoners were placed on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy train for Galesburg.

Sheriff Potter during the day issued an appeal to the public to be satisfied with an early calling of the court to pass judgment on McCray and tonight begged them to disperse, assuring them the man was not in the jail. They would not believe him.

Crowd Urged to Disperse.

Judges Worthington, Green, and Puterbaugh addressed the crowd, advising them to disperse and again assuring them the man was not in the jail. State's Attorney Tefft promised the crowd that McCray would be brought to quick justice, but the speeches of these men were laughed at. Frank Arnold of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Mayor Woodruff urged the people to return to their homes.

Repeated reports of searching committees were jeered at, but toward midnight the authorities threatened to turn the hose on the people and they dispersed.

Today Mrs. McCray was arrested and placed under bond of $2,000 as an accessory. Several arrests were made of men who it is believed could influence witnesses.

Lynchers Are "Unknown."

Wilmington, Del., June 24.—[Special.]—An angry mob of 5,000 persons threatening to storm the city jail forced the authorities to release Arthur Corwell, who is under arrest charged with the leadership of the crowd which burned George White, the negro. The verdict of the coroner's jury, which found that White died at the hands of persons unknown, made possible this release just as the mob began getting desperate and this speedy action undoubtedly averted bloodshed.

After the crowd at the city hall dispersed most of lawlessness were enacted in different parts of the city, especially in the colored settlements. In the section known as "Whitechapel" a negro assaulted a white man, and several whites came to the rescue. He brought reinforcements to the negroes, and a general fight was started. The negroes outnumbered the whites, who were getting the worst of it when a squad of police arrived. Pistols were fired and the negroes fired within the houses.

While this was going on about seventy-five men gathered in front of houses occupied by colored people in Orange street and bombarded them with bricks and other missiles. Near the police station a colored man was beset by a gang of whites and sought refuge in the station. Another white man snatched a purse from a colored woman, but dropped it to escape from a crowd of colored men.

The coroner's inquest was concluded tonight, and did not implicate Corwell. When the inquest began the remains of White could not be found, and after a long search they were found wrapped in paper in an ice chest. White weighed about 200 pounds, but only about five pounds of flesh and bones were left of him after the lynchers had concluded their work.

The coroner devoted much time to hunting witnesses with little success. Finally Thomas Leach, a farmer, and William Carter, a newspaper reporter, were secured and both testified to the finding of the small portion of the remains of the victim of the mob. The jury brought in the following verdict:

"Resolved, That George White came to his death between the hours of 10 p. m. of June 22, 1903, and 4 a. m. of June 23, 1903, by being burned in a field adjoining the road leading from Price's corner to the Ferris industrial school by a party or parties unknown to this jury."

What the next step of the authorities will be is not known.

Peter Smith, the boy who was shot while the mob was in the workhouse Monday night, died this afternoon as a result of his injuries.

Still Seek Slayer of Bruno Girl.

East St. Louis, Ill., June 24.—[Special.]—The coroner's jury in the case of Florence Bruno, the 17 year old girl killed in her home yesterday, returned a verdict of murder by a person unknown. Fifteen negro suspects were arrested last night and released this evening. A posse is still searching for the supposed guilty negro. It is thought he has crossed the river into Missouri, probably by swimming. Sheriff Thompson of Belleville has sent riot guns to the city and says he will protect the accused if captured. Farmers from the American bottoms are watching all the roads, the river, and the railways.

PLAN EXODUS TO LIBERIA.

National Colored Association Intends Having Ship Constantly Carrying Negroes to Africa.

Montgomery, Ala., June 24.—[Special.]—The National Colored Immigration and Commercial Association met here today. The object of this association is to get the negroes to go to Liberia. Dr. W. H. Heard of Atlanta, Ga., presided. The association has subscribed $28,000 to help carry on their work. President Heard said that before this time next year there would be a ship plying between America and Africa carrying the colored people there.

The secretary, Laura Lemon, in her address said: "We are glad the members of the race are not satisfied with living the life of a slave, with their civil and political rights taken away from them, and with thousands of the members of the race put to death in the most brutal manner, with no court of appeal to save a bloodthirsty mob."

GOES INSANE ON BASEBALL.

Young Man at Council Bluffs, Ia., Sent to Asylum for Talking of Nothing but the Game.

Council Bluffs, Ia., June 24.—[Special.]—Being a baseball fan has proven too much for a young man of this city and he has been declared insane on the subject and sent to Woodward's hospital. The form of insanity is harmless and is apparent in only that he absolutely refuses to talk on any other subject than baseball. When asked by the board who was the president of the United States he replied: "Raymond, the Indian, who is going to make the best pitcher on earth."

CHURCH CELEBRATION IN HONOR OF ST. JOHN THE BAPTIST.

St. John the Baptist's day was celebrated in Chicago yesterday with pomp and pageantry. Mingled with the religious ceremonies there was a labor controversy.

The French and French-Canadian citizens of the city joined in the celebration. Early in the morning the French Roman Catholic churches were crowded by persons who attended the masses. After the services the procession formed at West Thirty-fifth street and Archer avenue. There were floats, carriages, bands, organizations carrying banners and flags, and wagons draped with bunting. The floats represented French and American historical incidents. There was a float representing John the Baptist, with Adolph Christin impersonating the saint. The parade moved from St. Joseph's church to the church of John the Baptist and other churches, disbanding at St. Joseph's church after making a long circuit through Brighton Park.

Impressive religious ceremonies were held at St. Joseph's church, Archbishop Quigley pontificating at the high mass. Last night a banquet was held at which the archbishop and other church dignitaries spoke, closing the celebration.

The parade was marred by a clash of union and nonunion musicians. A band calling itself the Naval Militia band took its place in the parade and the musicians of Mutter's band refused to march unless the nonunion musicians were ordered out of the line. After some delay the nonunion band withdrew.

HOMELY; BUT HAS WINNING WAYS.

ALBERT CHARLES DICKINSON.

Yes, I know Albert isn't handsome—perhaps he's even homely—but I love him just the same.—Martha Day Greiner.

Here is a man who is too homely to make an acceptable son-in-law to a Denver mother. He is said to be the homeliest man east or west of Pike's peak, and it was on that description that he was arrested yesterday in Chicago, after having eloped with Miss Martha Day Greiner, 18 years old. The homely one is Albert Charles Dickinson, and he lives at 3713 Downing avenue, Denver.

Dickinson admits that he is homely, but he acquiesces in the soft impeachment that he has "a way with him." Dickinson and Miss Greiner eloped, intending to be married in Chicago. About the same time a telegram started from Denver to Chicago. It was from the chief of police, and requested Chief O'Neill to hunt up Dickinson and Miss Greiner and return them c. o. d. to Denver. The message stated that Dickinson would be recognized from his extremely plain countenance.

So it came that Detective Spain went over to the Northwestern station yesterday morning and camped in view of incoming trains. When the Denver train arrived he pounced on Dickinson without hesitation. Miss Greiner bewailed her fate.

"Ain't a homely man safe in Chicago? she wailed. "I know he ain't good looking, but he's got winning ways. I tell you we want to get married."

The police locked the runaways up and notified Denver, the reply being that a detective from that city will arrive today to conduct the pair home.

STRIKE CALL TOO HASTY.

CURRAN'S COUP PROVES A PREMATURE EXPLOSION.

Orders Out Freight Handlers at Alton Sheds When None of the Men Are Expecting It—Many of Their Places Quickly Filled by Company—Action Taken Just as Peace Board Is Completed to Adjust Union's Troubles with Wholesalers.

strike," said Curran, while hearing reports from the men. "We hold the whip hand and are going to win."

"Will the strike spread?" he was asked.

"I don't care to say," was the reply. "It may or it may not. I have the power to order it, but a good general never lets the enemy know his plan of campaign."

The two men discharged by the Alton were J. Pense and P. Lavelle, members of the committee selected by the employés to voice their grievances.

The freight handlers are also bitter against the Rock Island railroad. They assert that it has refused to pay the employés in its Forty-seventh street sheds the union scale of wages.

Gives the Railroad's View.

"Last Friday the Alton posted a notice in its freight sheds stating that it was willing to pay the men the wages granted those doing similar work in the freight department of the Lake Shore system," said Representative Siason Thompson of the railroad last night. "This was a voluntary action on the part of the company and lifts the wages to the Chicago standard.

"Some days ago the road let out several of its men. It was forced to take this course as a result of the East St. Louis flood. Among the men discharged were two of the committeemen of the union. So far as I know, these two were not dropped because they were members of a labor organization.

"I am under the impression that the real cause of the strike can be found in the fact that when the freight handlers lost their fight at St. Louis the Alton road refused to reinstate the men who went out. This caused the wrath of Curran, and he is attempting to retaliate, but is slated for defeat. He has lost every strike he has called. He failed to win in Chicago last summer. He was defeated in St. Louis and Kansas City this spring, and he is in for a drubbing now."

Refuse to Treat with Curran.

Early in the morning the committee of teamsters selected by the joint council of that body met with the executive committee of the Federation of Labor and the Steam Power council to consider the trouble between the freight handlers and the downtown warehouses. The teamsters announced at the start that they did not intend to be a party to any attempt to coerce the firms of Marshall Field & Co., Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., and the J. V. Farwell company to grant the demands of the freight handlers. They also said that neither President Curran nor any man he appointed could be a party to a conference with them.

The officials of the Federation of Labor then arranged for a meeting between the firms and the union committee, but before this was completed news came that the matter had been adjusted by the selection of Mr. Walker as the fifth man in the arbitration board.

Teamsters Join a Strike.

Under orders of the joint executive council of their union, the teamsters yesterday refused to haul material for the Kellogg Switchboard company. This attitude will be maintained until the company ends the strike that is tying up its plants.

A committee of the metal workers and armature winders, including several girls, appeared before the joint council Tuesday night and asked for assistance. They presented their wage and hour demands, and said the company put them under the ban of an injunction.

The teamsters had refused to aid the strikers on the grounds that they were bound by contracts. Sympathy, however, got the better of them, and rather than see several unions that have been friendly to them in the past go down in defeat the drivers gave in and ordered a sympathetic strike.

At noon yesterday the officers of the Truck Drivers' union stopped the teams owned by the firm and ordered the men to go to work for other bosses. Later in the day the Railway Express Drivers and Conductors' union became a party to the struggle. Pickets were placed about the plants with orders to stop every wagon that approached.

Another Interunion Strike.

The carpenters and building laborers have begun a general fight over the right to erect false work. For twenty years the laborers have been conceded that line of the building industry, but of late have found the carpenters demanding that the contractors give it to them.

The first strike came at the First National bank building last week. Then followed a walkout of the laborers at the Commonwealth Electric plant, Twenty-second street and Fisk avenue, and yesterday the laborers employed at the new addition to the Lewis Institute, Madison and Robey streets, laid down their tools. In each case the contractors gave the work to the carpenters. At the bank building the laborers conceded the point and called the fight off, but said they would not do so again.

Express Drivers Win.

The Chicago board of arbitration adjusted the wage differences between the railway express companies of the city and their wagon employés. The decree gives the men an advance varying from 3 to 15 per cent, and requires the companies to sign the first agreement they have ever made with a labor organization.

The new scale affects about 1,000 men, and adds approximately $200,000 to the yearly pay rolls of the companies. In part the agreement provides as follows:

Conductors are to receive $62.50 a month when first placed at work, $67.50 after three months' service, and $70 after six months' service.

Single wagon men doing pickup work to receive $60 a month when they start and $62.50 after three months' service.

Single wagon men, afternoon work, are to receive $65 a month when they start and $67.50 after three months' service.

Single freight wagon drivers are to receive $55 a month.

High single wagon drivers are to receive $42.50 a month.

Double wagon drivers are to receive $57.50 a month.

All night drivers are to receive $62.50 a month.

The branch office men are to receive 10 per cent less than these rates. All overtime after 10½ hours' work is to be paid for at the rate of 27½ cents an hours. The men who handle money and jewelry are to be rated as "double conductors" and get twice a conductor's pay.

Kohlsaat Charges Conspiracy.

Charges of conspiracy were filed against several business agents yesterday by the H. H. Kohlsaat company, and are being investigated by the state's attorney's office. They are an outcome of the strike that closed the firm's bakery and restaurants.

The charges are based on the statement that none of the strikers, save the negro waiters at 43 Dearborn street, had any reason for their action, except an ulterior one, and that is supposed to be the influence of the Master Bakers' association, of which the Kohlsaat company is not a member. The association has been fighting the company for several years, and is charged with being a party to a conspiracy to ruin it.

Fred Neiderhoff, business agent of the journeymen bakers' union, was summoned to the state's attorney's office and questioned as to the stand taken by the master bakers. He was told that complaint had been made against him, and that action might be taken, but Assistant State's Attorney Barnes, in charge of the case, refused to discuss the progress made.

Warning to Coatmakers.

The wholesale tailors warned their 15,000 coatmakers yesterday that they have grown tired of trying to adjust the wage demands of the men and would do nothing further unless the employés appointed a committee from their number with full power to act. The union has demanded a wage increase of 30 per cent. In return the employers made three propositions—a 5 per cent increase, submit the entire matter to arbitration, or reopen negotiations with a committee that has full power to make an agreement. The coatmakers probably will accept one of the propositions before the close of the week.

TWO HURT BY STREET CARS.

Boy Run Down by Chicago General Trolley—Cripple Thrown from Madison Street Cable Train.

Joseph Vite, 7 years old, was struck by a street car yesterday and so severely injured his recovery is said to be doubtful. He lives at 604 West Twenty-second place. He was crossing the street at Twenty-second street and California avenue when he was knocked down by a car of the Chicago General railway company.

The sudden starting of a West Madison street cable train in the evening caused Andrew Wells, a cripple, to be thrown to the street, sustaining a scalp wound and internal injuries.

The train sped away, leaving Wells lying in the street. It started while the cripple was alighting and witnesses say the conductor was at fault.

JOIN MOVE FOR DENEEN.

SIXTH WARD REPUBLICANS MEET AND ORGANIZE A CLUB.

A. C. Barnes Elected President and Resolutions Indorsing the State's Attorney for Governor Adopted—Separate Body to Be Formed in Every Precinct—Delegation of Democrats to Demand Removal of Justice Fitzgerald.

Determined not to be behind other parts of the city in showing their colors, republicans of the Sixth ward fell into line last night and indorsed the candidacy of Charles S. Deneen for governor.

It was one of the most enthusiastic and harmonious meetings of the movement to make Mr. Deneen the standard bearer, and was held at Boulevard hall, Forty-seventh street and Grand boulevard. The "Deneen Club of the Sixth Ward" was organized, with Albert C. Barnes as president. The other officers chosen were:

Vice president—Adolph Nathan.
Secretary—William Moulton.
Treasurer—Wallace Clark.

The constitution adopted also provides for a vice president in each primary district of the ward, and these, together with the foregoing officials, are to constitute the executive committee. Each voting precinct will organize an auxiliary club. Last night's gathering was not intended to be a mass-meeting, but representatives from every precinct were there and the attendance was surprisingly large.

Called to Order by Mr. Barnes.

In calling the meeting to order Mr. Barnes said:

"We have met here on invitation of one another with a common purpose. It is recognized by the republicans of this ward that the general sentiment not only here among us but throughout the city is favorable to the candidacy of Charles S. Deneen for the nomination for governor by the republican state convention in 1904. We are here to organize a club to promote his candidacy in the Sixth ward."

One or two of those active in perfecting the organization wanted a committee to make up a slate of permanent officers and report to a subsequent meeting, but the crowd was determined to have no delay, and by an almost unanimous vote Mr. Barnes was elected president, and the election of the other officers followed.

Resolutions indorsing Mr. Deneen, offered by E. C. Lindley, were unanimously adopted.

Twentieth Ward Meeting.

After listening to a talk by Senator Francis W. Parker at Hygeia hall, Ogden avenue and Robey street, the People's Republican club of the Twentieth ward changed its name to conform to the Deneen movement, adopted a new constitution, and elected new officers last night. By reason of the small attendance indorsement of Mr. Deneen's candidacy was left for a subsequent meeting. The officers elected are:

President—T. Fred Laramie.
Vice president—Thomas H. Jones.
Secretary—J. M. Kelliher.

The name was changed to People's Republican League of the Twentieth Ward.

The Swedish republicans of the Fifteenth ward will meet tonight at Manstein's hall to form a Deneen club.

Seek to Oust Justice Fitzgerald.

Democratic trouble so far as the Thirty-first ward is concerned has only started. The anti-Harrison faction in that locality went out to get the scalp of Justice John Fitzgerald. With a declaration that he must lose his job because of "the high handed and overbearing manner in which he presided at the annual meeting and election of club officers Saturday night" Mayor Harrison will be asked to remove him.

Word reached the city hall to the effect that a delegation of 100 leading democrats of the ward would be down today or tomorrow to see the mayor and demand Justice Fitzgerald's removal from "the court of the common people."

Friends of Justice Fitzgerald said that he acted entirely in the interest of the Harrison machine. It was simply a question, they asserted, whether one noisy crowd or the other should control the meeting and elect the club officers.

SAFE BLOWERS ESCAPE AFTER ROBBING CARY BANK.

Take $3,500 in Money and Valuable Papers from Institution in McHenry County—Dogs Lose the Trail.

After using dynamite to blow open the safe in which cash and securities were kept, safe blowers who are supposed to have their headquarters in Chicago took $3,500 from the Cary bank of Cary, Ill., early yesterday morning. The explosion aroused nearly every inhabitant of the town, but before the first man arrived the robbers had escaped.

The robbery occurred at 2 o'clock in the morning, and, although an improvised posse scoured the country for several miles around and watched the trains, no trace of the burglars could be found. Sheriff Wandrack of McHenry county was called from Woodstock and set bloodhounds on the trail. The hounds repeatedly lost the scent and late last night the sheriff gave up the chase.

From the course taken by the dogs it was discovered that the men separated when they left the bank. One track led north out of the town and across country, while the other was followed south along the Fox river to a spot nearly a mile south. Here it turned and went down to the water, and it is believed that the man took a boat at that point.

Two men were seen loitering about the bank shortly before midnight, but their actions aroused no suspicion. It is thought that they effected an entrance to the building a few minutes later and at once attacked the safe. The explosion tore the door from its hinges and wrecked the room.

L. F. Mentsch, owner of the bank, at first estimated his loss at about $2,000. Later he made an examination of his books, and last night announced that the loss would exceed $3,500 in cash, besides a number of papers which are not negotiable.

INDIAN CHIEF A PRIEST.

LAST OF ONEIDA RULERS ENTERS THE MINISTRY.

Cornelius Hill Made a Clergyman of the Episcopal Church at Oneida, Wis., with Ceremony in Which the Stately Ritualistic Forms Are Mingled with More Picturesque Features of Aboriginal Worship—Tribesmen and Squaws Assemble at Mission.

Oneida, Wis., June 24.—[Special.]—Cornelius Hill, chief of the Oneida tribe, was ordained a priest of the Episcopal church with a ceremony in which the stately ritual of the high church was mingled with the more picturesque features of Indian worship.

Hill is the last chief of the tribe that migrated to the west under the leadership of Eleazer Williams, the hero of Mary Hartwell Catherwood's historical romance, "Lazarre." He is the first Oneida chief to be ordained a priest.

Gathering of the Tribe.

Early in the morning the Oneidas began to assemble at the mission church. They came with squaws and papooses, most of them clad in the garments of civilization. One lone brave appeared in the blanket and feather of aboriginal days. But for the most part the Indians came in up to date carriages, for many of them are wealthy.

There were present Bishop Coadjutor Weller of the Fond du Lac diocese, Bishop Nicholson of the Milwaukee diocese, and a score of other Wisconsin church dignitaries.

Every ceremony used by the church was used. Every now and then the services would be stopped for a few minutes while the English words were interpreted into the Oneida tongue by Joel Archiquette, the famous football player of the Carlisle Indian team.

Translated Into Oneida Tongue.

The Rev. B. Talbot Rogers of Grafton hall, Fond du Lac, acted as master of ceremonies. The sermon was by the Rev. William B. Thorn, rector of St. Paul's church at Marinette. It was interpreted into the Indian tongue by Archiquette.

The Rev. Walter D. Gardner of Algoma made the presentation and the litany was read by the Rev. Henry S. Foster of Green Bay.

An impressive Indian chant was used as introit, after which an epistle was read by the Rev. F. A. Mingay, missionary to the old Catholics. The Rev. Henry B. Smith of Fond du Lac read the gospel. During the ordination proper a hymn of several verses with chorusus was sung in the Oneida language. The final hymn was also in the language of the Oneidas.

At the close of the ceremonies the newly ordained priest received the tribe, as did the bishop, sitting in a chair before the chancel. The first celebration of the holy eucharist in the Oneida language will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, the chief and priest being the celebrant.

MAN AND WIFE END THEIR LIVES.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sontage Commit Suicide—Domestic Discord Assigned as the Cause.

Despondency over domestic troubles caused Albert Sontage and his wife to commit suicide at their residence in Steger, Ill. Both took laudanum on Tuesday, and it is believed they made a compact to die together. Shortly after the man's death Mrs. Sontage revived and sat up in bed.

"How is Albert?" she asked.

"He is dead," was the reply.

"That is good. He is to blame for all this," said the woman before becoming unconscious again. She died within an hour after the death of her husband.

Sontage and his wife were each about 45 years old. Mrs. Sontage had been married twice and had two grown sons living in Chicago. The couple lived by themselves, and it is said they had frequent quarrels. Sontage was a painter.

AUBURN STAKES GOES TO HUZZAH.

Arthur Colt Beats Gold Bell in a Hard Drive at Washington Park.

BIG BEN WINS AT 50 TO 1.

Frank Shaw, Once Noted as a Plunger, Reported to Have Won $30,000.

The Auburn stakes, the feature event at Washington park yesterday, went to James Arthur's Hermence—Complete horse, Huzzah, by a nose after a sensational finish with Gold Bell. The favorite, Sam Fullen, was third, five lengths back.

The sensational feature of the day was the victory of Big Ben in the fifth race, after he had been backed down from 50 to 1 to 30 to 1. Frank Shaw, a noted plunger of a decade ago, was the chief winner on the race, and is said to have taken $30,000 out of the ring. Big Ben was wholly unknown to local race goers. He is a brown gelding, owned by S. W. Street. The race was for 3 year olds at a mile, and Collonade, one of J. B. Respess' Derby candidates, was the favorite in the event.

The Auburn stakes, despite the field was strong and full of dangerous contenders, was conceded to Sam Fullen, and, as he was universally tipped, he was backed almost to the exclusion of everything else in the race. His price, 2 to 1 in a field of twelve, was small, but that did not prevent the crowd from hammering the figures down to 8 to 5 by post time. Of the others, Huzzah, Gold Bell, Schwalbe, Nitrate, and Flying Torpedo, received the largest play.

Dwyer had some difficulty in getting the field away, and when he did Little Wilson sent Schwalbe to the front, followed closely by Paul Whaley, which beat her to the turn and raced her off her feet. Sam Fullen, of whom so much was expected, got away among the tail enders, and, as he was shy on early speed, he did not better his position until near the far turn, rounding which he was cut off, which cost him several lengths. Paul Whaley chucked it about that part of the journey, as did Harry, who was quite prominent for a half mile.

Have a Hard Duel.

Gold Bell took a hand in the game after passing the half mile post, and escaping interference, shot to the front and reached the stretch first, a length and a half in front of Huzzah, who, in turn, led Sam Fullen by two lengths. The two leaders outfooted Fullen and doubled up after passing the eighth pole, with Schorr's colt still showing the way by a small margin. Huzzah, under a vigorous ride by Robbins, got on even terms 100 yards out, and Robbins outrode Reed to the end. Flying Torpedo, which won the stake last year, was a dangerous factor at the head of the stretch, being but a neck behind Fullen, but he fagged just when his admirers expected him to give the leaders an argument.

The surprise of the meeting came in the fifth race, in which J. B. Respess' colt, Collonade, a topheavy favorite at 7 to 10, finished outside of the money, and the winner turned up in Big Ben, backed from 50 down to 30 to 1. The big horse hung back for a half mile, then went to the front as easily as if the others were tied, and showed the way to the wire. Serge was second and Sir Hugh run third, all close up.

Lucien Appleby at Last.

Lucien Appleby found a spot soft enough to win, a fact which was known by his owners, as they backed him heavily and cashed. Lucien's race was the first on the card, and although off last, a position he retained to the far turn, he had enough in him to beat out Bragg by a head after a stirring finish. Fore and Aft, one of the well touted Derby horses, was the second choice and finished last.

A well judged ride by Robbins landed Allista a winner in the second race, in which Marshal Ney was the favorite. Off first, Robbins kept his mount going at top speed and won eased up by three lengths. The favorite was second, and Frank Carr, stoutly supported, ran third.

Mary Glenn, with an ordinary boy up, was considered a certainty in the fourth race, but she was practically left at the post. Uranium, with little Wilson on his back, got away nicely, opened a gap of a length, and won with lots to spare. Avoid, backed to finish in the money, was second, and If You Dare third.

Winner, M. H. Tichenor's b. f., by Rossington—Semper Idem. Start fair. Won driving. Bay Wonder came with a rush at the end and would have won in a few more strides. The winner, entered for $1,000, was bid up to $2,000 and bought in.

Washington Park Track Notes.

Jockey Webb was thrown by Jaubert at the post for the fourth race.

J. C. Milam has sold Harry Beck and Alice Morgan to Morgan & Co.

The gross value of the Auburn stakes was $3,415; net to the winner, $2,780.

E. R. Bradley bid up Semper Vivum $1,000 over her entered price, but her owners, M. H. Tichenor & Co., retained her.

Bookmaker Yaeger did not think Colonnade fancied the going and took all the money handed to him without cutting the price.

The Englewood stakes, for fillies 3 years old, is up for argument today. Esherin, winner of the Kentucky Oaks, is the weight carrier. Wainamoinen, with 120 pounds up, won the event last year in 1:44 2-5.

Mrs. Drake and Mrs. Gates gave a poolboy $5 each to bet on Big Ben at 40 to 1. After the horse had won, unexpectedly, the boy returned and said he could not get the bet on. The boy, like a great many others, did not give Ben a chance, and, presumably, played the rôle of private bookmaker.

CAREER OF BIG PLUNGER.

Beginning in Pittsburg, He Next Came to Chicago, Where He Operated Extensively in Poolrooms — Close Student of the Game and in Habits a Total Abstainer—Has Owned Good Horses, Including the Brooklyn Handicap Winner in 1897.

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—George E. Smith ("Pittsburg Phil"), who has practically been barred from the Jockey club tracks, has been betting on the races for more than twenty years, commencing at Pittsburg, then proceeding to Chicago, where the poolrooms were in full blast, and where by close study of the reports of races he achieved great success.

His well known cognomen, "Pittsburg Phil," was conferred upon him by the keeper of a poolroom to distinguish him from others of the name of Smith to whom auction pools would be knocked down. Smith is a total abstainer, has the appearance of a clerk, and, although nearly 40 years old, looks much younger. Some say he is worth nearly $1,000,000.

Smith now owns a small stable, including Grand Opera, Stevedore, and Chilton, while Lord Sinco, Past Pittacus, and Rene are trained by his brother William. Smith has owned racers for the last fifteen years. He won the Brooklyn handicap in 1897 with Howard Mann, who was an added starter because the track had become a sea of slush over night. With Ahom he won the Brooklyn Derby in 1899. In 1897 his colt, The Winner, ran a close second, being beaten only a head, in the Metropolitan handicap, won by James R. Keene's Voter. With King Cadmas in 1891 he won a large sum of money in a race run over the Sheepshead bay course, which his colt won by a head, Taral riding him. Applause, Wernberg, St. Carney, Latson, and others have been owned by Smith at different times.

Experience with Jockeys.

Smith has had several noted jockeys riding for him. He admired "Sam" Doggett's style eight years ago, when that jockey was at his best, but quarreled with him over a race which Doggett rode on his horse, Ed Kearney, in California. He then induced "Tod" Sloan to come east, and was instrumental in establishing this remarkable rider among the best in his profession. Sloan gradually drifted away from Smith, and then "Skeets" Martin rode his racers. Martin went to England, and Smith picked up William Shaw, whom he saw riding at New Orleans. Obtaining the sanction of the boy's parents, Smith began to educate Shaw. The latter became a good rider, but even his best friends admit he cannot use a whip effectively. During the Saratoga summer meeting in 1902 Shaw rode St. Finnan in a race in which Latson and another horse ran. The riding of Shaw was such as to cause the stewards to investigate it, and the case made a great deal of talk. Shortly afterwards, at the fall meeting of the Coney Island Jockey club, while riding William C. Whitney's Blue Girl in a great filly stake, when she was beaten by Leonora Loring, Shaw's finish was adversely commented on by Blue Girl's owner, and Whitney asked the stewards to investigate the jockey's ride. The case made a great sensation, but as a result Shaw was exonerated. During the Jamaica meeting Shaw had the mount on W. C. Daly's Illyria, and the colt was not placed, the race being won by Ben Howard. Three days later, at Morris park, Illyria was a close second to August Belmont's Mizzen in the Toboggan handicap, and there was a great outcry at the reversal of form. Several days later it was officially announced by the stewards that Shaw had been suspended on the recommendation of the Jamaica stewards. At this investigation held by the Jockey club's stewards Smith appeared before that body, and later it was common gossip that he, too, would be punished by the Jockey club stewards.

Wins on Africander.

Smith was present the first three days of the recent Brooklyn Jockey club meeting, but announced he was ill and was going to the Adirondacks for recuperation. He reappeared at Gravesend before the meeting ended, however, and when Africander won the Suburban and achieved an unprecedented thing in turf annals by his victory in that race "Pittsburg Phil" was one of those known to have backed him. The odds against the colt were 15 to 1, and Phil is said to have won $20,000.

"Pittsburg Phil" paid $2 for an admission badge to the track today and was a spectator in the grand stand during the afternoon. He reiterated his statement that he would "get even" for what he says is an unjust deal. He said tonight he didn't know why his entries were refused and that it was up to the stewards to make public evidence if they had any.

HERMIS QUITS LIKE A PLATER.

Swerves in Stretch and Is Beaten by Florham Queen and Flying Jib.

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Hermis tried again today and was found wanting. He was asked to beat such inferior animals as Andy Williams, Flying Jib, Squid, and Florham Queen at a mile and a sixteenth on the grass. With 126 pounds up, he was made favorite at 9 to 20. Florham Queen got away running, and raced into the back stretch with a lead of three lengths, Flying Jib being the runner up for three quarters of a mile, where Rice sent Hermis up to the Triston filly as they neared the turn. It looked then as if Hermis would surely win, but when it came down to a final effort the horse swerved under the whip and quit like an ordinary selling plater. Florham Queen, at 40 to 1, won, ridden out, by a length and a half, in 1:53. Flying Jib was second. After passing the judge's stand Rice worked Hermis out for another quarter, riding him out for all he was worth.

First race, last 5 furlongs of Futurity course—Marjoram, 110 pounds [Bullman], 10 to 1, won; Sweet Tone, 115 [Waterbury], 10 to 1, second; The Lady Rodesia, 115 [O'Neil], 7 to 1, third. Time, 1:00 3-5. Ruth Parrish, Hopeful Miss, Step Aside, Semitic, Gananoque, Vagary, and Fine Fleur ran.

Second race, handicap, 1 mile—Herbert, 124 pounds [Odom], 9 to 10, won; Locket, 96 [Cream-er], 10 to 1, second; Blackstock, 122 [Burns], 7 to 5, third. Time, 1:44.

Third race, the Mermaid stakes, 1⅛ miles—Daisy Green, 111 pounds [Bullman], 10 to 1, won; Eugenia Burch, 112 [Odom], 5 to 2, second; Dekaber, 111 [Matthews], 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:59 3-5. Ada Nay, Stolen Moments, and Fair Rosalind ran.

Fourth race, the Rockaway cup, about 2½ miles—The Virginian, 150 pounds [Ray], 6 to 5, won; Almanzor, 146 [Heider], 10 to 1, second; Jim Newman, 163 [G. Green], 3 to 1, third. Time, 5:37 3-5. R. B. Sack and Meadowlark fell.

Fifth race, 5½ furlongs—Luminosity, 113 pounds [Odom], 9 to 5, won; Excentral, 96 [W. Fisher], 15 to 1, second; Lady Lavish, 104 [Fuller], 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:09. Listaway, Rector, Jennico, Auf Wiedersehen, Sterling Belle, Sosom, Symphony, and Monitor ran.

Sixth race, 5½ furlongs—Thistle Heather, 104 pounds [Boisen], 60 to 1, won; Short cake, 105 [Adams], 20 to 1, second; Albertola, 103 [O'Neil], 18 to 5, third. Time, 1:09 1-5. Sir Walt, Lord Haven, Miss Shylock, Hoceo, Jig Step, Hylas, Tommy Rot, and Gold Ribbon ran.

Seventh race, 1 1-16 miles on turf—Florham Queen, 96 pounds [McCafferty], 40 to 1, won; Flying Jib, 101 [Redfern], 3 to 1, second; Hermis, 126 [Rice], 9 to 20, third. Time, 1:53. Andy Williams and Squid ran.

OWEN A PUZZLE TO WASHINGTON.

WHITE SOX WIN, 4 TO 1.

St. Louis and Detroit Victorious Over Philadelphia and Boston.

Manager Callahan pitted the youngest pitcher on his staff, Frank Owen, against Al Orth, who blanked the White Stockings the last time they met him, and the youngster came out victorious by the score of 4 to 1 in a fast played game at the south side grounds yesterday.

Four times was Owen swatted safely and only four times by Tom Loftus' band of sluggers, and, although the White Sox were a trifle unsteady in their support, the young man from Ypsilanti never turned a feather all the way. It was the sixth inning before they could get a hit. Then it was after two were out. Not until the eighth could they get a man across the rubber plate. That was when Orth's double and Moran's single came together after two were gone. In fact, all except one of the runs made in the game were scored with two out. Two fast double plays, in one of which Magoon starred, and in the other of which both Isbell and Tannehill shone, saved Tannehill's two errors from becoming costly in the early innings.

Hits of the Worng Kind.

Owen was steadier than Orth, giving nary a base on balls, although he hit two batters, putting Ryan out of the game in the ninth with a badly bruised hand, and nearly knocking Drill out with a bump on the head in the sixth. Orth issued two passes and made a wild pitch at an extremely opportune moment.

The White Sox scored first in the third. Tannehill was passed. McFarland fouled out after failing to bunt. Owen pulled a single into left and Holmes popped out, but Jones made good with a drive to center on which Tannehill slid into the plate just under Ryan's good throw. With two down in the fourth, Magoon was passed and went around to third on a wild pitch, scoring in a walk when Tannehill swatted one through left center tagged for a three bagger.

Two were out again in the fifth when Robinson shinned Jones' bounder, the ball rolling so far away that Fielder sneaked to second on it, and scored when Green hit safely to center. In the next round Isbell led off with his second three bagger just out of Ryan's reach, and Magoon sent him home with a single to left, but was out himself trying to reach second on the drive. In the seventh and eighth the White Sox got men as far as third, but they died there.

One Run for Washington.

Just five of the Senators reached first base alive up to the eighth inning, and only three of them saw second base. But in the eighth, with two our, Orth hit a long one over Green's head for two sacks. Moran then trundled a fast one over second base, scoring Orth with the only run for the Senators. Score:

BROWNS THRASH THE QUAKERS.

Waddell Is Beaten at St. Louis, His Rival, Donahue Getting the Better Support.

St. Louis, Mo., June 24.—St. Louis trimmed Philadelphia today, with Waddell in the box, by hard hitting and an error by Schreck, the latter making a wild throw to second, on which Wallace scored. Donahue pitched for St. Louis, and he split about even with Waddell, the brilliant work of St. Louis in the field turning the tide. Attendance, 3,500. Score:

Detroit, 2; Boston, 1.

Detroit, Mich., June 24.—Consecutive hitting by Deering, Crawford, and Carr in Detroit's half of the sixth inning today won the game from Boston. Dineen and Deering both pitched good ball. Long's error gave Boston its opportunity to score in the fifth. Criger's work behind the bat was a feature. Score:

SELEE WANTS MORE MEN.

LOOKING FOR WEB FOOTED PLAYERS FOR EAST.

Yesterday's Double Header Between Colts and Brooklyn Prevented by Wet Grounds—Hanlon Promises to Put on Two Games Today if He Has to Build Raised Platforms for Pitcher and Catcher—Ray Evans Is Released.

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Unless somebody turns off the hose Jim Hart may as well send for his baseball team to come back home, as all they have been doing since coming to New York a week ago is to sit around the hotel and look wise, with the exception of two days, when they won two games and lost one. Manager Selee is now looking for a few players with web feet, so that he can use them on eastern trips.

Today's game with Brooklyn had to be postponed because Hanlon's grounds did not dry quick enough after the rain this morning. Hanlon says "two games tomorrow if they have to use boats to reach the bases." He promised Selee today that he would have stands made for the pitcher and catcher if the water was over the base lines. From the way it looks tonight he will have to make good his promise, as the clouds are just as close as they have been for a week, and the weather man is doing his best to have it rain again tomorrow.

Hanlon has let Roy Evans of his pitchers go. Schmidt and Jones may work against Lundgren and Weimer for Chicago tomorrow, and Selee will take his team to Boston tomorrow night.

Clean Sweep in National League.

All games scheduled for the National league clubs yesterday were postponed by rain or wet grounds.

Notes of the White Sox Game.

Ryan was hit squarely on the hand in the ninth and retired from the game, letting Joe Martin run for him. Martin got around as far as third before the game was over, but did nothing which figured in the score.

Manager Loftus of the Senators was induced to waive his claim to one of the White Stocking pitchers in exchange for "Ducky" Holmes, accepting instead first claim on a star minor league twirler with whom Comiskey was negotiating.

The much talked of pitchers' battle between Managers Griffith and Callahan is not likely to be pulled off this trip, as the White Sox manager has not pitched a ball since early in the season and his absence from the infield would weaken it too much.

Isbell's first triple came in the second after Callahan had fanned, but he was caught trying to score on Magoon's bounder to Robinson. Ryan made a grand effort to get Isbell's second long swat, and, running back fast, managed to stab the ball but it bounded off his mit.

A hard shower of a few minutes' duration just before the game made the grounds a trifle heavy although they were plenty good enough to play on. But the rain kept down the attendance. This has happened so many times this season that the magnates are getting used to it.

OAKWOOD HANDICAP WEIGHTS.

McChesney Is Assigned 129 Pounds—One Pound Better than Gold Heels.

Feature Won by Malster.

St. Louis, Mo., June 24.—Malster won the six furlong handicap at the Fair Grounds today. He went to the post practically unsupported. Frank Bell was heavily played. Poseur set a terrific pace to within 100 yards of the wire, where Frank Bell and Malster tied up with her, and after a thrilling finish Malster got the verdict by a nose from Frank Bell. Brilliants, a 2 year old colt by Ornament, which, on account of bad acting at the post, has been on the schooling list for some time, won the third race at 50 to 1. He came with a rush on the end and was easily the best. A select few won heavily on the colt's victory. Track fast. Summary:

First race, 9-16 mile—Bird Pond, 105 pounds [Higgins], 3 to 1, won; Tiomanine, 21 to 5, second; Little Pirate, 20 to 1, third. Time, :57¼. Miss Buck, Ophelia Martin, Allens, St. Luke, Dan McCue, Anna Hardy, Coral Reef, Billy Jackson, Wootsy, Winlerd, Lamont, and Sweet Myrtle ran.

Second race, 6 furlongs—Cardwellton, 102 pounds [F. Smith], 15 to 1, won; Harry Griffith, 13 to 1, second; Flash of Night, 7 to 2, third. Time, 1:16. Georgia West, Bat Houbre, Mathilde, Blue Grass Girl, Star Nova, Doc Mayer, Budweiser, Maverick, Little Corker, and Mint Leaf ran.

Third race, 11-16 mile—Brilliants, 107 pounds [A. Weber], 50 to 1, won; Matt Wadleigh, 6 to 5, second; Lord Hermence, 60 to 1, third. Time, 1:10. Colin, George, Ryme and Reason, Hugh McGowan, Serenity, and Arnold K. ran.

Fourth race, 6 furlongs, handicap—Malster, 107 pounds [Higgins], 7 to 1, won; Frank Bell, 2 to 1, second; Poseur, 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:14½. Pourqui Pas, Prosper, La Gal, Lady Strathmore, and Miss Mae Day ran.

Fifth race, 1 mile—Pettijohn, 90 pounds [F. Smith], 13 to 5, won; Orpheum, 13 to 1, second; Memphian, 9 to 1, third. Time, 1:42¼. Jessie Y., Class Leader, Duela, Welcome Light, Aules, and Dr. Kammerer ran.

Sixth race, 1 1-16 miles—Echodale, 109 pounds [T. O'Brien], 8 to 1, won; Father Wentker, 2 to 1, second; Josie F., 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:51½. Landola, Baronet, Oudenards, and Monos ran.

REST FOR CREWS ON HUDSON.

Wisconsin Oarsmen Are in Good Form and Hopeful—First Betting Book Is Out.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 24.—[Special.]—After an unparalleled day of hard work the Wisconsin oarsmen were given their first real rest since their arrival on the Hudson and began storing up energy for what critics conversant with the strength of all the crews say will be the greatest race in the history of the Poughkeepsie course.

The varsity men were allowed to lounge about the quarters all morning, and the freshmen were required to take only a short walk. The work in the afternoon was mere paddle, Coach O'Dea taking all three crews up the river about 5 o'clock, the eights rowing in fours. At the two mile point all were taken across to the course on the other side of the river, and the two eights lined up even for a brush. The tide was running strong at the time, although a strong wind was blowing up stream, and both eights started off at a 30 stroke, which they were allowed to hold for three-fourths of a mile, the varsity gaining a length on the freshmen in that time. Several other bursts of speed in which the varsity easily left the freshmen were tried, and the crews were then sent back to the boathouse. The water was rough during the trials, and as a consequence the form was not good, but Coach O'Dea said the speed was good and he expressed no dissatisfaction at the row.

Tomorrow all the crews will be given another short paddle, and that will complete the training, and the men will not touch oars again until they paddle up to the start on Friday.

The condition of Wisconsin could not be better and the men will also row in better form than they have shown in any race on the Hudson, unless the crew goes to pieces in the race, and the Wisconsin crew has never done that. The men are feeling more confident each day and firmly believe they are a sure second and have an excellent show to win.

The first book on the races was out today, and in it Cornell ranked first at even money against the field, Columbia second, Wisconsin third, and Pennsylvania fourth. The greater part of the betting will be among college men. Columbia's supporters are offering odds against Wisconsin.

So far as time trials are of any value the evidence is to the advantage of Cornell. It became known tonight that the varsity eight went over the four mile course last evening in 19:05, which is twenty-four seconds faster than any other crew has made, according to the times the various coaches have allowed to become known.

Wadsworth Wins from Burdick.

The second challenge game for the W. P. Mussey emblem and championship of Cook county at three cushions was played last night between Wadsworth and Burdick. In a close finish Wadsworth won, the score being: Wadsworth, 50; Burdick, 46.

RESTING ON THEIR OARS.

HARVARD AND YALE CREWS READY FOR TODAY'S RACES.

Grueling Contest Is Expected Between Ancient Rivals in Varsity Eight Match—New Haven Men Are Hopeful of Taking Three Events—Cambridge Freshmen Win New Feature on the Card, a Four Oar Sprint Between First Year Men.

New London, Conn., June 24.—[Special.]—Ten hours before the time for calling the annual Yale-Harvard boat races, indications are that they will take place promptly at the hours scheduled, the freshmen eight and varsity four respectively at 11:30 o'clock and noon tomorrow, and the varsity eight at 12:30 in the afternoon. Julian W. Curtiss, chairman of the regatta committee, said at midnight that conditions of wind and tide gave every promise of being satisfactory, and that no postponements were likely. Extremely fast conditions of water are also promised, and close to record time will be made, if some historic figures are not clipped.

Yale confidence is high for the varsity eight and the freshmen eight races, while hope is not given up for the varsity four. Head Coach Kunzig said this evening: "We feel we have reason to expect three straight victories tomorrow, but we know we have a hard fight ahead in the varsity struggle. It will be one of the most fiercely fought races ever rowed on the Thames, as Harvard has a much faster crew than last year."

Capt. Waterman said: "We are in physical shape and rowing form to put up a stiff, grueling race from start to finish, and should win out on stamina, which we hope to have in reserve the last mile."

Capt. MacMahon of the freshmen crew said: "Our crew has had a run of hard luck in losing Whittier to the varsity, in the accident to my hand yesterday, and finally by the severe illness of Heckshot, our bow, tonight. Still, we feel we can win."

Head Coach Higginson of the Harvard varsity eight said: "Our oarsmen have rounded into excellent condition, and have shown development in speed the last week. I think we can win."

Head Coach Perkins of the freshmen said: "We expect to win our race in fast time."

Capt. McGrew of the Harvard varsity said: "We are hopeful, but not confident. I don't see that we could be in better condition."

The freshmen four oared contest was rowed today. The Harvard youngsters won by less than a length in 3:00. Yale got away first and led for seventy yards, but Harvard pulled ahead for a furlong, when Yale once more forged to the lead, and kept there till the finish line was crossed.

At the Yale quarters tonight were Alfred Cowles of Chicago, captain of one of the fastest crews which ever led Harvard to defeat on the Thames; Edson Gallaudet, head coach in '99, and Fred Allen, captain in 1900.

Mrs. Roosevelt arrived here this evening in the government steamer Sylph. Miss Alice Roosevelt will join her here late tonight. Constitution and Columbia came in tonight with a hundred other big yachts.

Saturday's Big Track Meet.

The track meet, to be held on Marshall field Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Anti-Cigaret league, promises to be the greatest athletic event as regards the number of entries held in Chicago for some time. Over fifty clubs are represented. The fast relay team of the Y. M. C. A. will meet Max Beutner's Webster track team and the Marion Athletic club, with which Hogenson will run. There are over eighty entries in the 100 yard dash, sixty in the fifty yard dash, sixty in the 220 yard dash, thirty in the half mile, and twenty-five in the mile. The entries in the hurdles and field events are unusually heavy.

Hanlon Favorite Over Yanger.

San Francisco, Cal., June 24.—[Special.]—The betting on the Hanlon-Yanger fight, which will be held next Tuesday night, has begun. The first odds announced were 10 to 9 in favor of the Californian, and there was no change in the betting during the day. No large amount was wagered. On account of his popularity it was expected Hanlon would be a slight favorite. John Hertz says: "This is Yanger's first fight in four years in which he has not been favorite. When he fought the best men of the country at Chicago he was always favorite." Hertz expressed himself as thoroughly satisfied with Yanger's condition. Benny did not box with Frankie Neil today, as his eye has not fully recovered from a jab from Corbett's glove.

Edgewater Tennis Tourney Results.

Semi-finals in the doubles at the Edgewater Tennis club were played yesterday and resulted as follows: Blake and Pearce defeated Crane and Fallon, 6—0, 6—0, 6—1. Collins and Waldner defeated Goble and Forstall, 6—0, 6—0, 6—1. Results in singles were as follows: First round—Beach defeated Goble, 6—2, 6—2. Second round—Forstall defeated Weadly by default; Waldner defeated Palmer, 6—1, 6—3; Blake defeated Beach, 6—3, 9—7. Third round—Ashcraft defeated Forstall, 6—4, 6—1.

CLEVER WORK FOR BOTH.

Other Contests Are One Sided; Home Pair Wins Handicap Foursome.

With two exceptions the matches played yesterday in the women's tournament at the Midlothian Country club were one sided. Miss Bessie Anthony and Miss J. A. Carpenter were the survivors in the Thomas cup event, and will meet this morning to decide the possession of the trophy.

As was expected, the best match of the day was that between Miss Anthony and Mrs. W. A. Alexander, which was won by the western champion by 3 up and 2 to play. These players met last August at Onwentsia in the final match for the western championship, the Glen View player winning one of the hardest matches of her career by 1 up. Mrs. Alexander is not in as good practice as she was then, and her performance of yesterday is highly creditable, proving her to be only a shade behind Miss Anthony, who is without doubt one of the leading players in the country. Miss Carpenter outclassed Mrs. C. L. Dering and won easily.

Mrs. Manchester Beats Mrs. McIlvaine.

The other close match was between Mrs. Percy Manchester and Mrs. W. B. McIlvaine of Onwentsia in the club cup contest. The latter player, a former western champion, did not perform up to her usual standard, but the winner deserves credit for her victory.

Mrs. E. Young of the Calumet club and Mrs. A. T. H. Brower of the Edgewater club were the winners in the Swift cup contests, and their match today is likely to prove close and interesting. The Payne cup will go to the Midlothian club, as both of the survivors are members.

Miss Anthony won the second and fourth holes from Mrs. Alexander, but lost the next two, brining the match all square. By winning the seventh and ninth Miss Anthony was two up at the turn. On the seven holes played coming in Miss Anthony took forty-three strokes and Mrs. Alexander forty-four. Both players were better through the green than on the putting greens. Their cards:

Summary of the Results.

The play off of the tie for last place in the Swift cup competition was won by Miss M. Gardner. Summary of the results:

THOMAS CUP.

Miss Bessie Anthony, Glen View, defeated Mrs. W. A. Alexander, Exmoor, 3 up, 2 to play. Miss J. A. Carpenter, Westward Ho, defeated Mrs. C. L. Dering, Midlothian, 6 up, 5 to play.

SWIFT CUP.

Miss Elizabeth Young, Calumet, defeated Miss Maud Jeffry, Auburn Park, 6 up, 4 to play. Mrs. A. T. H. Brower, Edgewater, defeated Miss Mary Gardner, Hinsdale, 5 up, 4 to play.

CLUB CUP.

Mrs. Percy Manchester, Glen View, defeated Mrs. W. B. McIlvaine, Onwentsia, 3 up. Mrs. F. E. Donohoe, Edgewater, won from Miss E. Congdon, by default.

PAYNE CUP.

Miss Julia Hunt, Midlothian, won from Miss R. A. Hooper, Auburn Park, by default. Mrs. J. O. Hinkley, Midlothian, defeated Mrs. L. C. Wachsmuth, Washington Park, 8 up, 7 to play.

Play in Handicap Foursome.

Mrs. J. A. Edwards and Mrs. E. S. Hunter won the handicap foursome in the afternoon. Mrs. W. Herrick and Miss Young had the best gross card for the thirteen holes played, as follows:

6 6 7 5 6 7 8 5 6 6 5 5 6—78.

Miss Carpenter won the putting and approaching contest with a score of 10. Mrs. Wachsmuth, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Brower, and Mrs. Berriman had scores of 11.

Final matches for the four cups will be played this morning. In the afternoon there will be a mixed foursome.

Notes of the Golfers.

A women's handicap is scheduled for the Riverside club this afternoon.

Secretary Barnhart announces the annual mixed foursome handicap for the Blossom cup will take place on Saturday.

A blind bogey mixed foursome handicap will be played at the Glen View club this afternoon. Players will make their own handicaps.

Semi-finals for the vice president's cup were played yesterday at the Riverside club. H. E. Havemeyer defeated W. S. North 1 up and F. F. Reed defeated G. M. Scott 1 up, 1 to play.

Jockey Reiff's Condition.

Drs. W. S. Harvey and L. L. McArthur yesterday denied the report that Jockey Johnny Reiff was to be operated on. They say unfavorable symptoms developed on Monday, but that Tuesday night he took a turn for the better and that at present he was getting along nicely.

CHINA LAYS ALL BLAME ON RUSSIA

POWERS ARE INSISTENT.

CHINESE TREATY—Delay in negotiations for open door in Manchuria ascribed by Chinese officials to Russian influence.

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Russia is responsible for the crisis which has been reached in the negotiations at Shanghai looking toward the opening of the ports of Manchuria to the commerce of the world, according to Chinese officials, who assert that Russia is interposing objections. On the other hand, the Russian government assures the United States that it has no design on Manchuria, and is willing there shall be the freest commercial intercourse between that rich province and the rest of the world. The United States has insisted in negotiating a commerce treaty with China that the convention shall provide that Mukden and Taku, two Manchurian ports, must be opened to foreign trade.

The Chinese commissioners who are negotiating the treaty, one of whom is Wu Ting Fang, formerly minister to the United States, have shown no disposition to comply with the wishes of the United States. They assert that China is willing to grant the opening of these ports but is restrained by Russia.

A proposal that the question of applying the "open door" at Mukden and Taku shall be considered separately from a commerce treaty is attributed by the Chinese commissioners to Russian influence. This proposition is being strongly opposed by Great Britain, Japan, and the United States.

These governments insist that the provision for opening Manchurian ports shall be included in the commercial treaty now under consideration. They contend it would be unwise to leave this important matter for future consideration, as with the treaty agreed upon there would be nothing left in the way of consideration to induce the opening of Manchurian ports. The negotiations are in a precarious state, and the state department is exerting its influence to secure an agreement on a treaty including the Manchurian feature.

Representative Boutell conferred with President Roosevelt today and urged him to direct the diversion of the government foreign exchange from New York to Chicago. The government's banking business abroad is done through a New York bank to the exclusion of Chicago institutions.

Uncle Sam, in paying members of the diplomatic corps and the naval officers on foreign stations, sends $7,000,000 abroad annually. Fiscal agents with headquarters in London disburse these funds as they are required. They are deposited in a New York bank and the fiscal agents of the government draw on the London representative of that institution.

Mr. Boutell holds this is discrimination against the Chicago banks, which are as well equipped to transact this business as their New York competitors. President Roosevelt promised to consider the matter, and no decision can be reached immediately.

Judge E. Finley Smith of the Philippine judiciary today discussed matters relating to the archipelago with President Roosevelt. In speaking of the conditions in the islands Judge Smith said:

"The greatest monument to the American government in the islands is the public school system. When this government went into the archipelago in August, 1898, there was not a single school in the islands except at Manila devoted to the common school education. Today there is not a city or town of any size anywhere in the vast territory without a school and many scholars. Thus the Filipinos are being taught under proper auspices."

There is to be a great naval demonstration off Oyster Bay about the middle of August, when President Roosevelt will review the north Atlantic fleet under command of Rear Admiral Barker. Forty-five vessels at least will participate. This will include six battleships, five cruisers, four gunboats, eight or ten destroyers, three training ships, eight supply ships and colliers, and nine tenders and tugs. The review by the president is to be part of the summer practice program for the home fleet announced by the navy department today.

The north Atlantic battleship squadron, now at Tompkinsville, will return from the Azores and rendezvous with the coast and training squadrons under Rear Admirals Wise and Sands at Frenchman's Bay, Me., on July 27. After coaling, the combined fleet, with Rear Admiral Barker in supreme command, will be divided into two squadrons, one representing an enemy and the other the home defense force. The enemy's squadron will put to sea and then endeavor to make a landing somewhere on the New England coast, while the defense squadron will endeavor to prevent this. The search problem, as this practice is called, will end in time to permit the fleet to reassemble at Frenchman's Bay about Aug. 10.

From Frenchman's Bay the fleet will go to Oyster Bay for inspection and be reviewed by the president, and will return to the Maine coast for tactical exercises and to take part in the joint army and navy war games, which will begin at Portland and vicinity about Aug. 23.

The following vessels will take part in the summer maneuvers:

Cruisers—Prairie, Yankee, Dixie, Topeka, and Panther.

NEGRO VOTE NOT URGENT.

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON DISCUSSES RACE QUESTIONS.

Head of Tuskegee Institute Says His People Are Not Hysterical Over Ballot—Do Not Give Up Claim to It, but Rather Hold It Out as Reward for Progress—Insists He Sees No Constitutional Defects in Intellect of Colored Man.

tion in these trades chiefly, if not entirely, because the demand is greater outside in those particular lines. There is, however, practically an equal demand for millwrights, plumbers, wagon makers, gasfitters, and we have a great many letters asking for graduates to take charge of dairy farms. Our own needs here in Tuskegee have led us to pay more than ordinary attention to the building trades. We have had to get housed and the problem has been by no means a small one. Counting students, teachers, and children in the families, we have to provide for about 1,700 people at a time, and this has kept us busy with new buildings, all of which have been put up, designed, decorated, and in most cases furnished complete by our own negro labor."

"Do you find in your work here any indication of the truth of the charge so frequently made by white men, that the negro has a deficient intellectual capacity, entirely aside from the lack of training as a race, and that he cannot succeed in any occupation which requires the use of the reasoning faculties to any great extent?"

Reasoning Faculty Not Lacking.

"I have never yet discovered any indication of any bar to the intellectual growth of the negro. His reasoning power seems to be as well developed as any other mental trait. Allowing for early associations and for the negro's lack of home training, his logical capacity seems to be about the same as that in the whites. In fact, the race is developing along lines which have necessitated the use of its reasoning faculties to an extraordinary degree, and under conditions in which there could not have been success without these reasoning faculties.

"Up to ten years ago we found great difficulty in securing negroes to handle our electrical plant, and of course to give instruction in that department as well, for everything here must be viewed from the educational standpoint. We also found it hard to discover men who were properly trained in mechanical and agricultural drawing, who could conduct chemical experiments for the agricultural department, and who were educated in general scientific work. Now all this has been changed. The scientific departments can readily be equipped with negroes who have a highly technical training. This indicates pretty clearly that the capacity of the colored man is not at fault, because he is beginning to demonstrate his ability along lines which absolutely require the accurate use of the reasoning faculties."

I referred to the suggestion made by Prof. Ashmore, the superintendent of schools at Savannah, that the negro was afflicted with a lack of foresight, which had a fatal effect upon his value as an independent farmer.

"Yes, it is true, as is claimed, that the negro is lacking in foresight. He doesn't, as a class, look ahead, and he is frequently quite improvident with both time and money, but that is not a constitutional fault.

"Our own students here, of course, are being trained in scientific agriculture, and we are seeking to teach them the reasons for things, so that they may act intelligently. The graduates of our agricultural department have been almost uniformly successful as individual farmers."

Booker Washington never knew any ancestor but his mother. He was born in slavery and is ignorant of the identity of his own father, but he is quite light colored, would readily pass for an educated Cuban or South American, and is of the accepted mulatto type. I therefore found him acutely alive to the importance of the question recently raised in several magazines and newspapers regarding the supposed mental, moral, and physical degeneracy of the mixed race.

"I cannot see," he said, "that there is any great difference between the mental capacity of the pure blooded negro and that of the man of a mixed race.

Pure Negroes Who Have Succeeded.

"Among the distinctive negro types who are black rather than of mixed blood, and who have done most brilliant work in real life, are educators like William J. Edwards, principal of the Normal and Industrial institute at Snow Hill, Ala.; Isaac Fisher, principal of the Branch Normal college, Pine Bluff, Ark.; Lizzie E. Wright, principal of the Voorhees Normal and Industrial institute at Denmark, S. C.; Charles L. Marshall, principal of the Christiansburg Normal and Industrial institute at Cambria, Va.; and William H. Holtzclaw, principal of the Utica Normal and Industrial institute at Utica, Miss. Right here in Tuskegee we have another evidence in the person of Prof. George W. Carver, the head of the agricultural department, whom you have met and who is an accurate scientist, trained under the personal supervision of James Wilson, the present secretary of agriculture, who was then at the head of the Iowa State Agricultural college at Ames, Ia.

"All of these and many other men of pure negro blood have apparently demonstrated that whatever achievements are made by the negroes are not to be credited to any white blood they may have, but to their perseverance in securing a good education."

"As to the physical differences between the mulatto and the pure bred negro," continued this conservative observer, who discussed the talents and the failings of his own race so dispassionately, "there is considerable diversity of opinion, but there are no reliable figures to prove that the man of mixed blood is either weaker or stronger than his black brother."

Frequently in the south I have heard the charge made that the education given at Tuskegee to negro women unfits them for domestic service, instead of training them for it, and gives them exalted ideas and ambitions which render them unfitted for real life and result in the long run in mental if not moral degradation. I asked, accordingly, whether the school was essentially designed to teach the women domestic service and so arranged as not to give them false ideas.

Teach Dignity of Labor.

"We do train our students here," said the principal with great earnestness, "in the highest grade of domestic service. No girl who graduates here at Tuskegee can possibly feel above going into actual domestic service, because we especially and above all teach them the dignity of labor in all directions. That is the foundation stone of this school. It is quite true, nevertheless, that you will not find many of our women graduates actually engaged in household work, either here in the south or in the north. The reason for this is that the girls who graduate here have received a training which enables them to command wages of from $5 to $10 a week and even higher, and this is much more than they can hope to earn in any ordinary household work, especially here in the south, where the average rate of pay for this kind of employment is $8 and $10 a month."

Our conversation took a wide range over the industrial development of the negro in its relations to the great industrial revolution which is so apparent in the new south. All that branch of the subject, of course, must be discussed in the future. I asked Prof. Washington, however, to give me his personal opinion as to the particular tendency or capacity of the negro, as a guide for the future, whereupon he replied without hesitation:

"The negro's most prominent trait undoubtedly is his imagination. This might cause a tendency in the race later on toward music, poetry, and the arts. Just now, however, the imaginative faculty seems to lead the negro chiefly toward oratory. His imagination finds its readiest outlet in fluency of talk, and this probably accounts for the popularity of politics with some negroes, while in others this racial trait finds expression in the number of those who take up preaching as a congenial profession, in which they can exercise their gift of oratory and appeal to the imagination and the emotions of their audiences."

EX-MEMBER OF HOUSE INDICTED.

Former Congressman Driggs Held to Have Accepted Money Illegally.

FOUR BILLS AGAINST HIM.

President Instructs Attorney General to Assist in Punishing All Offenders.

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Former Congressman Driggs was indicted today on the charge of receiving money from government contractors while he was a member of congress.

Four indictments were found, all practically alike. Each charges that Driggs, between July 20 and 24, 1900, unlawfully agreed to receive and did receive a $500 check from the Brandt-Dent company for procuring a contract from the United States government for making and delivering 250 automatic cashiers for the postoffice department.

To the first two indictments Mr. Driggs pleaded not guilty, reserving the right to plead to the others, which contain sixteen counts each, after his lawyer had read them.

Driggs on Company's Pay Roll.

Mr. Driggs refused absolutely to comment on his indictment. He has previously admitted, however, receiving a salary of $12,500 from the Brandt-Dent company for introducing its machines, but claimed that the work he did for the company was done before he was sworn in as congressman, but after his election, and declaring that he had done nothing to which the government could object.

The indictments were found under sections 171 and 172 of the revised statutes of the United States, which provide for the punishment of any person "receiving emolument while in the employ of the government."

President Urges Prosecutions.

The president has sent the following letter to the attorney general:

"As you know, the charges in connection with the postoffice department are now being investigated by Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow, who has had placed at his disposal by the postmaster general every resource of the department, including the services of Mr. Robb, whom you detailed from the department of justice to the postoffice department immediately after the removal of Mr. Tyner.

"As a result of this investigation, a number of indctments have already been returned, and it is probable that other indictments will hereafter be asked for. There can be no greater offense against the government than a breach of trust on the part of a public official or the dishonest management of his office and, of course, every effort must be exerted to bring such offenders to punishment by the utmost rigor of the law.

"The district attorney of the District of Columbia has faithfully and zealously seconded the efforts of the postoffice department in this matter, but the amount of work in the office is such as to make it difficult, without neglecting other important public duties, to devote all the time necessary to the prosecution of these cases. I suggest, therefore, if you cannot detail some of your present staff you appoint special assistants in these postoffice cases, not only to take up the cases in which indictments have been found or hereafter may be found, but to examine into all charges that have been made against officials in the postal service, with a view to the removal and prosecution of all guilty men whether in the service or not, where the cases are not barred by the statute of limitations.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Carrying out the president's suggestion, Attorney General Knox has appointed Charles J. Bonaparte of Baltimore a special attorney to assist in these prosecutions, and upon his return here this afternoon Mr. Holmes Conrad, former solicitor general, will be offered a like appointment.

Carbon Paper Case Considered.

Postmaster General Payne today took official cognizance of the letter sent to him from Detroit yesterday by Third Assistant Postmaster General Madden, and which was published this morning, regarding criticisms of the contract for supplying carbon paper to the service. Mr. Payne declined to say whether any reply had been sent to Mr. Madden. Mr. Madden's publication of the letters, it is believed, has provoked a sharp reply.

Lorenz and Wife Arrested.

Toledo, O., June 24.—George E. Lorenz and his wife, Martha, who were indicted by the federal grand jury at Washington a few days ago in connection with the scandal in the postoffice department, were arrested at their home in Madison avenue here today by Deputy United States Marshal Winders. They were taken before United States Commissioner Brough, where their attorney demanded the right to a preliminary hearing. This has been set for tomorrow afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz each gave bond in the sum of $5,000.

LIGHT NOW TURNED ON GORDON.

His Official Acts While Postmaster in Chicago Under Investigation by Inspector Stuart.

Investigation of alleged violation of civil service regulations at the Chicago postoffice took a new turn yesterday, when Inspector James Stuart started inquiries into the status of ten or a dozen substations which are said to have been placed in charge of clerks who had not passed the civil service examination. The appointments were made through Postmaster Charles U. Gordon in 1897.

The clerks in question are nearly all still in the employ of the Chicago postoffice, some of them holding high positions. If it is decided that they gained entrance to the service in an illegal way it is likely they will be removed.

In 1894, with the extension of the civil service laws and the free delivery system, most of the postoffice employés then in service were continued in their places, about the only changes made being in classification. This was under a Cleveland administration and the employés naturally were mostly democrats.

When postmaster Gordon came into power in 1897 the limits were extended to include Riverside, Pullman, West Pullman, Elston, Clarkdale, Jefferson, and Mount Claire, which substations were considered in the classified list.

One of Postmaster Gordon's first acts was to remove the chief clerks in charge of these substations and replace them with men of his own choosing. Mr. Gordon held that the civil service regulations did not apply to these postoffices, although within a short time after the appointment of the new men the free delivery limits were extended to include the outlying stations.

Mr. Gordon claimed to have authority from the national civil service commission to place the substations in charge of men who had not been required to pass the civil service examination, but a search through the files of the Chicago postoffice by Inspector Stuart yesterday failed to locate this order of approval.

The position taken by Inspector Stuart is that the substations in question have been under civil service regulations since 1894, even although they were not carrier stations, and that clerks appointed to them, unless they had taken the civil service examination, were illegally appointed.

It is understood that the inquiry also brings into question the right of government employés to become affiliated with organizations in some ways closely resembling trades unions. There are three organizations among the Chicago postal employés—the Postoffice Clerks' association, the Postoffice Employés' Mutual Aid association, and Local 8,703 of the American Federation of Labor, the latter including the mailers. The last named organization has the opposition of Postmaster Coyne, who holds that in the event of a possible strike and interference with the mails the strikers would be in revolt against the government.

WOMAN SOLICITS A FUND TO DEFEND CALEB POWERS.

Mrs. Lulie Clay Brock Comes to Chicago to Arouse Interest in Cause of Man Accused of Killing Gov. Goebel.

A Kentucky woman is in Chicago engaged in an effort to raise a fund with which to defend Caleb Powers at his third trial for the murder of Gov. Goebel. Mrs. Lulie Clay Brock is her name, and she declares herself "a Kentucky democrat" who is engaged in a fight for "political liberty and life."

Mrs. Brock is the representative of the Prison Relief league, and was one of Caleb Powers' teachers in his boyhood days. She arrived in Chicago yesterday and is stopping at the Great Northern hotel. She insists that the better element of both parties are in sympathy with Powers and do not believe he is guilty of complicity in the crime with which he is charged.

"When it becomes known that Mr. Powers' father mortgaged his little mountain farm to secure money to defend his son, the object of my mission will be appreciated," said Mrs. Brock. "The elder Powers died June 14, and the poor old mother has not a cent in the world. Mr. Powers is without money, and the state has $100,000 at its disposal with which to prosecute the case. The third trial begins Aug. 3 at Georgetown, Ky., before a special judge appointed by Gov. Beckham. The venire from which the jury will be selected was drawn by a jury commission composed of three democrats selected by Gov. Beckham.

"We have been securing subscriptions in Kentucky and Indiana and have met with some success. We urge the prosecution and conviction of the parties guilty of the murder, but we believe Mr. Powers innocent. All we ask for him is a fair and impartial trial, which he has not had, and which his enemies are planning to deny him."

Fourth of July Rates.

One and one-third fare for the round trip, Chicago and Northwestern Ry., to Lake Geneva, Waukesha, Green Lake, Madison, Devil's Lake, Milwaukee, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Neenah-Menasha, Appleton, Green Bay, Rockford, Freeport, Dixon, Sterling, Clinton, Beloit, Janesville, and all intermediate points. Tickets on sale July 3 and 4, good until Monday, July 6, to return. Tickets, 212 Clark street and Wells Street Station.

FINED FOR SELLING WEAPONS.

Department Managers and Storekeepers Plead Guilty to Having Brass Knuckles in Stock.

Eight dealers pleaded guilty to having on sale metallic knuckles and slung shots in violation of law yesterday afternoon, and Justice Caverly fined them the costs. The following paid the fines:

Max Weber, 151 Clark street.
C. Davis, manager of sporting department Boston store.
C. Seymour, manager of sporting department the Fair.
W. Brown, manager of sporting department in A. M. Rothschild & Co.'s store.
A. Levine, 2122 State street.
F. Goodman, 1738 State street.
M. Neuman, 1804 State street.
M. Teplitsky, 1814 State street.

The Citizens' Mutual alliance was the complainant in all the cases.

DOG WITNESS IN MURDER CASE.

A large dog, as evidence in a murder case, was taken into Judge Chetlain's court yesterday, where John Kniat is on trial for killing Leon Hintz.

"This dog," explained Assistant State's Attorney Fake to the jury, "caught the defendant. At midnight it started across the fields near Posen, a village south of Blue Island, and traced Kniat. The defendant was battling for his life with the enraged animal when a posse overtook him."

Kniat is said to have stabbed Leon Hintz, 15 years old, during a quarrel in a saloon. No cause for the trouble is known. The dog belongs to Charles Delinski.

Female Doctors Are Arrested.

PROMINENT OHIOANS IN COURT.

Gov. Nash, Ex-Congressman Lentz, and Judge Galloway Testify Before Chicago Judge.

Three prominent Ohioans, Gov. George K. Nash, ex-Congressman J. J. Lentz, and Judge Todd Galloway, were witnesses in Judge Stein's court yesterday in a suit brought by Mrs. Julia M. Cooney against the United States Wringer company to recover $3,000. Attorney Spencer represented that Nash, Lentz, and Galloway gave Mrs. Cooney a note for the amount. Ex-Congressman Lentz testified that the amount claimed by Mrs. Cooney has been paid to her. Gov. Nash and Judge Galloway told of the making of the note. Mrs. Cooney's husband, Patrick H. Cooney, was manager of the wringer company.

KILLED IN AN ELEVATOR SHAFT.

Plumber Caught Between Balance Weight and Marble Floor in Unity Building and Crushed to Death.

While working in the freight elevator shaft in the Unity building at the thirteenth floor James R. Mills, a plumber, was caught between the balance weight and marble floor and slowly crushed to death. Peering through the opening above him Fred Wilk, who was in charge of the ascending elevator at the fourth floor, witnessed the accident. Mills was married and lived at 1171 Central Park avenue. He was 50 years old.

MANDEL BROTHERS DAILY STORE NEWS

POSITIVELY and unqualifiedly the greatest low shoe bargains ever offered in Chicago. That's a broad statement, but the shoes are here today to back it up. When you see the styles and learn the prices you will agree to that. Thousands of pairs of them too—three great lots, beside the Selz shoe sale in the basement.

It required backbone to make such an immense purchase just at the time when clearing stock is of the most urgent concern in our shoe store, but when a great maker of low shoes confided to us the fact that he had produced vastly in excess of his orders, and was in a "corner" by reason of the tardiness of summer, we were interested.

$5 oxfords $3. $6 oxfords $4. $7 oxfords 5.50.

Sending a representative to the spot, we found that there were bargain possibilities of the greatest kind in these shoes. The smartest styles of the season were represented, every pair thoroughly good from heel to toe, and the maker was willing to sell them to us at a positive loss.

You reap the benefit today in a low shoe sale of the first magnitude. Here are some of the bargains:

New 3½ inch heel oxfords and Du Barry oxfords, in patent leather and patent kid, "bench-made" by the best custom shoe makers in the country—shoes that always retailed at $7, here for 5.50. — 5.50

Latest lines of elegant southern ties and Newport ties, in hand-turned and hand-welted oxfords, as well as stylish wax calf and dull matt kid low shoes—oxfords that were made to sell for $5 and $6 per pair, offered in this great sale for just $4. — $4

Complete lines and all sizes in patent leather, vici kid and the new dull matt kid oxfords, new four and five button styles, with French, Cuban and military heels. The same grade of shoes are staple values at $4 and $5—they are here today for $3. — $3

1.98 Economy basement: That great sale of Selz sample oxfords has been augmented in interest by the addition of a number of new cases—several styles of fancy slippers are offered, together with full lines of 3.50 and $3 low shoes, at 1.98. — 1.98

SMART SUMMER HOSIERY.

Exclusive ideas from French and German makers.

The "lady of quality" is often revealed simply by the taste she displays in the selection of her hosiery, a mark of refinement never to be ignored. This year she has a breadth of choice in the finer tones that has never before been extended.

Especially varied and fascinating is the showing at Mandel's. Really, the charm that hosiery designers have woven into their productions this year is wonderful—every semblance of the gaudiness of a year or so ago has vanished and only the most pleasing and subdued shades of the most popular colors are pronounced en fait.

Paris styles.

If you want to see just what the fashionable people of Paris are favoring at present, and will wear almost exclusively during the summer months, visit the Mandel hosiery section—the choicest works of German and French makers have been gathered for this, Chicago's leading hosiery display.

One of the most popular Parisian stockings in lisle, shown at Mandel's, is an allover lace in delicate shades of blue, pink, lavender, champagne, and black and white. Then there are gauze effects so sheer as to cause one to wonder whether they will really serve their purpose, which are to a great degree taking the place of the more lacy creations. Another idea that is particularly pretty and attractive has an oblong inset of real hand-made lace in the ankle.

A wide range.

There is simply no limit to the richness and beauty of the silk hosiery—they actually have some imported goods that sell as high as $45 a pair—but greater elegance was never offered the world of style. But you can get good, dependable hosiery at Mandel's as low as 15 cents a pair, and from that upward in a gradual range which cannot fail to meet approval.

Nine special outing items:

Hammocks, 4.50.

Face lotion, 25c.

You will want something to protect your face against the sun and wind on your vacation.

Outing stocks, 25c.

The summer girl delights in these jaunty golf stocks—they're so neat and cool for hot weather wear.

Her vacation outfit will contain no less than a dozen of these comfortable pieces of neckwear.

Not one of the newest styles is missing from our collection of golf or outing stocks—all white, white with colored pipings, and some with turnover top collars—ties that slip through in the back and cross in front—25c, 50c, 75c and up to 1.25.

Summer gloves, 75c.

Gloves are a part of the outing toilette that should never be neglected, for they impart a decided tone and elegance.

We're showing a splendid assortment of these celebrated gloves in white and black with double finger tips—fingers guaranteed to outwear the gloves—all sizes—extra quality at 75c.

Picnic necessities.

Economy basement.

Here's an opportunity to save money on your outing and picnic luncheon utensils—articles that will give you a year's satisfactory service, too.

Forks, table and dessert spoons, dozen, 20c.
Drinking cups—good size—each, 17c.
Salt and pepper shakers, 10c & 15c

Think of paying but 14.75 for a $30 suit! New linen walking skirts.

JUST as fast as lines of tailored suits become broken in size, they are at once put into this 14.75 quick clearance class, which includes all the odd lots of regular $25 and $30 wool suits in the house.

All this week these suits have been in great demand. They are of just the right weight for these cool days, and the styles, fashion critics tell us, will be quite correct this fall.

Here's a $30 blouse suit of new mixed novelty goods that has all the smart style of the creation that a high-charging ladies' tailor would make for you, but there are only two or three sizes left, so it goes into the general clearance at 14.75.

Suits of the new novelties, handsome cheviots and broadcloths, suits with the new shapes in blouses, that will be in perfect style this fall, handsomely trimmed with tucks and braid, gore, plaited or panel skirts, silk drop lining, swell styles that sold a few weeks at $25 and $30 for 14.75.

White victoria lawn shirt waist suits, tucked and embroidery trimmed, 9.75.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

It's not the amount of goods carried so much as the way in which they are chosen that makes this store a desirable place in which to shop. While we show immense assortments, our first thought is for a high standard of quality. We realize that a wide selection means nothing to a customer unless every article in the whole range is of intrinsic worth and present usefulness. Experts visit the factories and markets of the world in our behalf, rejecting all but the best these afford, as incompatible with the Mandel criterion. Then, too, the goods in this store are selected with reference to the requirements of the Chicago public. Decades spent in studying the wants of the people of this city have taught us what to buy for them.

Corsets reduced.

On several of our most popular corsets prices have been reduced to a point that will make them doubly attractive today.

As an instance of the values to be obtained we quote the following:

Fleur de France corsets of brocaded batiste—straight front, low bust and medium long over hip, lace and ribbon trimmed top and bottom—regular 3.75 values, special 3.29.

Remarkable bargains in sheer shirt waists.

THE unsettled condition of the season has forced manufacturers who had large stocks in reserve for re-orders to sell at great sacrifice. A prominent manufacturer who knew the great resources of our shirt waist section came to us for relief.

The styles, materials and prices were right, and we bought. The price advantage gained by this transaction we share with you today.

White waists of fine lawn, sheer and dainty, beautifully trimmed with clusters of tucks and fine lace inserting between cluster tucks, some have Cluny lace, others the fine Valenciennes laces, all excellent styles, special, 1.25.

Here's another lot of shirt waists, three distinct styles, two of which are elaborately trimmed with rows of fine Valenciennes lace inserting; the other has choice openwork embroidery inserting, beautiful styles and bargains at 1.95.

Fine white shirt waists that have sold from 3.50 to 4.50, many exquisite styles made from the choicest materials to choose from, trimmed with laces, embroideries, tucking and hemstitching, exceptional values at the price, 2.25.

Three special basement bargains.

Shirt waists in all white—also white and black broken stripes—all splendid styles—nicely finished—today, each, 50c.

BUTTONS.

When it comes to a question of buttons, Mandel's can tell you more about this now popular feature of trimming in five minutes than you could learn by simple observation in a week.

Time was, and not so very long ago at that, when the button, excepting such an one as lurked under some hidden fly or did duty in places where there was no getting away from it, was a minus quantity. Now there must be buttons on everything.

Shirt waist sets.

There is a handsome shirt waist button shown at Mandel's which represents a solid cube of mother of pearl. There are shirt waist sets in great variety—typical expressions of Dame Fashion's cleverest whims. But the pearl shirt waist buttons are not all. There are some of the choicest ones in spun silk, black velvet and novel crochet effects for the embellishment of those soft silk suits and coats so popular this season, that have ever been pictured or created. They are immense in size—huge affairs that can very effectively furnish the entire decoration—with perhaps a tiny bit of piping—for a dainty pongee or even a lace coat. These can be had in both black and white, and either is extremely pretty when applied.

Other handsome buttons.

The tinted plain pearl buttons are very charming for shirt waists, but the latest idea on display at Mandel's is an opaque Oriental pearl button in various sizes which is receiving no end of admiration as a waist button, and closely rivaling a dull crepe finished white button for duck suits.

For the sewed on shirt waist buttons the fish eye pearl is the most popular and the newest, the button itself being as old fashioned as possible, but only recently used on the shirt waist. The sewed on buttons this year are considerably smaller than last.

Of the handsome buttons for elaborate costumes the oxidized and cut steel effects are the most popular.

Unusual values in towels, 75c.

YOU can't afford to let such a saving opportunity as this pass unheeded, for even if you don't need them now, you probably will before the year is past.

Towels such as these are good value at regular prices, but because we want to clean up several lots you save from one-fourth to one-third on every purchase today.

25c hemmed and hemstitched fine huck towels—extra qual.—20c.

Shirt waist suits, 5.95.

NEW ideas are still arriving in our third floor shirt waist suit section, so if you've delayed buying you may find just what you want in today's showing.

The late designs are even better than those shown early in the season. They have more style, yet lack none of the comfortable qualities.

For street and house use we show an extensive line of chambray suits in solid red and blues; also striped effects trimmed with large pearl buttons, heavy lace insertion and wide and narrow tucks—soft white pique with colored stripes and small black figures—piped seams—beautiful and comfortable suits for 5.95.

Fine white lawn shirt waist suits, elaborately trimmed on both waist and skirt with heavy Cluny lace and tucks—8.95.

Basement: Shirt waist suits, 95c, navy blue grounds with white figure, trimmed with white braid, handsome styles and excellent values.

CHICAGO'S EMINENT PHYSICIAN—
DR. W. F. BRINEY.
TREATS WOMEN ONLY.
Office, 130 Dearborn-st., Room 408.
Phone Central 815. Hours 9-5. Sunday 10-11.

A WOMAN WHO REQUIRES THE ADVICE OF A PHYSICIAN owes it to herself to seek the aid of one who is an EXPERT in the treatment of the complaints peculiar to her sex.

Every woman can come to Dr. Briney in absolute confidence; her secrets will be respected and she will find in him A FRIEND and ADVISER who will give her the benefit of his marvelous skill in restoring her to health, happiness, and freedom from care and worry.

Under his reliable and skillful treatment the most obstinate cases yield at once. Patients may return home the same day or remain under his personal care at his elegant suburban sanitarium. He is the only specialist in Chicago who has and employs perfectly safe, sure, and painless methods.

Fees within the reach of all. Same accommodations to rich and poor.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

BARGAINS IN PIANOS AT LYON & HEALY'S.

And bear in mind that these figures include overhauling in our own repair shops by workmen of the very highest skill. THIS IS IMPORTANT.

SCHAAF UPRIGHT, large size, ebonized case; has had considerable use. $85.
HALE UPRIGHT. An old instrument, overhauled and made capable of meeting requirements of practice work. $100.
KNABE UPRIGHT. Large size, rosewood case. Attractive but plain case. Intrinsically worth much more than the price asked. Fully warranted. $275.
SOHMER UPRIGHT. A good instrument. Oak case. Three pedals. 7 1-3 octaves. Modern style. Boston fall board. Has not deteriorated much through use. Warranted. $200.
COLLARD UPRIGHT. Very small and very old. Rosewood. Fretwork panels with candelabra. Not warranted. $80.
HALLET & DAVIS UPRIGHT. Largest size. Most modern style. Handsome mahogany case. Full resonant tone. 7 1-3 octaves. Fully warranted. $275.
HUNTINGTON UPRIGHT. A very handsome instrument just returned from rental. Beautiful mahogany case. Extra value. Fully warranted. $165.
BLASIUS UPRIGHT. Elegantly carved panels. Ornate design. Modern in every respect. 3 pedals. 7 1-3 octaves. With music chart attachment. Warranted. $250.
KNABE UPRIGHT. Largest size, ebonized case, beautifully etched panels. Practically as good as new. We recommend this piano most highly. $325.
THREE STEINWAY UPRIGHTS. Nearly new, ebonized cases, modern in every respect. These pianos present an unique opportunity, for we have marked them much below their value to close them out before receiving our fall stock.
ASHLAND UPRIGHT. Oak case. In first class condition. Thoroughly modern. $125.
EVERETT UPRIGHT. In good condition. Modern. Very popular pattern. $200.
NEW ENGLAND UPRIGHT. Ebonized case. Clean action and limited, but clear tone. $125.
WEBER UPRIGHT, medium size, plain rosewood case. Well preserved. $200.
SOHMER UPRIGHT. Ebonized case. Fretwork panels, in fair condition. This piano recommended more for its tone than for its appearance. Price, $125.

Our regular stock embraces over 600 pianos, including Steinway, Knabe, Mason & Hamlin, Miller, Hazelton, Krakauer, Fischer, and other great makes. All these different pianos are distinguished by some special feature. The workmanship in each is of a superior character and every one of these pianos is of a design approved by the highest standard of public taste. Wonderfully low fixed prices are quoted.

EASY PAYMENTS—Pianos may be secured from us on very easy terms. No advance in price when paid for by installments.
Buyers at a distance should write for special bargain list, and also our schedule of freight rates. We ship pianos everywhere.
LYON & HEALY, Wabash-av. and Adams-st.

The business of Lyon & Healy largely exceeds in volume and value that of any other musical establishment in either Europe or America.
We close Saturdays at 1 p. m.

PHENOMENAL BARGAINS—

SWEEPING PRICE REDUCTIONS ON STANDARD PIANOS.

THE MAGNIFICENT TONE QUALITY OF the Vose Piano is the result of the study and experience of a score of master minds working with a single purpose for more than fifty years. The purity of the Vose tone marks the perfection in piano manufacture.

THE VOSE BABY GRAND IS THE EMBODIMENT, the crystallization of the highest achievements of the Vose artists and artisans, in design, in construction, in tone quality. It has no peer at any price.

VOSE PIANOS ARE MADE IN MANY STYLES, with cases of many beautiful woods, to correspond with the furnishings of your home. The Vose tone is especially adapted to private residences—because of its exquisite sweetness and purity.

FOR THIS WEEK ONLY WE OFFER SIX fine upright pianos of prominent makes, discontinued styles, at $215.00 each, while they last. They were made to sell at $325.00.

AN IMMENSE ASSORTMENT OF SLIGHTLY used pianos—many practically as good as new—Vose, Ludwig, Merrill, and others—returned from rental—at a saving of from $50.00 to $125.00. Also a large collection of standard makes taken in exchange—at practically your own price and on your own terms. They must be sold immediately to make space in our overcrowded warerooms.

ANNOUNCEMENT—
We beg to announce that we have selected a number of pianos and piano players of various kinds to sell at greatly reduced prices. Some of these instruments are new, but of a style discontinued in our 1903 catalogue; others are slightly used, having been returned by renters; others are considerably used, but will do for beginners; these last we will sell at very low prices.
This list consists largely of instruments of our own make, but includes such well known makes as STEINWAY, CHICKERING, WEBER, DECKER BROS., KRAKAUER, BAUER, VOSE, KIMBALL.
Among piano players we have a fine assortment of slightly used APOLLOS, PIANOLAS, and ANGELUS.
This stock has been divided so that a fine assortment may be seen at either wareroom.
Installment arrangements may be made if desired.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

KIMBALL { PIANOS. PIPE ORGANS. REED ORGANS. PIANO PLAYERS.

When the world's greatest musicians unanimously pronounce one opinion it certainly has weight. The Kimball piano is enthusiastically indorsed by the greatest names in the musical world, and is found in the music rooms and studios of the world-renowned artists, including those of NORDICA, DE RESZKE, EAMES, PATTI.

KIMBALL PIPE ORGANS are the wonder and admiration of organists and experts, and are being placed in the largest churches and auditoriums throughout the country.
All sizes, from one which occupies but a trifle more space than upright piano to one of sufficient volume to fill the largest auditorium. $1,000 to $20,000.

KIMBALL REED ORGANS are known and used in every country on the globe.

KIMBALL PIANO PLAYER can be instantly attached to any piano, and with its aid you can play any composition with but a few moments' practice.
As manufacturers of both the piano player and music rolls for its operation our price includes with each player
A Fine Musical Library, and also places the music of our entire catalogue at the disposal of the purchaser on terms not offered elsewhere.

BARGAIN BASEMENT contains many used pianos of standard make which have been "taken in exchange" for Kimballs. These have all been carefully and thoroughly repaired in our own shops and are offered at prices which cannot fail to interest you.
Any of these instruments will be taken by us in exchange for new Kimballs at any time within two years, and full amount paid will be allowed.

EXTRAORDINARY VALUES IN USED REED ORGANS. Cash or Easy Payments.

W. W. KIMBALL CO. [Established 1857], southwest corner Wabash-av. and Jackson-blvd.

Chinese for South Africa.

Johannesburg dispatches indicate that the colonial government is arranging for a large importation of Chinese labor to be employed exclusively in the mines and on public works. The employers of the Chinese must deposit a sum of money to cover the cost of their repatriation after the termination of their engegements. Heavy penalties will be inflicted if the Chinese are employed as skilled artisans. There was originally a strong sentiment in south Africa against Chinese labor, but it has given way because the Chinese are the only ones who can work the mines. White labor cannot stand the heat. The negroes who used to be forced to work under the Boer governments are so delighted with their release from the kraals that most of them refuse to work at all—and those who do work are intermittent about it and cannot be depended on. That south Africa is rapidly getting a negro question of its own is quite apparent. One thing seems to be settled—that the south African negro will not get the ballot, "because," the London Spectator says, "that has proved a failure in America."

Use for the Aleutian Islands.

The Aleutian islands have been, ever since their acquisition from Russia in 1867, the least known territory of the United States. There are about eighty of them, stretching from the southwestern peninsula of Alaska westward into the Pacific in a chain 1,500 miles long. Their entire area is less than 6,500 square miles, and they are inhabited by about 1,500 Aleuts, a race resembling the North American Indians. Few, if any, white men live on the islands. It is said by travelers that the Aleuts are fast dying out owing to the practice of the most advanced vices of imperial Rome. The islands are mountainous, but contain fertile valleys, wherein grows wild grass peculiarly delightful to cattle. In the summer of 1901 a Washington sheep company landed 1,000 sheep on one of the Aleutian islands as an experiment. It was found this spring that the flock has not increased, owing to the depredations of wolves, but that otherwise it has thriven. The company, satisfied with the experiment, proposes to land 5,000 cattle and 25,000 sheep on the archipelago this summer and to take up permanent pasture land. As the world gradually becomes filled up, use is found for the regions which old geographies were wont to condemn as sterile, barren, and worthless. Making the Aleutian islands a pasture is a case in point.

SUEZ AND PANAMA.

At the annual meeting of the Suez canal directors, held in Paris the early part of this month, the chief question of interest was what effect the completion of the Panama canal would have on the Suez. Prince D'Arenberg, the president of the canal, said there was not much to be feared—that traffic from the eastern coast of America would still prefer the Suez.

It is hard to tell on what hypothesis the prince bases his belief. The Philippines, Japan, and the east coast of China will be over two thousand miles nearer New York via the Panama than via the Suez route. With coal expensive and time precious, the probabilities are that the Panama canal will get all far eastern trade from the east coasts of both Americas.

In 1902 the Suez canal took in about $20,000,000 in transit receipts from the 3,708 ships which passed through it. The total tonnage was 6,772,911 tons. The figures for receipts, number of vessels, and total tonnage are the highest in history.

The notable success of the Suez canal holds out bright hopes for the Panama canal. The Colombian congress and the American railway lobby, however, are still blocking the Hay-Herran treaty which will enable this country to begin that stupendous undertaking.

A STRIKING CONTRAST.

The contrast between the sermon of the Rev. Robert A. Elwood, a Presbyterian clergyman of Wilmington, Del., delivered on Sunday while the lynching of the negro White was pending, and the public appeal made by the Rev. E. R. Bishop, father of White's victim, could hardly be stronger or more significant. Both were made at a time when the public was greatly stirred by the brutality of the crime, and the more lawless part of the community had already made demonstrations indicating its unmistakable intention to usurp the functions of law. The one clergyman proved himself an unsafe adviser. The other clergyman proved himself a safe one. It would have been better had his appeal been heeded. It should have been heeded all the more because of all the people in Wilmington he was the greatest sufferer and had the most natural cause to cherish revenge. It was his daughter whom White had murdered.

The Rev. Mr. Elwood was not justified in indorsing lynching under any circumstances. As a minister of the gospel it was his duty to advocate law and order, to discountenance all lawless movements, to maintain the sanctity of the law, and to denounce barbarism in any form. The appeal of the Rev. Mr. Bishop to the public was in strong contrast with the rash utterance of Mr. Elwood, and it goes to the root of this lynching business, which is fast becoming the distinctive national crime. He had the right to speak for himself and his family, for indeed their "cup of bitterness" is full, and his admonition should have been convincing. He urged citizens to refrain from violence and to "wait calmly until the law in its majesty may remove the vile wretch from society." He warned his hearers "that any other course would "bring a kind of glory for those of his class" and would "dishonor the laws of our commonwealth." In conclusion, he said: "Let us not try to atone for one crime, no matter how hellish, by committing another." These are wise words and they apply with equal force to every case of lynching.

TWENTY PER CENT IS A FAIR FIGURE

The representatives of the City railway company and the council committee on transportation have reached the subject of compensation, but are not yet of one mind concerning it. The company admits the soundness of the principle of compensation, but it makes a "poor mouth" when asked to make an adequate return for the profitable privileges it desires. It says little about receipts but a great deal about expenses.

It is argued in behalf of the traction company that it is under great expense in operating its system. Undoubtedly "maintenance" is a considerable item. The wages bill is a large one, and the tendency of wages is to advance. The trustworthy, competent men the company needs cannot be had for the low pay of other years. It is urged also on behalf of the company that its yearly payments on account of personal injuries amount to "an enormous fortune." The exact figure of that fortune is not given, but it is no doubt large. For that the obstinate adherence of the company to the system of running cable cars in trains is partly responsible. That method of running cars promotes accidents. Even if every precaution be taken there will still be some expense on account of personal injury suits. Occasionally an employé will make a mistake and the company will have to pay for it. It assumes that responsibility when it undertakes to carry passengers for hire.

The arguments of the company's lawyers cannot hide the fact that its income will be ample for the payment of operating expenses, the maintenance account, taxes, and personal damages, and provide a fair profit on capital invested, even after the city's compensation of 20 per cent shall be taken out of gross receipts. During the next twenty years there will be a great and continuous increase in the revenues of the south side road. The greater part of the territory whose inhabitants it serves is only beginning to be built up. It is the desire of the spokesmen for the road to keep out of consideration the growth of the city and its effect on the receipts of the corporation. That is too important a factor to be ignored.

It may be admitted that after the traction company shall begin paying to the city one-fifth of its gross receipts there will be no more 9 per cent dividends. But why should the city sacrifice its interests and its rights in order that a small number of persons who have not served the public with conspicuous ability, and are not idolized by it, may continue to receive profits much in excess of those to be had in any other kind of business, even when conducted by men of special ability?

Surely the aldermen will not be affected by the pleas of poverty advanced by the City railway company. It is asking for a twenty years' lease of a fabulously rich gold mine. It is only natural that it should try to beat down the rent and keep the riches of the mine out of mind, but the aldermen understand the situation. They will stand out for the city's compensation of 20 per cent. The traction company is abundantly able to pay it.

THE DEFINITION OF DRUNKENNESS.

Mr. Chairman Emmons, the new head of the metropolitan police commission of Boston, recently established a standard of inebriety which has made the "policeman's lot" in that city anything but "a happy one." His definition of drunkenness greatly has increased police responsibility, and in some cases makes decision extremely difficult. Mr. Emmons a week or two ago notified the force that vociferous, disorderly, and violent action was not the only evidence of intoxication. If a man's legs manifested a disposition to become tangled, if the aroma of his breath suggested the aroma of liquor, or if his speech were irregular, these were "confirmations strong as holy writ" that the man was drunk. It was not necessary for him to be caught smashing things, or sitting upon a curbstone unable to move, or lying senseless in a ditch. Mr. Emmons' definition was much nicer. His line was much more closely drawn.

The patience and temper of the Boston policeman have been sorely tried. Some men's legs naturally tangle. This required nice discrimination. Again, some men's legs were not tangled but the aroma of their breaths suggested spicy disinfectants rather than intoxicants. And, lastly, irregularity of speech, judged by the exacting and fastidious conditions of Bostonese, was a puzzler to the police, who are themselves sometimes irregular in speech and have found it extremely difficult not alone to look after a gentleman's treatment of the parts of speech but his ability to walk straight upon the crookedest sidewalks of the crookedest streets in the world, not to speak of the hopelessness of deciding upon aromas.

Still the police of that city have done well and have shown extraordinary industry. In one week they ran in 1,704 so-called drunkards. Possibly some of them were not drunkards, but they were all fined, which shows that they had either tangled legs, whisky aromas, or irregular speech. The revenue of the city is increasing so rapidly that it is now proposed to enlarge the courtrooms and the police stations so as to entertain not only the home drunkards but those who come into the city from the adjacent "no license" towns and are thoughtless about legs, breath, and speech.

THE MISSOURI LEGISLATURE.

The present Missouri legislature is a venal one. According to Circuit Attorney Folk of St. Louis, who uncovered the corruption in the local government of his city, the boodlers at Jefferson City demanded at the last session $321,000 for the passage or defeat of measures pending before the general assembly, and they certainly received $220,000 in cash and may have got more. The legislative jobbers had no favorites. They attempted to blackmail all who asked for legislation. They no more spared the innocent Audubon society than they did the trusts. Their highest demand was $150,000 and their lowest $500. All was fish that came to their net.

The revelations of Circuit Attorney Folk tend to dispel a cherished illusion about the superior honesty of legislative bodies which are almost entirely made up of country members. It has been a popular theory that corruption is of city birth and that the integrity of a law making body decreases as the representation of the city element increases. Indeed, cities have sometimes sent such extremely bad men to state capitals as almost to justify the assumption that uprightness had fled in disgust to the country districts.

The influence of cities in the Missouri legislature is not so great as it is in the legislatures of such states as New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey. The assumed rugged honesty of the men sent by country constituencies to the Missouri general assembly ought to have kept it pure but did not. It may be, of course, that legislative boodlers in other states are smarter and more experienced than their Missouri brethren, and hence escape detection, but on the face of the returns there is more dishonesty among the law makers of Missouri than among those of any other commonwealth.

The discreditable state of affairs is not due to the democratic complexion of Missouri politics. Each party has its boodlers. The average Missourian is personally as honest as the average citizen of any other state and prefers an honest to a dishonest representative. How, then, is the corruption which has recently been exposed to be accounted for? Perhaps some philosophical Missouri paper or statesman will explain for the benefit of the American public.

THE POOR COUNCIL!

What will the city council do to fill up its records of proceedings now that the Supreme court has taken away from it the power and privilege of issuing permits for bay windows? Farewell, ye long lists of petitioning property owners! "Othello's occupation's gone."

But let us not flinch from the contemplation of the worst that the lap of the gods may yet contain for us. Suppose that, not satisfied with eliminating the bay window, the Supreme court should go on to eliminate the electric sign?

"The public," says day before yesterday's decision, "shall have the uninterrupted, unimpeded, and unobstructed use of every portion of every highway." Nothing shall interrupt. Nothing shall impede. Nothing shall obstruct. It is a poor legal fork that hasn't at least three tines. But, further, the public shall have the right not only to make use of the ground of a highway but to "enjoy the air, light, and rainfall on every portion of it." If, therefore, some indignant citizen who has been deprived of his share of rainfall by an interrupting, impeding, and obstructing electric sign should carry his complaint to the Supreme court, the electric sign might be tossed into the same limbo in which the bay window now reposes.

Who, though he has done his best to cultivate the virtue of equanimity, can view this prospect without at least a few uncontrollable qualms of apprehension? In order to kill time the city council will be driven to a consideration of subjects like street cleaning, garbage removal, and water leakage. The council meetings, instead of being amicable gatherings, will be turned into dreary conventions of technical municipal science experts. Out go romance, piquancy, human interest. Enter diagrams, accounts, statistics.

But no! There is at least one ray of hope still left in the municipal firmament. We still have that recurrent widow out on the west side who has eleven children, most of them paralytics, and who wants to put up a house for $1,000 when a rigid compliance with the building ordinance would require the expenditure of twice that sum. It will still be possible to put in a good deal of time suspending the building ordinance in favor of the widow. Let us be thankful for the widow. She will prevent the city council from completely forgetting how to grant special privileges and immunities and from falling completely under the spell of the idea that its function is to consider great subjects such as befit a mighty city and to draft impartial and inflexible ordinances.

THE proposed wide tire ordinance is such a sane and sensible idea that it will be sure to have stiff opposition.

BOSTON need have no sinking spells in view of a calamity 250 years in the future.

IT is certain that we don't need any more judges if mobs are to usurp their functions.

IN A MINOR KEY.

Last Straw.

The chairman of the relief committee groaned.

"What is the matter now?" asked the treasurer.

"Just as the flood has begun to subside and our poor old town is lifting its head above the angry waters," said the chairman, "here comes a letter from Andrew Carnegie offering to give us a library building on the usual conditions. I haven't felt really discouraged until now!"

Poor Boy!

"Yes, ma'am," said the little girl.

"Have you named him yet?"

"I think we're going to name him Jerusalem. That's what papa called him when he was born."

No Danger.

"You needn't think I'm going to kill myself, officer," said the desperate man who had lost everything on the Derby, and whom the policeman was watching. "It's true I don't know how I am going to make a living, but the undertakers have raised their prices lately to such a figure that I can't afford a funeral. I'll have to live on. It's just my luck."

What the Wind Heard.

"So you are really going to 'leave,' are you?"

As will readily be guessed, it was the stately old chestnut that spoke.

"No," replied the stately oak. "Too much trouble to pack my trunk. Do you twig?"

Consolation.

"I wouldn't waste a tear on him, Cordelia," she said. "You never could have been really happy with a man who uses the word 'discommode.'" C. W. T.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1903: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

KING PETER'S inauguration of his reign by intrusting his cousin at Paris with the designing and immediate acquisition of a gold crown at a cost not to exceed $8,000 bodes ill for Servia and cannot fail to create a feeling abroad injurious to the latest addition to the roster of European monarchs.

There was a crown once at Belgrade. But I suppose that it disappeared along with the other so-called "crown jewels" which Milan pawned at Vienna and Paris and was unable to redeem. For I am old enough to recall the comparison drawn between the golden crown with which Milan caused himself to be invested twenty-five years ago or more, and the steel crown assumed about the same time by Charles of Roumania when the latter exchanged the rank of "prince," which he had borne until then, for that of "king," in order to signalize to the world that Roumania was no longer subject to the suzerainty of the sultan.

Charles' crown represented the fruits of splendid victories won by the Roumanian troops under his command. For the metal used for its construction was obtained from the guns captured in battle from the Turks. There was a dignity about that crown which inspired respect.

No such sentiment, however, could be entertained with regard to the golden crown of King Milan. For it was assumed by him on the morrow of a particularly ignominious defeat of the Servian army, in which he, as usual, had led the "Sauve-qui-peut." Moreover, it was not paid for. Indeed, I believe it remains unpaid to this day, figuring as a bad debt on the books of the Vienna goldsmith who furnished it, and who thus finds himself sharing much the same fate as the equally incautious jeweler at Munich who, about two years ago, furnished a royal crown to Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria, for which the latter absolutely declines to pay until he is proclaimed king and crowned therewith, his excuse being that until then the crown is of no earthly use to him.

It may be remembered that about two years ago Prince Ferdinand had made all the necessary arrangements to have himself crowned as king, and only abstained at the last moment in deference to a peremptory command from St. Petersburg, where protests of the most urgent character had been received from the sultan, with whom at that particular moment the czar and the Russian government wished to remain on friendly terms. It was intimated to Ferdinand that he must await a more propitious moment to have himself proclaimed king of Bulgaria and crowned as such, and for this propitious moment he is still waiting, as is also the Munich goldsmith who furnished the crown and who, having brought suit against the prince in the Bavarian courts for the payment of his bill, found to his extreme disgust that it was impossible to obtain any redress through them against the sovereign of a foreign country.

Let me add that crowns, while all very well when historic relics of ancient dynasties, are an anachronism in the case of modern dynasties. The majority of the new reigning sovereigns not only have not been crowned but do not even possess such articles. Thus Queen Wilhelmina of Holland has never been crowned, nor has the king of Spain, neither the king of the Belgians, nor the king of Italy, nor yet the kings of Saxony, Bavaria, Würtemberg, Denmark, and Greece. Nor has Emperor William ever been crowned, and while he possesses a crown as king of Prussia, inherited from the first king of Prussia, who reigned 200 years ago, he has no crown as yet as German emperor.

For King Peter of Servia, therefore, to inaugurate his reign by ordering a crown from a Parisian jeweler, before even he has set foot in Servia, or has taken any steps to relieve his new kingdom of the stigma which rests upon it by punishing his predecessor's murderers, is calculated to excite contempt and ridicule.

Emperor William's liberal policy towards the Roman Catholic church and the Roman Catholic religious orders in his dominions, especially in connection with his inauguration and infinitely more liberal interpretation and construction of the laws enacted during the régime of the late Prince Bismarck for their control and subjection, has met with recognition in an altogether unexpected quarter. For an address has just been presented to him by the leading Roman Catholics in Great Britain and Ireland, requesting him to accept their "heartfelt appreciation and gratitude for his wise, generous, and far sighted policy towards his Catholic subjects, the laws against whom have been moderated or repealed, and whose religious orders are now allowed to move freely through the empire." The address in conclusion contains a pledge that for these reasons British Roman Catholics "will exert themselves to remove all misunderstandings between Germany and England."

The kaiser certainly never dreamt when he made friends with the vatican for the purpose of securing the support of the powerful Roman Catholic party in the parliament of the empire at Berlin he was at the same time winning as enthusiastic allies the English Roman Catholics. He can but be gratified with this result. For, in England, the Roman Catholic element represents the most conservative, intellectual, and wealthy portion of the territorial aristocracy, whose influence, alike in English political and social life, is great indeed.

The czar has just issued an authorization for the use of the Polish language in the religious instruction of Polish children. This act of liberal policy and of graciousness to his Polish subjects, destined to render his welcome on the occasion of his approaching visit to Warsaw more enthusiastic, will prove embarrassing to Germany, which absolutely prohibits under severe penalties the use of the Polish language on her side of the border for such purposes.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

[The condition of the Monroe doctrine resembles that of a long neglected barrel around which have accumulated the débris of years. The hoops, the thing that made it a barrel, have dropped away; only the pressure of the débris outside holds the staves together. Remove that and the barrel would tumble to pieces. Keep up the outside pressure and it may last indefinitely.—Whitelaw Reid to the graduates of the Yale law school.]

YATES IN EUROPE.

Berlin, June 24.—[Special.]—The governor did another sarcophagus stunt today. He and I and the kaiser, who is entertaining his excellency, visited the tomb of Frederick the Great, and the governor, with bowed head, reiterated his desire that Senator Cullom should have another term, and that he, too, would like to succeed himself as governor of Illinois.

Earlier in the day the kaiser arranged a skirmish drill by ons of his regiments, and was much delighted by the governor's approval. "Fine men!" said the governor. "Not quite up to the Illinois militia, but fine men for all that. They seem rather rigid to me."

"Natürlich," replied the kaiser. "What would you?"

"Well," said the governor, "stiffness may be desirable from your point of view, but not from ours. Colonel Strong, the flagpole of my staff, is the only military stiff in Illinois. Our militia boys smoke cigarets in the ranks, wear their clothes in any way that pleases them, and try to look as little like soldiers as possible. It's more democratic, you know. Why be a military machine?

The kaiser was unable to reply.

In the evening the kaiser gave a banquet in honor of his excellency, at which a rather amusing incident occurred. A Countess Something-or-other, who was seated between Yates and myself, began plying the governor with all sorts of questions.

"Is it true that you are worth ever so many millions?" said she. "And that you win and lose fortunes on horse racing? And that you are a wonderful poker player? And that you are very fond of motoring?"

"Madame," said he, "I fancy you refer to Mr. John W. Gates."

"Why, of course," said she. "Aren't you Mr. Gates?"

"Yates, madame—Richard Yates."

THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1903.

DO YOU REMEMBER THAT—

FORTY YEARS AGO TODAY:

Gen. U. S. Grant's mine under Fort Hill, Vicksburg, Miss., was exploded at 4 p. m., making a breach in the rebel fortifications through which a bloody hand-to-hand battle was fought a few minutes later.

R. H. Carter and J. H. Bailey, United States draft officers, were mobbed at Liberty street and Fourth avenue, Chicago, and beaten until unconscious.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY:

Louisiana planters were reported still struggling under a load of debt accumulated before the civil war, many plantations worth only $5,000 being mortgaged for $75,000.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY:

Henry Ward Beecher's 70th birthday was celebrated at Brooklyn, N. Y., by a massmeeting in the Academy of Music, congratulatory telegrams from all parts of the country being read by Mayor Low.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY:

The monument to the Chicago anarchists executed for the Haymarket riot was unveiled at Waldheim cemetery in the presence of 8,000 spectators.

FOR every 200 workers who leave the downtown district at the end of the day there is one who comes in to begin his work where the others have dropped it. A great city never is asleep. At the best it is only drowsy.

The one who comes to work fights his way through the 200 who are leaving their labor. When the 200 are waking up he is returning to his home. The true vestal fire which never goes out is the work of a great city.

of those who "earn their money hard." His face has the pallid look of one who sleeps by daylight, whose eyes have become accustomed to artificial light and are closed most of the daytime.

Fifty and more different occupations make their call on this army of the night. Scrubwomen are an army corps. Cab drivers form a regiment; newspaper employés an army division; night watchmen a regiment. There are saloonkeepers, cooks, and waiters in all night restaurants, "owl car" men, street sweeping brigades, window drapers, ticket sellers, newsboys, drug clerks, and two score others.

As the multitude of day workers is going home one of those who earns his money hard is getting from a Halsted street cable car. The conductor knows him and holds the car good naturedly while he makes his labored exit. He is without legs, and his method of locomotion consists of lifting himself bodily by his hands and shuffling thus over the ground.

Probably it would be a matter of dispute that this man works at all. A far stretch of fancy might call him a street salesman. In one of his hands, serving also as a foot, he carries a package of pencils or a box of chewing gum.

Whether or not it be granted that he works, it will be admitted that he earns his money hard. Most frequently he is found in Dearborn street, near Adams, shuffling back and forth on the sidewalk.

To those who have seen him night after night on this corner he is known as the Whistling Peddler. Of late he has not been there with the regularity with which he hugged the corner during the winter. On bitter cold nights he was to be found hoisting himself over ice and snow—and always whistling.

Many a passerby who has hurried along the street facing a bitter wind has stopped to wonder at the optimism of the Whistling Peddler who can find it in his heart to keep up this unbroken strain of whistling. He who whistles is happy, according to popular theories, and the man without legs, crawling over icy pavement with the wind cutting him, offering pencils for sale and never begging, but always whistling, must be a creature of wonderful optimism.

He has found profit in optimism. If he whined and pleaded the passerby would hurry on. But he whistles, cheerily if not with great melody, and the passerby stops. After midnight when he begins to hunch himself towards the cable line again his stock of pencils may not be decreased greatly, but his stock of nickels has been increased.

In these warmer days the Whistling Peddler's cheerfulness is not such a striking quality as it has been during the winter, but it is a quality that attracts and pays.

While the Whistling Peddler was coming to his nightly work on the cable car another one of the army was plodding east in Polk street. Probably the Whistling Peddler had not yet left his home, for this other one of the army must reach her work earlier.

A long time ago, so long that she can barely remember, she had been a smoothfaced Italian girl in Naples, but that girl had died gradually and a middle aged woman had taken her place. Then the middle aged woman died and the old, wrinkled woman came into being.

In a tumble down Polk street shanty she has lived. Her room is the living quarters of four generations. A number of years ago she searched the city for new buildings and carried away discarded lumber on her head. She also did sewing for the sweatshops. Now her eyes have become bleared and her strength has failed. She can't sit sewing fourteen hours a day for 25 cents and she can't carry heavy timbers on her head.

She can't remain idle. With her heavy loose shoes slumping at every step she seeks the downtown district as the crowds are going home. With a bundle of papers she stands on the curbstone in State street. The ancient garments which form her attire are without shape, color, or any defined texture.

The wonderful shoes in which she stands are such that she might take several steps inside of them without moving them at all. The faded shawl is the color of her faded face. It is a strangely and awesomely wrinkled face.

She knows little or no English. She has no mannerism like the Whistling Peddler to attract attention. Men avoid her, but women are sympathetic. Many a shopper sees her fifty feet away and begins to fumble in her purse for a penny, a nickel, or a dime to press in the wrinkled old hand as she passes the stolid monument which stands by the curb.

She is stolid. She mutters continuously some unintelligible phrases which may mean anything and which, as a matter of fact, are about as intelligible as the average newsboy's cries. The women who give her money go so with an expression of fear, wonder, amazement, pity, and even horror in their faces. She moves but little. The shoes are difficult to lift. By the time the theater crowds have gone into the theaters she has completed her work. Her hours are shorter than the ordinary in the army, but, her age considered, it will be admitted that she earns her money hard.

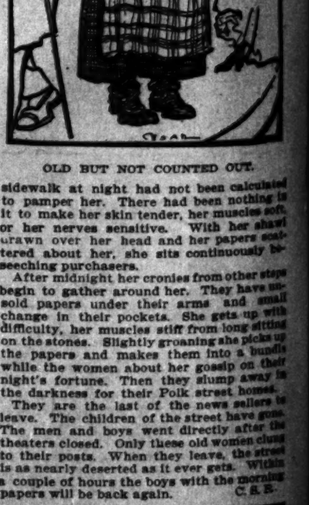

Down Madison street, close to Clark, is another woman, younger, less wrinkled, but still old. Around the corner in Clark street is another, and sometimes, still farther down in Madison, near Fifth avenue, is another. All are selling papers. Their work does not end until after midnight. They must wait until the last people in the after theater restaurants have left and are on their way home.

Some time ago the younger of these women—and then there were more of them—brought babes with them, babes under a year in age, which they held in their arms through these long hours, frequently in bitter weather. This practice was stopped by the police. The mothers may come and sit until they ache on the stones of building steps, but the babes must be left at home. This edict reduced the numbers of mothers.

To look at the old woman sitting on the steps near Clark and Madison streets is to admit that she earns her money hard. No matter what amount she may carry home, and frequently when the generosity of men has been touched, it is a considerable sum, she earns it hard.

For six and seven hours she sits without moving. Winter or summer it is the same. A cold, drizzly night is the same as a warm, moonlight night. For a young person to sit thus would mean terrible hardship, suffering, illness, and possibly death from exposure.

The old woman has become hardened. Her life before she took to paper selling on the

After midnight her cronies from other stops begin to gather around her. They have not sold papers under their arms and small change in their pockets. She gets up with difficulty, her muscles stiff from long sitting on the stones. Slightly groaning she picks up the papers and makes them into a bundle while the women about her gossip on their night's fortune. Then they slump away in the darkness for their Polk street homes.

They are the last of the news sellers to leave. The children of the street have gone. The men and boys went directly after the theaters closed. Only these old women chose to their posts. When they leave, the street is as nearly deserted as it ever gets. Within a couple of hours the boys with the morning papers will be back again. C. S. B.

IN THE SOCIETY WORLD.

MISS ANNE LOUISE WALLER WEDS MR. M. B. PITMAN.

Ceremony Takes Place at Residence of the Bride's Mother, 1970 Deming Court, at 5 O'Clock—Marriage of Miss Lena Thompson to Mr. H. A. Hersey Celebrated at St. Alban's Church in the Evening and Followed by a Reception.

An attractive wedding was that of Miss Anne Louise Waller, whose marriage to Mr. Matthias Bovee Pitman of Boscobel, Wis., took place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the residence of the bride's mother, 1970 Deming place. The Rev. T. B. Thames of Elizabeth, N. J., performed the ceremony. The color scheme was green and white, palms and peonies being used abundantly. Bride's roses were used in the dining room.

The bride wore a gown of lace over chiffon and satin, with pearl trimmings and a tulle veil. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Josephine Pitman, sister of the groom, and Miss Irene Parks were the bridemaids. They wore white organdie and lace with pale green sashes, and carried bouquets of pink sweet peas and maidenhair ferns.

Mr. William H. Pitman, brother of the groom, was the best man, and Mr. Edgar J. Hughes of Milwaukee and Mr. Andrew R. Sexton were the ushers. Mr. and Mrs. Pitman left last night for a wedding trip, and on their return will reside with the bride's mother until spring.

The marriage of Miss Emma Caroline Milde, daughter of Mrs. Caroline Milde, to Mr. Ferdinand Betz took place last evening at 8 o'clock at the German Evangelical church.

A pretty wedding of last evening was that of Miss Lena Rivers Thompson to Mr. Herbert Alfred Hersey, which took place at St. Alban's church, the Rev. George W. Knapp officiating. The church was decorated with palms and pink and white peonies. The bride's costume was a sole ebloussant drop over yoke of duchesse lace with panels of the lace. It was made over chiffon and the waist was studded with pearls. Sprays of orange blossoms were caught in the panels of the skirt. A tulle veil fastened with a bar of diamonds, the gift of the groom, completed the costume.

The maid of honor, Miss Olive Phillippe of Champaign, Ill., wore a pink chiffon costume and carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas. The bridemaids were Miss Nellis O'Hara, Lincoln, Ill.; Miss Beatrice Jarman, Tuscola, Ill.; Miss Ella Tremblett, Jacksonville, Ill.; and Miss Elikabeth Mix, Chicago. They wore white silk mull gowns with pink sashes, pink cowslips in their hair, and carried pink sweet peas. Master John R. Thompson, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer, and Miss Phillis Swain and Miss Ruth Thompson, nieces of the bride, were flower girls.

The best man was Marshall Hersey of Boston, brother of the groom. The ushers were Albert Bullard, D. F. Hill, J. L. Hillman, all of Boston, and Harry Eccles, Chicago.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's brother, Mr. John R. Thompson, 4415 Grand boulevard. The house was decorated in pink and white, and there was dancing in the ballroom. After a trip around the lakes and a visit to the White mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Hersey will be at home after Aug. 1 at the Nautilus inn, Allerton, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. Levy, 4329 Calumet avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Minnie, to Mr. Mark Levy of Marion, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. William Freck, 771 Warren avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Florence Estelle, to Mr. Charles M. Peck.

Mr. James Parsons Hankey and Miss Vina Haley Brown will be married at Christ church, Woodlawn, at high noon today. There will be a wedding reception at the Vendome.

The marriage of Miss May Duncan, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. David Duncan, to Mr. Roswell S. Tucker took place last evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents, 2159 Lexington street, the Rev. C. A. Sweet officiating. Miss Dolly Mervim of Hollywood, Ill., was the maid of honor, and Mr. Everett Tucker was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Goldberg of Elkhart, Ind., announce the engagement of their daughter, Flora, to Mr. Marcus Glick of Chicago.

The Ogden Alumni association will hold its ninth annual entertainment and dance tomorrow evening at the Lincoln Cycling club hall, 394 Dearborn avenue.

The first summer outing of the Waupansch club will take place on Saturday and Sunday at Lake Bejiah, Wis.

Mrs. Mary E. Foley, 84 Whipple street, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Ida Hayes, to Fred Curtis Todd.

Mrs. L. Freid, 4115 Indiana avenue, announces the engagement of her daughter, Carrie, to Mr. J. E. Lehman.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Austin and Miss Austin of 17 Scott street will sail for Europe July 4, to be gone until September.

Miss Cora E. Lewis, principal of the John C. Coonley school, and Miss Flora Dunning, a young Chicago artist, sail from Montreal on July 2 for Liverpool. They will make a special study of Welsh folklore.

Mrs. Carter H. Harrison, Carter H. Harrison, III., and Edith Harrison started last night for Huron Mountain, Mich., to spend the summer.

Laporte, Ind., June 24.—[Special.]—Mrs. Jennie Stahl Nylen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stahl of Laporte, and Clifford L. Powell of Chicago were married this afternoon at the bride's home. The Rev. George W. Switzer, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, read the marriage service. Only relatives and a few immediate friends were present. Mr. Powell is associated with Mr. Stahl in the construction of hot water heating and electric plants in various cities. The out of town guests included Mrs. S M. Powell, Miss Ethel Powell, Mr. and Mrs. I. R. McCreery, Mrs. John F. Taylor, Mrs. John Bennett, and Edward Werner of Chicago.

Canton, O., June 24.—[Special.]—Miss Ida Barber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Barber and a niece of Mrs. McKinley, and Luther Day, son of Judge and Mrs. William R. Day, who is private secretary to the justice of the Supreme court, were married at 7 o'clock this evening. The invitations, about 300 in number, were sent only to relatives and close friends of the two families. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. O. B. Milligan, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The bride was given away by her father. Her only bridemaid was her sister, Miss Kate Barber. The groom was attended by his brother, Stephen Day. A western honeymoon will terminate at Mackinac island, where they will join Judge and Mrs. Day at their summer cottage, remaining until fall.

Battle Creek, Mich., June 24.—[Special.]—William Henry D. Koerner, for five years illustrator in Chicago, was married here today to Miss Lilian May Lusk, a student of the Chicago Art school. She was in Mr. Koerner's department for the last two years. Mr. Koerner has removed to Battle Creek.

LONDON PREACHER COMING.

Reginald J. Campbell, Successor to Dr. Parker, Will Speak Twice in Chicago on July 5.

The Rev. Reginald J. Campbell, successor of the late Dr. Parker in the pulpit of the City Temple in London, will preach in Chicago July 5. In the morning of that day he will appear at the University of Chicago, where he will lecture to the students, and in the evening he will preach in the Third Presbyterian church, Ashland and Ogden avenues.

Dr. Campbell, although only 36 years of age, is the leading figure in British clerical circles. From the pulpit of the City Temple he has urged the policy of passive resistance to the educational bill tax, defying the government.

Dr. Campbell arrived in New York last week and preached Sunday in Henry Ward Beecher's old church in Brooklyn. He will preach in Tremont Temple, Boston, next Sunday, and then start west.

"THIS IS MY BIRTHDAY."
—SHAKSPEARE.

YERKES—Charles Tyson Yerkes, street railway magnate of London, formerly of Chicago.

"I have never interested myself in anything but tramways and traction. That's my business, and I have never gone one second out of that business. And men are usually judged by their last work. This is my last work. This is my final ambition."

"There were two men in Philadelphia—Gov. Schultz [he was called "governor" because he once wanted to be a candidate for the nomination to the governorship] and another man called Alec Benson.

"Now, Gov. Schultz never had a dollar to his name, while Benson thought of nothing but money, money all the time.

"Schultz got a little queer before he died, and one night a friend went to visit him. He turned to his friend and said: 'Do you see that wall paper?'—it was common and cheap. 'Do you know that it is pure gold? Do you see that counterpane?'—some poor, common stuff. 'That is cloth of gold. And just look at this little slipper—an ordinary, down at the heel slipper. 'Feel how heavy it is. Solid gold, ten ounces to the inch.' And poor Gov. Schultz died in the conviction that he lived in halls of gold.

"And three days after Alec Benson died, and he left millions, but for weeks before his death he was crying all day and all night because he thought he had lost all his money and was going to die of hunger. Now, theirs were the deaths of a pauper and a millionaire, and they supply the answer to your question as to whether riches mean happiness."

Mr. Yerkes discredits "dead line" philosophy. He considers a man is ripe for business at 50, the age of his securing control of Chicago's street railway system.

"Young men are in their apprenticeship till the age of 40. At that age they begin to see the mistakes they have made, and the next ten years form the crucial period of a man's career. Success that comes when a young man is still in his twenties and thirties is due more to good luck than to good management. The fact that I lost a million myself entitles me to speak with authority."

Mr. Yerkes admires British character.

"There is one thing that is particularly striking in it, that is its great leaning toward fairness. If you can show an Englishman that any proposition which has been got up is not fair he will always be against it, even if it is going to benefit him individually. I do not mean that all Englishmen are paragons of financial morality. I am speaking of the English as a class. They do admire fair dealing and practice it. I do not think the English people resent the idea of Americans promoting their schemes in Great Britain, provided they are good ones. I believe they are inclined to adopt a favorable attitude toward such propositions, provided they have assurances of their straightforwardness and reliability. In so many instances, I regret to say, has this confidence been misplaced that it is but natural the English should be a bit chary of American schemes. I am extremely well pleased with the reception we have been accorded in England."

Mr. Yerkes is an extensive art collector and a lover of music. The harp is his favorite instrument.

T. P. O'Connor, the Irish essayist's, picture of Mr. Yerkes:

"Wherever he sits, whoever is around—strong men, pretty women—you can't keep your eyes off that pale faced, dark eyed, white mustached, immutably serene man who is sitting there in their midst, apparently not altogether of them, watchful, observant."

FOSS INSPECTS HARBOR WORK.

Congressman Visits Waukegan and Is Enthusiastic Over the Improvements There.

Congressman George Edmund Foss spent several hours yesterday on a tug in Waukegan harbor, where the government is spending $350,000 on improvements. On his return he was enthusiastic over the benefits Lake Michigan commerce will derive from the work.

"When the present work is finished," he said, "it will be found that an expansion of the harbor toward the south will be imperative. This work has as yet been only roughly sketched and to complete it and make the harbor a perfect one will cost $700,000.

"I believe the benefit from the present work will be so great that congress will readily make the necessary appropriations."

WILL CHECK CHILD LABOR

NEW LAW TO BE ENFORCED BEGINNING ON JULY 1.

Provisions Intricate and Plans for Putting Them in Effect a Puzzle to Inspector Davies—Employes Between 14 and 16 Years Old May Continue for Present Under Old Affidavits, but a Change Calls for School Certificates.

The new child labor law, intended to save thousands of children in Chicago from stunted physical and mental development, will go into effect on July 1, but how to enforce its intricate provisions during the summer is puzzling State Factory Inspector Davies and his thirteen assistants.

Under the law every child between the ages of 14 and 16 years who obtains employment must be provided with an age certificate issued by a public or parochial school. But the schools will be dismissed tomorrow for the summer vacation, and unless certificates are obtained before that time, not till September will it be possible for children to get them.

At a conference yesterday with Superintendent of Compulsory Education Bodine Mr. Davies decided to effect a gradual enforcement of the law. The affidavits of parents, under which children between 14 and 16 years of age are now employed, will be gradually eliminated. The inspectors will not disturb those children who continue in the same employment after July 1 unless their affidavits are suspected. But those children who go to work for the first time, or who change employers, must get the school certificates as best they may.

Mr. Davies has sent word to the schools that all pupils who intend to work this summer should make application for their certificates before the close of school tomorrow. These age certificates signed by the teacher should be taken to the superintendent of schools, sixth floor of the Tribune building, where they can be exchanged for the official certificates which will permit the children to obtain employment.

URGES EMERGENCY HOSPITALS.

County Commissioner Thompson Advocates the Erection of Three to Give Quick Relief.

County Commissioner William H. Thompson yesterday advocated the erection of three emergency hospitals in the poor districts as adjuncts to the county hospital that accidents and emergency cases may receive quicker service. At a meeting of the building committee he said that many lives might be saved if the patient received care more promptly.

"Patients are often hauled ten miles to the hospital," said the commissioner, "and every few days we hear of patients dying in the ambulance."

CONQUERS HURT OF LONG AGO.

While playing ball in a vacant lot on the northwest side thirty-five years ago Fred L. Wilk, now of 1824 Surf street and vice president of the Union Trust company, sustained an injury of the right knee. It was a mere bruise, but as years elapsed the banker at intervals suffered from shooting pains in the knee. Recently the pain became intense, and an operation was decided on. An incision was made, the wound treated, and now the patient is able to walk on crutches and expects to resume his business duties soon.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR MEETS.

Indiana Society in Convention at Evansville—State Senator Milburn Gives Address on Political Morality.

Evansville, Ind., June 24.—[Special.]—Several hundred delegates representing the entire state are here attending the twelfth annual convention of the Christian Endeavor society of Indiana. The meetings will cover two days. State Senator Milburn, professor of law at Indiana university, Bloomington, gave an address on "Political Morality" that was punctuated with sharp references to lack of civic duty upon the part of church people.

1868 CHICAGO'S CENTENNIAL (1803-1903). Terrace Row was one of the most fashionable blocks of dwellings in Chicago. It stood on Michigan Avenue, extending from Congress to Van Buren Streets, and was occupied by many of the leading families until its destruction by the great fire.

EXCITED DAY IN WHEAT.

HEAVY COVERING BY SHORTS STARTS TWO CENT UPTURN.

Northwest Interests Large Buyers on Renewed Reports of Damage in the Dakotas from Dry Weather — Too Much Rain for Harvest in the Southwest—Country Buying Corn — July Oats Have Further Advance—Provisions Weak on Hog Receipts.

Wheat developed yesterday into a broad and active bull market, prices advancing sharply nearly 2c and holding at about the best figures at the close on continued reports of disappointing harvesting returns in the southwest and continued fears of damage to the spring wheat crop in the northwest by drought, fears which were not allayed by light showers in the Dakotas and the prospect of more. The winter wheat states where the harvest is on got more rains than the northwest, and while opening prices were a shade easier on the rains in the Dakotas the market rallied promptly and positively on heavy buying both for northwest account and by St. Louis houses.

There was local profit taking at intervals on the advance, some selling on the theory there should be a reaction, but there was a steady demand which kept the reactions slight. The light stocks have encouraged bullish sentiment, and there was an increase in the outside interest. The sharpest advance was in old July, shorts in which became nervous, bidding it up 2c to 81c. Half the advance was lost on heavy selling by Armour, the leading July long, but the market rallied at the close, which was at 80⅝c, 1c premium over new July. The September deliveries also gained about 1⅜c, the new September selling up to 77⅝-¾c and closing there. There were some claims from the northwest that the damage to the growing wheat is not yet material and can be repaired if rains come within a week, but the weekly crop bulletin reported wheat much in need of rain in North Dakota and parts of Minnesota and South Dakota and turning yellow, also reporting rust in Nebraska.

Many Damage Claims.

There were private reports from various sections of North Dakota and Minnesota stating the plant had gone back a good deal, needed rain badly, and would deteriorate rapidly if hot weather preceded rains. These advices encouraged the growing bullish sentiment, which was also cheered by reports from Minneapolis that it was clear from there to Winnipeg, and growing warmer. There was heavy buying for northwest account by Peavey, Daggett, Wrenn, and other houses, McReynolds, Spencer, Bennett, and Lindman bought for St. Louis. Armour was a seller of old July on the advance, about 500,000 bu, but a buyer of September on as large a scale apparently. Local bulls alternately took profits or added to their lines as the market kept growing stronger.

Some of the foreign markets showed symptoms of following the advance here, and private cables reported the Danubian crop badly damaged by excessive rains. London was up ⅝d to 1⅛d, but Liverpool lagged, with an advance of only ⅛-¼d. Paris was strong, up ½c to 1c on wheat and 2½c to 4½c on flour. Other domestic markets were all strong, Minneapolis leading the advance and St. Louis and Kansas City following it closely. Receipts were light, 128 cars northwest, compared with 273 last year, and 270,000 bu at primary points, compared with 349,000 bu a year ago. Clearances were 531,000 bu, export sales at the seaboard 184,000 bu. There were sales of 40,000 bu No. 2 red, part at ¾c under old July. The No. 1 northern premium did not quite follow the advance, dropping to 2½c to 2¾c over July.

Corn Sells Higher.

The weekly crop bulletin's references to the lateness of the corn crop, unfavorable private reports from Illinois and Iowa, and the strength of wheat were all influences in lifting corn prices higher. There was a slight yielding at the opening and then a sustained advance with the greatest demand for the July, which sold up to 51¼c and closed there at a net gain of 1⅛c for the day. September reached 50⅝c, a gain of ⅞c. The principal speculative support was heavy buying of both July and September by Bryant. There was scattered and general commission demand for country account. There was selling on the advance by Harris-Gates, Pringle-Browning, and Milmine-Bodman. Bartlett-Frazier were buyers at the close. Country acceptances keep light. The cash market was ½c to ¾c higher. The eastern shipping demand followed the advance reluctantly, sales about 200,000 bu. There were 442 cars in, with 51 contract, and 455 are estimated for today. Primary receipts were 762,000 bu, compared with 354,000 bu last year. Clearances were 112,000 bu; export sales at the seaboard, 48,000 bu.

July Oats Strong.

There was a disposition in the oats market to lag behind other grains, but July was in sharp demand and advanced 1c to 41⅝c, closing at 41⅜c. The deferred deliveries gained ⅜c to ⅝c. There was buying of July by Weare and Collins and of September by Bartlett-Frazier. The cash market was steady to ½c higher; shipping sales, 75,000 bu. Some houses reported the east trying to resell recent purchases. There were 127 cars inspected in, with 4 standard, and 215 estimated for today. Clearances were 41,000 bu; export sales, 180,000 bu.

Provision Prices Fall Back.

Provision prices were broken, primarily by heavy receipts of hogs, and secondarily by liquidation of product on the part of small longs. The combined effect was more or less disastrous, closing prices all through the list being from 15c to 25c lower than the closing quotations of Tuesday. There were 53,000 hogs here, with the surprisingly large total of 122,100 at western points, which a week ago had only 83,400, and a year ago 78,500. Cudahy interests were credited with selling pork, though buying moderately in lard and ribs. On the decline a small showing of support was given by Armour brokers. The operations as a whole made a more than ordinarily active market and a wider range of values than usual. Shipments of cured meats were 1,463,300 lbs, against 3,287,400 lbs a year ago, and of lard 752,000 lbs, compared with 2,853,500 lbs the previous year.

Rye was firmer and ¼@½c higher, mainly in sympathy with other grain. Receipts were six cars, two being withdrawn from private houses. June was nominally 52½@53¾c, July sold from 52½@53c, and September from 52½@52⅜c. Closing bid prices were at the inside.

Barley ruled quiet but quotably firm. Screenings sold well at a range of 42@50c, mixing barley from 45@48c, low grade malting, 48@49½c, and fair to good, 50@52c.

Timothy seed was dull and quiet at $3.65 asked for September and $3.60 bid; contract, nominally $3.90. Clover was unchanged at $9.00@9.50 for October, and $11.50@11.75 for contract.

There was an improvement of 1@2c, principally on futures. October was the stronger, at $1.04; September sold $1.04½, closing $1.04 asked; July was nominally $1.00½, No. 1 northwestern $1.01½, and southwestern 99c. There were 11 cars here and 20 each at Minneapolis and Duluth.

Trade Gossip on 'Change.

Those wheat traders who were convinced that the old style deliveries would sell at good premiums over the new have been reaping partial rewards within the last few days, with old July at 1c premium over the new, and old September at ½c premium. A good many expect the premiums to widen materially. It is not the fear of getting hard winter wheat on contracts at the 5c penalty, which is widening the premium, but the fact that the new trade generally is going into the new style deliveries, and shorts on the old style contracts when moved to cover find the supply limited.

Reports from St. Louis were that Cleage, the blind pool operator, was a heavy seller of July wheat on the 1¼c advance to 82½c. The tenor of advices from St. Louis was as enthusiastically bullish as ever, some claims coming that Tennessee millers were paying 82@83c for new wheat in southeastern Missouri. Wheat, it was reported, was thrashing out two bushels to ten bushels to the acre in Missouri and southern Illinois.

Wheat traders who doubt the seriousness of the damage to date in the spring wheat country are nevertheless timid in operating on the short side, because of the freshness of their recollection of the June bulge in 1900, when there was an advance of 22c here in as many days on the northwest drought. The facts that the advance started from a point 10c lower than the present and that half of it was lost after rains came do not make them any less cautious.

The provision man who has been looking for an increased run of hogs had his expectations realized yesterday. There were 53,000 here, or 18,000 over the estimate, and 122,100 at all western points, compared with 78,500 a year ago. Receipts were heavy at all western points, and it looks as though the shipments which were held back by the floods at Kansas City and St. Louis are coming forward with a rush. The trader who has been preaching a liberal supply of hogs in the country has some convincing figures to back up his claims.

The export business in wheat yesterday included 20 loads new hard winter wheat for September shipment from the gulf at 1⅝c smaller premium over September than offered two days ago.

Some Minneapolis authorities tried to cheer up those who fear the spring wheat crop is badly hurt. One Minneapolis message read: "Think reports of damage exaggerated. Rains needed around Aberdeen, S. D., and at a few points in North Dakota, but generally crop conditions and prospects are good. It is largely a condition of apprehension which would be dispelled by rain during the next week or ten days."

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 15 cars; corn, 455 cars; oats, 215 cars; hogs, 39,000.

"July wheat sold in the 30's today," said Frank Dunn, "and September wheat will be selling there within a few days."

Drought Is Serious.

That the drought in the northwest is becoming serious in some sections is plain from reports such as the following, from C. W. Preston, who operates large farms at Blanchard, N. D., to F. W. Maynard: "Grain has been at a standstill for the last ten days. It has been four weeks and three days since we have had any rain. Much grain is yellow, while oats are red. We must have rain in ten days or we will not make over half a crop. For four or five days it has been cool and cloudy and quite cool nights, and that is the only thing that is saving us. If it turns hot and sultry it will cook things in short order. A soaking rain, of course, would help us, but under no circumstances can we raise the bumper crop expected two weeks ago. I should say two-thirds of a crop is all we can expect, and many fields will not raise over one-half. The local showers in our country have not amounted to much."

A message to Oscar Lindman from Thompson, N. D., said: "No rain; hot; grain shows damage; will show more every day without rain."

"Our advices from the northwest do not show material damage to wheat," said James Pettit, "but people up there are beginning to be anxious for rain."

An Antwerp cable to Harris-Gates said: "The Danubian wheat crop is reported damaged by incessant rains."

W. T. Carrington had reports yesterday from the superintendent of his farms in the Jim river valley in North Dakota that wheat needs rain, and that if hot weather comes first the plant would go back rapidly.

A grain man at McPherson, Kas., writing to Richardson on the wheat situation, says: "There is some ground that had considerable sand in the soil that has improved nicely, only where there was some fly in it, and that has been terribly damaged in the last few days by extreme winds. The flat ground has not improved, but has gone worse during the last three weeks, and the flooded ground is in still worse shape than we thought at first. Taking what has improved along with the extreme good counties in the state it will make an average of 12 bu, in other words, 72,000,000 bu in the state, if we have everything favorable."

S. P. Arnot writes the Updyke Commission company from West Virginia that he left Chicago thinking 50c a good price for corn and 84c a good price for September oats, but what he saw of the crops through Illinois, Indiana, and the east have changed his views. "I have never seen as poor a prospect for a corn crop at this time of the year, and as to oats, a half crop is a conservative estimate for this section, and they look poor through Illinois and Indiana."

A farmer from Prairie, Ia., says of crop prospects there: "Corn is backward, just beginning to show the rows in places. We need 100 warm, sunshiny days to make a corn crop, and conditions will have to improve quickly if we are to get them. Old corn is all gone in our section. What few cars we can get in are bought by farmers, almost without asking a price."

The details of the weekly government crop bulletin for North Dakota and Minnesota show sixteen counties in the first named state and ten in the latter in which rain is needed badly and wheat is turning yellow. Good rains would undoubtedly improve the appearance of things.

POTATO BUYERS HOLDING OFF.

Prices So High No Large Stocks Are Being Laid In by Dealers—Other Produce Slow.

There was a moderate business in potatoes yesterday, although to a certain extent business was checked by the recent sharp advance. Fancy Rurals sold at $1.10, with a rumored sale at $1.13, and red stock up to 90c. Butter was steady and eggs easy but not lower. A moderate demand existed for potatoes. Supplies of berries were larger.

Prices on round lots ranged as follows:

IN THE NEW YORK MARKETS.

Quotations on Dry Goods, Coffee, Butter, Poultry, Metals, and Other Special Lines.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Dry goods—The market is tending upwards and prices are being continually revised. Efforts are being made in a good many instances to restrain buyers from making as liberal purchases as they might desire on account of the inability to fill many of the orders which have already been taken. The scarcity of cotton is becoming a serious factor with the manufacturer, and especially in the south.

Coffee, Foreign and Domestic.

Coffee—The market for futures closed net 5@10 points higher; sales were reported of 28,750 bags, including July at 3.70c, September at 3.90@3.95c, November at 4.05@4.10c, December at 4.35c, January at 4.40@4.45c, March at 4.60c, April at 4.65c, May at 4.65@4.70c, and July, 1904, at 4.80c; spot Rio quiet; No. 7 invoice, 5⅛c; mild quiet; Cordova, 7½@11¼c.

Butter, Creamery and Dairy.

Poultry, Alive and Dressed.

Poultry—Alive, easier; western spring chickens, 16c; fowls, 13c; turkeys, 11@12c. Dressed, weak; western broilers, 18@20c; fowls, 13½c; turkeys, 13@15c.

Lead in London, £11 15s; in New York, $4.12½. Spelter, £19 15s in London, locally $6.00, nominal. Iron, 52s 6d in Glasgow and 46s 7½d in Middlesboro; locally, No. 1 foundry, northern, $19.50@20.00; No. 2 foundry, northern, at $18.50@19.00; No. 1 foundry, southern, and No. 1 foundry, southern, soft, $19.00@19.50.

IN THE FOREIGN MONEY MARKET.

General Tendency of Cash, Bonds, and Securities in London, Paris, and Berlin.

LONDON, June 24.—Money was in fair demand in the market today and rates hardened slightly. Discounts were easy. Prices on the stock exchange were steady, but business was inactive. The rally in Americans was reflected elsewhere. Consols were steady. Americans were firm, but the dealings were uninteresting and wholly professional. Grand Trunk hardened on the traffic returns exceeding the estimates.

PARIS, June 24.—Trading on the bourse opened dull, but the demand for French rentes caused a general improvement. Panama Canal shares rose on a rumor that the Hay-Herran treaty will be ratified by the Colombian congress. At the close prices were firm and business was quiet. The private rate of discount was 2 13-16 per cent.

BERLIN, June 24.—Business on the boerse was quiet. The rates for money had a tendency to be higher.

WILL BUY COUNTY BONDS.

LOCAL HOUSES PREPARE TO BID FOR FORTHCOMING ISSUES.

There Will Be $500,000 of One Lot and an Undetermined Amount of the Second—South Park Commissioners Already Offering 4 Per Cents—National Bank Reserves Better than April—Paper and Bag Companies Deny Plan to Combine.

Within a few weeks Cook county will, through its board of commissioners, offer $500,000 one to twenty year 3½ per cent bonds, the proceeds to be used for certain public buildings legally provided for.

The county will also offer a portion of an issue of $1,250,000 one to twenty year 4 per cent bonds. This second issue is for the purpose of funding the county's floating debt. The total authorized issue for this purpose is $1,250,000, though the entire amount will not be put out at this time.

Already there are a good many inquiries by local banks and bond houses concerning the proposed sale. The bonds offer an exceptionally good investment in the case of the ones running the longer period.

Cook county is authorized to issue about $21,000,000 bonds, but there are now outstanding only $3,100,000. The two new issues will make the total $4,850,000. The tax rate for county purposes is 75c on $100, plus an amount necessary to meet maturing bonds and interest. There is no limit to this extra amount of taxation, the only specification being that it shall be sufficient for the needs mentioned.

Cook county has had a growing floating debt since 1898, when the legislature enacted certain laws providing for disbursements by the county without providing revenue clauses. The bond issue was voted at the judiciary election a few weeks ago.

By the terms of resolution offering the bonds neither lot may be sold at less than par.

The south park commissioners are already offering $1,500,000 4 per cent one to twenty year serial bonds. The limit of bonded indebtedness of the south park system is about $12,000,000. At the present time there are outstanding $700,000 bonds. The issue now being offered is a part of a total of $3,000,000 authorized for a specific purpose. The commissioners will, in addition to this sum, offer $500,000 for another specified purpose.

The sanitary district 4 per cent bonds sold at small premium and at the time some of the banks did not bid because they said their money was otherwise actively employed at a higher rate of interest. But in the case of these county and park bonds there is an active inquiry.

Banks Strengthen Reserves.

Sufficient returns from the national bank call of July 9 have been compiled by the controller of the currency to give an idea of how the national institutions in the principal money centers stand in the matter of legal reserve as compared with April 9 and with July one year ago.

Compared with April 9 the banks of New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, and St. Louis show a considerable building up of reserves. Chicago is 2.68 points better than two months ago and is now above the legal requirements, whereas in the last previous call the banks held less than the legal reserve. New York is 27.39 and Boston, which was below the legal reserve two months ago, is 3.21 points above.

But the specially interesting comparison is with July last year, for it is desirable to see how much better the banks are prepared to meet the fall demands for money this season than they were the corresponding period last year. The five principal money centers, with the exception of Chicago, show reserves better than in July, 1902, but the increase is relatively slight; still the position of the leading cities has been improved, and this, together with the conservatism in the stock market, afford reason to believe that while easy money may not be expected neither is it probable there will be a repetition of the money tightness of last autumn.

Pittsburg national banks make a distinctively bad showing, and undoubtedly they reflect in their decreased reserve the heavy loans that have been made to speculative interests dealing with the banks of that city. They are below the legal reserve of 25 per cent. Their reserve is lower than it was in April, when it was below legal requirements and 3.02 points lower than July, 1902.

Changes at Important Centers.

The following comparisons set out more fully the general bank situation:

The figures of loans and deposits in the principal money centers are not at hand so fully as the percentages of legal reserve. But the institutions of nine cities which are directly called upon in connection with crop movements in the west and southwest show total decreases in loans of over $17,000,000, or 1.7 per cent, compared with April 9. Deposits of the national banks in the same cities show an increase of 1.7 per cent. The deposits given are individual, meaning thereby that United States deposits are not included. General Financial News.

International Paper company officials continue to deny that any absorption of the company's paper bag business by the Union Bag and Paper company is contemplated. But since the eastern plants of both concerns have been jointly inspected by officials of each company the belief exists in New York that some deal is under way.

Gross earnings of the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago electric line for May are reported to have been $28,010 and the net $15,280.

The Pennsylvania railway company is said to be taking up notes put out in New York in January as rapidly as funds are received on its new stock. More than $17,000,000 had been paid in yesterday, of which 90 per cent was full paid.

It is reported the Illinois Brick company has earned the 3 per cent semi-annual dividend requirement on the preferred stock.

President Fish on Central Dividend.

Growing out of the recent gossip about the probability of an increase in the dividend rate of the Illinois Central, President Fish was quoted as saying in New York yesterday:

"The Illinois Central will not increase its dividend. This is absolute. We will earn this year between 10 and 11 per cent on the stock. We considered making the dividend quarterly, but this will not be acted upon before at least one year, when we shall have completed 100 consecutive dividends.

"Negotiations looking to an agreement with the 'Frisco over the New Orleans extension are pending. We have offered liberal terms and it is for the 'Frisco to accept or decline."

Banks Lose Cash.

Lazard Freres yesterday engaged $1,500,000 gold for export today.

Some of the local commercial banks are asking 5½ per cent on all new loans. They have not disturbed outstanding 5 per cent loans. With some of the trust companies money is a little lower.

Lake Street L.

There has been considerable gossip on La Salle street about the possibility of Lake Street Elevated passing the July interest on its bonds. As one of the features of the present situation, the possibility of such action has been talked of by the management, and that is as far as the matter has gone. If the interest shall be passed the decision to take such action has yet to be reached.

LITTLE CALL FOR STOCKS.

WALL STREET MARKET REMAINS WITHOUT FEATURE.

Dealings for the Foreign Account Were Less than 10,000 Shares, Although There Is More Optimism in London—Grain Goes Higher as Result of Unfavorable Crop News — Decline in Sterling Exchange Causes Exports of $1,500,000 in Gold for Paris.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, June 24.—[Special.]—Business on the stock exchange today was again merely nominal and there was not even any feature like the upbidding in Colorado Fuel and Iron in the last hour of the market yesterday to lend interest in the trading. The dealings for the foreign account were less than 10,000 shares, and, although a little more optimism was reported as ruling in London regarding American securities, there was small evidence of it in prices.

During the forenoon the undertone of the market reflected in some degree a continuation of the same strength that governed it at the close yesterday, but the market succumbed to a little wave of selling in the afternoon and then became duller than ever.

The grain markets were considerably higher by reason of unfavorable crop news. There was a further decline in sterling exchange with Berlin and Paris, the Paris cheque falling a full centime. This helped along the gold export business and $1,500,000 in gold was taken for shipment tomorrow.

Most of the prominent stocks closed at declines of less than half a point, although St. Paul fell off a full point. The new United States Steel bonds one time were especially weak, but the price recovered before the close of the market. The reason commonly assigned for this event was due to the sale of bonds by the syndicate underwriting the issue against purchases of preferred stock. The quotations for time money were reduced a little today, the reason being probably the small demands now being made upon the money lenders by Wall street commission houses. Chicago and Northwestern railway reported an increase in gross earnings for May of $376,733. The Jersey Central's record of earnings for the same month was likewise excellent. Many satisfactory statements of railway earnings for the third week in June appeared.

One of the most flattering exhibits of business profits recently made by an industrial corporation is the preliminary statement published today of the American Locomotive company's earnings for the fiscal year. The company has earned in gross during the year $32,863,750, an increase of $6,456,337. The earnings were increased, in other words, by a sum equal to the total value at current market quotations of the company's common stock.

Not a little selling of Pennsylvania stock appeared today by owners of shares who have discovered the fact that money is to be made in selling their stock and buying enough "rights" to subscribe for an equal quantity of the new capital issue. The new stock will be issued at 120 and the holder of 100 shares of stock, who disposed of them today at 124 a share and then bought at $1 a share 300 "rights," this being the quantity necessary to purchase in order to allow the 100 original shares to be fully replaced, is enabled to get back his old stock at a net cost of 123 a share, or, in other words, would gain $1 a share by the operation, commissions not reckoned. A great deal of selling in Pennsylvania during the last month has been by large capitalists who have appreciated the profit in this transaction, but the operation is obviously one that can only be indulged in by genuine holders of shares, and it necessarily entails a subscription to the new stock issue. Some little flurry in money rates is expected for a day or so after the closing last Saturday of the books for the subscription issues.

IN NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Close: Prime mercantile paper, 4¾@5¼; sterling exchange heavy, with actual business in bankers' bills at 487.60@487.65 for demand, and at 485@485.10 for 60 days; posted rates, 485½@488½; commercial bills, 484¾; bar silver, 52⅝c; Mexican dollars, 41c.

Money on call steady at 2@2½ per cent; closing, 2@2¼; time money easier; 60 days, 3½@4 per cent; 90 days, 4½; six months, 5.

Enormous selling of U. S. Steel 5s carried the price down to 82, compared with a previous low record of 83. There was a sudden rally of ⅞ at the last, but the depression of these bonds had a sympathetic influence in the stock list. The bond market otherwise was dull and irregular. Total sales, par value, $3,010,000.

U. S. new 4s, coupon, advanced ¼ per cent on the last call.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Movement of Cattle, Hogs, Sheep, and Lambs, with the Range of Prices and Comparisons.

A genuine surprise in the live stock trade here yesterday was the arrival of over 50,000 hogs, or anywhere from 10,000 to 15,000 more than the trade had been looking for. Following the slump both in hogs and provisions on Tuesday, this heavy run and the liberal number in sight at the Missouri river markets threw the trade into a condition bordering on a panic, resulting in the biggest one day slump prices have seen on this market this year and establishing prices for hogs on low level of the year, or down to about a $5.25 country basis.

Receipts of cattle were 25,000, and the market was generally 10@15c lower. There were 18,000 sheep, with prices ruling close to steady. Lambs were 25@50c lower.

Cattle.

The receipts of cattle were not out of line with expectations, but at that were liberal for this day of the week, and with a fair showing in sight at Missouri river points the trade hammered prices to about the extent of Monday's advance. In other words, cattle sold 10c to 20c lower than at the best time on Monday. Trade was slow at the decline, although a good clearance was finally made.

It was noted that there were more immature and light cattle here than for some time previous, yet the buyers for good fat cattle used the whole number in sight as a club and were able to fill their orders at the declines already mentioned. Prime medium to heavy steers sold at $5.40@5.50, against $5.60 for the top on Monday, but comparatively few sales were made above $5.25, and the bulk of dressed beef, shipping, and export steers sold within a range of $4.80@5.15.

A number of half fat and grassy medium weight steers sold at $4.40@4.65 and common light killers at $4.00@4.40. The market for butcher stock sold from steady to 10c lower, taking the day through, with few cows or heifers selling above $4.25. Bulls were about steady, with stillers selling up to $4.25. Stocker trade was dull, supplies liberal, and prices on anything except choice lightweights 25c lower than a week ago. Quotations:

Fancy steers	$5.15@5.50
Fair to good steers	4.50@4.90
Common to fair steers	4.00@4.50

Choice calves, 100@150 lbs	5.50@6.00
Common to good calves, 175@400 lbs	3.00@5.00

Hogs.

With upwards of 50,000 fresh, and a stale stock of 11,000 hogs on hand, the market was slow to open, with buyers all hammering prices, finally forcing a decline of 25c to 35c from the best prices of Tuesday, and leaving a stale stock of 15,000 on hand at the close of business. The slump amounted to next thing to a panic, and should have the effect of greatly curtailing receipts for the balance of the week. Standard droves of packing hogs were bought at an average cost of $5.76, against $6.03 for the same kinds on Tuesday, and at the close of trade good qualities of all weights were selling at $5.70 to $5.80, against $5.95 to $6.05 for the bulk at the close of business Tuesday. Quotations:

Common to good, 245@400 lbs	5.50@5.75
Good to prime, 190@245 lbs	5.70@5.85

Mixed, 200@245 lbs	5.55@5.75
Light mixed, 200@245 lbs	5.70@5.80
Pigs	5.25@6.00

Sheep.

The sheep market was heavily supplied. The slaughterers had a good many sheep and lambs direct, which curtailed competition, and sheep sold steady to 25c lower, while lambs were 25c to 50c lower, with a poor clearance made. Quotations:

Good wethers	$4.50@5.00

DRAFT BILL TO REGULATE FRATERNAL RISK CONCERNS.

Submitted to State Officials and Insurance Men for Final Changes—Proposes to Establish Uniform Rates.

The committee on fraternal insurance of the national convention of insurance commissioners has completed the uniform bill for the regulation of fraternal organizations and has submitted a tentative measure to the state insurance officials and the insurance men. This will be open to suggestions and criticisms until July 15, after which the bill will be put in final shape for report to the annual convention. If it is adopted there an effort will be made to have it generally enacted by the various states.

The important feature of the bill, in view of the present agitation over rates of fraternal insurance, is the provision that the rates shall not be lower than the national fraternal congress table of 1900, with interest at 4 per cent. The bill also provides that no company be licensed in any state where the law is in effect after July 1, 1908, that charges less than the fraternal congress rates.

The loss on the Strouss-Eisendrath wholesale clothing store on Jackson boulevard, the heaviest of the year in Chicago on any one firm, has been settled at $300,100 on $337,500 of insurance on stock. The insurance companies take what little salvage there was. The building loss was settled as practically total. The loss on the Westchester apartment house in Cottage Grove has been settled at 80 per cent on the $40,000 insurance.

B. H. Conkling of Conkling, Price & Webb, Illinois manager of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company, sail for Europe tomorrow.

Edward Meinel, formerly of this city, has been appointed manager of the new combination of the National Standard Assurance Company of America and Federal Fire, which are to be operated jointly after July 1.

Officials of fire insurance companies returned from inspections of conditions in flooded districts in the west say that in Armourdale and some parts of Kansas City, Kas., 50 per cent of the insurable property is gone, and much more is so badly damaged as to be uninsurable. Many of the buildings that remain intact are so surrounded by débris as to be undesirable risks.

Hartford, Conn., June 24.—[Special.]—A leading executive official of the Travelers' Insurance company said today that his company would stubbornly fight the quo warranto proceedings instituted at Chicago this week by the Illinois insurance department to determine the right of the Travelers to transact liability business in that state. He declared that not only has the company written liability risks in Illinois for twelve years under a special license, but that it has the unquestioned right to transact liability business under a general accident license, as liability insurance is only a special form of accident insurance. The Illinois suit is being watched with keen interest by underwriting companies in Connecticut.

THE AMERICAN MAN
Of the Glacial Age.
The scientific evidence is continually becoming stronger that man existed in America in the Glacial Age. That is, in the remotest prehistoric days. He belonged to a race entirely distinct from the Indians, and there are apparently no descendants of his among the present so-called Aborigines of the American Continent. From the Glacial Period to the present day nothing has ever been discovered that has such wonderful power over disease as Dr. Burkhart's Vegetable Compound. Chronic cases of Rheumatism, Catarrh, Constipation and diseases of the Blood can be cured with this remedy where everything else fails. 30 days' treatment 25c. All druggists.

BITTER TOWARD LIVE STOCK MEN.

Great Western Railway Attorney Says the Exchange "Filches" Commissions.

HEAR OTHER ARGUMENTS

Interstate Commerce Commission Has Session on the Rate Case.

Accusing the Chicago Live Stock exchange of "filching exorbitant commission" from the consumer, F. B. Kellogg yesterday argued before the interstate commerce commission that the exchange had no right to bring its present complaint about railroad rates.

Mr. Kellogg was speaking for the Chicago Great Western road, which started the present trouble a year ago by cutting the rate on packing house products, Kansas City to Chicago, from 23½ cents to 18½ cents a hundred pounds. Other roads met the cut on products, but kept the rate of 23½ cents on live stock. This was claimed to be a discrimination against Chicago packing houses and to be contrary to a rule of the commission that the rate on finished products may not be less than the corresponding raw material.

The Live Stock exchange filed a complaint and the commission has held a number of sessions here during the last six months. Nearly every prominent western executive and traffic official of the Chicago-Missouri river lines, packing house and live stock industries has testified.

Every Commissioner Present.

At the session yesterday every member of the commission was present. The time was devoted to hearing arguments of attorneys.

T. W. Tomlinson, railway representative for the Chicago Live Stock exchange, opened the argument for the complainant. He quoted from the evidence presented at the previous hearings to show that the freight rates were so arranged as to make it an object for stock raisers in western states to ship their cattle and hogs to Missouri river points instead of to Chicago, as formerly.

Statistics were presented showing that the shipments of cattle and hogs to Chicago from western and northwestern points had steadily decreased ever since the alleged discrimination had been in effect. Chicago, he said, does not ask for favor, but it wants justice and fair treatment.

Ira B. Mills, counsel for the Minnesota railway commission, spoke in favor of the rates on live stock and packing house products now in effect between St. Paul, Minneapolis, and Chicago.

Argument of Mr. Kellogg.

Then Mr. Kellogg made his argument for the defendant.

"Who is it that makes this complaint?" he asked. "It is not the cattle raisers, it is not the packing house interests, it is not the consumer." Under the law, he said, the complaint must be made by one who has sustained actual damage by reason of the alleged offense.

"This action," he asserted, "is brought by the Chicago Live Stock exchange, a lawless concern whose arbitrary rules, if adopted by the railroads, would have the attorney general prosecuting them in every state." Then he charged the exchange with "filching from the consumer exorbitant commissions on every car shipped," and now using the commission for the purpose of collecting and speculating on claims against the railroads.

Other Attorneys Heard.

Burton Hanson, general solicitor of the Milwaukee and St. Paul; S. S. Brown, attorney of the St. Joseph (Mo.) Live Stock exchange, and Frank T. Ransom, attorney for the South Omaha stockyards, also made arguments for the defendants. Mr. Ransom laid great stress on the contention that the Santa Fé is the real instigator and prosecutor of this case.

Terminal Charge Case Today.

This morning the terminal charge case will be reopened before the commission. This is the case in which the interstate commerce commission tried to secure an injunction in the federal court to prevent the Burlington and other roads from making terminal charges of $2 for each carload of cattle brought to the local stockyards. Judge Kohlsaat, and subsequently the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, refused to grant such an injunction, and when the case reached the Supreme court it was referred back to the commission to take additional testimony.

Transportation Notes.

Traffic officials of the Central Freight association lines and a special committee recently selected to consider the export rate situation at Lake Atlantic and gulf ports held a meeting here yesterday to prepare a report to be submitted to the general meeting of the export and import rate committees in New York next September. No change in existing export and import rates can be made effective until next January, as contracts were made last January that cannot be abrogated before the end of the year.

Notice was issued by the freight department of the Milwaukee and St. Paul that all damage caused by the Missouri river floods to bridges and tracks has been repaired.

NEW TRAFFIC DEAL IS PENDING.

Arrangements Between Baltimore and Ohio and Reading Railways Said to Be Near Completion.

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—There is semi-official authority for the statement that a draft of the new ten year agreement between the Baltimore and Ohio and the Reading railroad companies has been prepared and will be signed within the next few days. This agreement will cover both freight and passenger traffic, and one of its provisions is for increased facilities for the Baltimore and Ohio royal blue line. It is expected the Reading will put on more trains to handle the soft coal traffic, and the interchange of freight between the Baltimore and Ohio and the Reading be quickened.

A. J. CASSATT IS RE-ELECTED.

Pennsylvania Road at Annual Meeting in Philadelphia Keeps All Old Officers.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—The Pennsylvania railway company organized today by reelecting the old officers with A. J. Cassatt as president. The directors appointed Otto Schroll superintendent of the Cleveland division, to succeed W. H. Potter, resigned, and W. B. Wood was appointed superintendent of the Richmond division to succeed Mr. Schroll.

HILL'S PROPHECY ON TRIAL.

Truth of Prediction That Northern Securities Will Earn $150,000,000 This Year Will Soon Be Known.

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—[Special.]—President Hill's prediction that the Northern Securities company will show gross earnings of $150,000,000 will be verified or disproved within a week. The Burlington still continues to be the doubtful factor. A leading railroad man today expressed the belief that the Burlington's figures will show all that was expected. If it earns $61,500,000 gross Mr. Hill's predictions will be verified. Last year's earnings were $58,785,000.

EXPECT LOSS BY ARMOUR.

WHEAT TRADERS SAY BIG CONCERN IS SHORT SEPTEMBER.

Hope to Get Back Part of the Profits of Bull Campaigns of Last Fall and Spring—Head of Packing House Denies That He Has Sold Any Grain Except What Is Held in Elevators—Price Advancing Rapidly—Reports from Other Exchanges.

Wheat traders who contributed to the great profits made by the Armour interest in bull campaigns of last fall and this spring, profits estimated at considerably over $1,000,000, are rejoicing in the belief that a good share of those profits are likely to come back into the pit. Traders generally are convinced that Armour is short a big line of September wheat and prices have been soaring at the rate of a cent or so a day for several days.

Some enthusiasts estimate the Armour short line as high as 20,000,000 bushels, or as great as the long line of September last year, on which he made the shorts pay tribute, putting the price to 95 cents on the last day of the delivery, or over 30 cents advance from the low point. Opinion generally makes the short line much smaller, but at a figure well into the millions of bushels.

Formerly Buyer of September.

The Armour interest was the original bull in September wheat, taking hold of the market several months ago, when the price was at 68 cents on a magnificent winter wheat prospect. Professional belief is this line was marketed around 73 cents and that Armour, satisfied with this profit, began selling wheat short, playing for a reaction. But the floods in the southwest, recent rains which have delayed harvest, and still more recent reports of drought in the northwest have kept the market strong and with an advancing tendency, and yesterday September sold at 77½ cents and closed there, a gain of 1½ cents for the day and of nearly 5 cents from the point at which the supposed Armour short selling began.

This theory of the Armour position in the wheat market is combated vigorously by Mr. J. Ogden Armour himself, who said yesterday:

"The story that we are short a big line of wheat is ridiculous. We are not short any wheat except against what cash wheat we hold—nor are we long any either. I am not a bear on the market. Mr. Valentine, who runs our grain business, is a bull."

"Yes," said Mr. A. I. Valentine, president of the Armour Grain company, "and a bull without any horns, for we are not long on the market, but neither are we short. The story that I sold 2,000,000 bushels today to break the market is absurd."

Old July Wheat Sold Yesterday.

The Armour operations in the wheat pit yesterday consisted of sales of old July wheat, which had been bought at 2 cents premium over September and hedged by sales of September. The July was sold and the September bought at 4 cents difference, the transaction showing a profit. But the trade opinion will not down that Armour is short an immense line of September over and above any holdings of cash wheat or of July.

One of the traders, who sticks to his opinion, said: "There has been open selling of September wheat by Armour for a number of days, and it has looked as if it was an effort to break the market, but the market has gone up and there has been no opportunity to cover. I think he is short a big line, and that he is a victim of the same sort of conditions which made his bull September deal a year ago so successful."

Reports from Other Exchanges.

Armour is said by the theorists to be heavily short in the Minneapolis and St. Louis markets, where bull deals seem to be under way, and it was reported from St. Louis in the afternoon that this short line was being covered at the top price of 82½ cents for July, at which figure Thomas Cleage, who has been running a blind pool bull campaign, was a heavy seller through brokers.

Not every one in the trade is a convert to the theory that Armour is the big short, and those who doubt it point to the fact that the Armour operations in grain are conducted through a large number of commission houses and brokers, and that short sales through one set of houses might be offset by purchases through another. The Armour concern has the facilities for bringing grain to market if it can be had anywhere, and has until the end of September to fill short sales, but the fact remains that every bushel of short September wheat at present shows a loss.

COTTON AT NEW HIGH PRICE.

New York Exchange Marked by Startling Advances—Speculators Worried Over Outcome of Bull Movement.

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Amid considerable excitement, prices made new high records on the New York cotton exchange today, September rising 42 points; August, 31; July, 25; and the late months from 8 to 16. The rise in these crop months is due more than anything else to what seems to be a certainty that the Brown-Hayne clique will promptly take care of all July notices that may be issued on Friday.

The advance was accelerated by the reaching of stop orders on the way up, by the heavy buying of August by Europe, and last, but by no means least, the further buying by Brown's brokers, who took August and September quite freely and sold on the rise only to a moderate extent. In fact, the reaction in this crop was slight, being only 7 to 14 points at one time, after which the market rallied to the highest prices of the day. Frank B. Hayne was again on the floor toward the close, and bid 13c for July in blocks of 1,000 bales.

There are now no "shorts" in the market. The question now before the speculators who have been trailing on Brown's deal is how they will come out when he tries to unload. Everything has been in their favor so far, but the price is now the highest in twenty-one years. Most of the cotton is owned by the Sully-McFadden interest and was accumulated here from April 15 to June 1. At the present market value it is worth about $65 per bale, or an equivalent to $10,075,000.

WILL PROBLEM IS: "WILL HE?"

When Nicholas Cline Pays $50,000 Into Brother's Estate He Is to Get $28,750 in Return.

He who is left one-fourth of an estate of $65,000 might well consider himself in luck, but Nicholas Cline can't figure it that way, for if he avails himself of the legacy he will be just $22,250 loser. Here is the way it would come about:

George T. Cline, brother of the doubting beneficiary, left the estate of $65,000, the will being filed for probate yesterday. One-fourth of the estate is to go to Nicholas, but before he can touch a penny of the money he must pay into the estate $50,000, which amount George Cline is declared to have lost through real estate operations on the part of Nicholas' son.

Present value of estate	$65,000
Nicholas' contribution	50,000
Prospective total	$115,000
Nicholas' one-fourth	28,750

And subtracting $28,750 from $50,000 we have the $22,250 which Nicholas wouldn't have.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

The Michigan Avenue Boulevard.

Chicago, June 24.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—May I add to your articles in re the Michigan avenue bridge to suggest the timeliness of inaugurating the enterprise in this Chicago centennial year? The centennial committee is wrestling with the problem of the best disposition of a gift for celebrating the anniversary in some lasting manner. What more appropriate than decorating a memorial bridge with arches or historic figures, which would satisfy those who demand more artistic structures and not incur the hostility of the more utilitarian. We might not be able to duplicate the Schloss-brucke in Berlin or the pont du Carousel in Paris, but we should have one prominent object lesson in beautiful usefulness, which might leaven the whole in time. Introducing Brandt Bottle of California

Who will be one of the principal performers this summer, in fact, we have arranged for his continuous appearance.

Mr. Bottle is a sour party and a cool one—his principal mission is to keep people cool although he is used in dozens of other ways. You ought to keep pretty well acquainted with during the hot weather. Ask for it when you're down town and be sure that there is always a bottle at home. It's the ideal summer drink either with hydrant or syphon water.

Brandt's California Lemon Juice

STOMACH TROUBLES—Certain forms of indigestion and dyspepsia are relieved and eventually cured if lemon juice is used regularly. The handy way is to have a bottle of Brandt's California Lemon Juice on the sideboard.

LIVER TROUBLES—Lemon juice is the best home treatment for slight liver troubles. The best way to use it is without sugar in either hot or cold water immediately on rising. Better have a bottle of Brandt's California Lemon Juice on the dresser.

COMPLEXION—Lemon juice is splendid for the skin. It removes the excess of oil and a few drops render the bath delightfully soft and refreshing. There certainly ought to be a bottle of Brandt's California Lemon Juice in the bath room.

URIC ACID—Lemon juice is Nature's solvent of uric acid, that bane of modern life. Brandt's California Lemon Juice used regularly will prevent the deposits of uric acid, which eventually induce rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles.

½ Pint 25c (2 GLASSES LEMONADE.) Full Pint 40c (5 GLASSES LEMONADE.)

Sold by Grocers and Druggists. If your dealer hasn't got it, send his name, and we will mail you free a sample bottle, with a copy of Empty Beauty, a catchy little booklet.

DEFEATS FOR BELL 'PHONE.

Independents Say They Have Won in Every Action Brought Against Them by Big Concern.

Every suit brought by the Bell Telephone company against the independent concerns was won by the independents, according to a report made by Hugh Dougherty yesterday to the national convention of the independent companies. Mr. Dougherty is chairman of the committee on litigation. The convention is being held at the Auditorium hotel.

James M. Thomas, president of the association, in his annual address, predicted a great increase in the number of independent companies in the next few years.

"The favorable decision rendered by the United States courts," said Mr. Thomas, "will cause millions of capital to enter the independent field. In Ohio and Indiana the independent telephones outnumber the Bell telephones eight to one. In many of the western states the independent companies are stronger than the old company, and in New York state, outside of New York City, the independent companies already control the field."

J. C. Kelsey of Purdue university spoke on the advantages of a technical education for young men wishing to enter the telephone business.

The sessions will continue today, and in the afternoon the tunnels of the Illinois Telephone company will be visited.

Temperance Massmeeting Sunday.

A temperance massmeeting will be held Sunday afternoon at Calvary church, Forty-second avenue and Congress street. Arthur Burrage Farwell, secretary of the Hyde Park Protective association, and other speakers will address the meeting.

Brain Building. How to Feed Nervous Cases.

Hysteria sometimes leads to insanity, and should be treated through feeding the brain and nerves upon scientifically selected food that restores the lost delicate gray matter. Proof of the power of the brain food Grape-Nuts is remarkably strong.

"About eight years ago, when working very hard as a court stenographer, I collapsed physically, and then nervously, and was taken to the State Hospital for the Insane at Lincoln, Neb., a raving maniac.

"They had to keep me in a strait-jacket, and I was kept in the worst ward for three months. I was finally dismissed in the following May, but did no brain work for years until last fall, when I was persuaded to take the testimony in two cases. One of these was a murder case, and the strain upon my nervous system was so great that I would have broken down again except for the strength I had built up by the use of Grape-Nuts. When I began to feel the pressure of the work on my brain and nerves I simply increased the amount of Grape-Nuts and used the food more regularly.

"I now feel like my old self again, and am healthy and happy. I am sure that if I had kuown of Grape-Nuts when I had my trouble eight years ago I would never have collapsed, and this dark spot in my life would never have happened. Grape-Nuts' power as a brain food is simply wonderful, and I do not believe any stomach is so weak that it cannot digest this wonderful food. I feel a delicacy about having my name appear in public, but if you think it would help any poor sufferer you can use it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There are desserts and desserts. The delicious health-giving kind are told about in the little recipe book found in each package of Grape-Nuts.
